EXEMPTIONS FAIL TO END TAX FIGHT; EARLY VOTE SEEN

Compromise Move Appears for Time to Stem Battle, but Foes Scent Victory in Defeating Sales Levy Section.

LEADERS PREDICT FURTHER CUTS WILL ATTAIN PASSAGE

Committee Meets This Morning to Report Out Special Rule Which, if Approved, Would Allow Vote by House Today.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The battle over the sales tax, seemingly halted yesterday by a compromise move, will go on.

House leaders sponsoring the billion dollar tax bill had retreated farther before the berserk onslaughts of opponents of the sales tax and offered to exempt food, clothing, medicines and farm implements from the 2.25 per cent levy.

For a little while it seemed as though the additional exemptions offered by the leaders would do the trick and break the force of the attack, but the end of the day found leaders of the rebellion exulting in their partial victory and proclaiming their determination and ability to wipe the whole sales tax section out of the bill.

Representatives Robert L. Doughton, of North Carolina, and John E. Rankin, of Mississippi (Democrats), and Fiorello H. LaGuardia (Republican), of New York, issued statements announcing the fight would continue.

Vote Is Expected Soon.

Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), of Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, and Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic floor leader, predicted that the additional exemptions proposed by the ways and means committee would mean acceptance of the modified sales tax provision by a majority of the House.

Which prediction is the correct one is expected to be determined tomorrow, or, possibly, today, when the sales tax provision is to be taken up out of order under the authority of a special rule for an immediate vote.

Representative Crisp sought to start the special rule procedure yesterday, but the House adjourned early while he was in committee conference. Under the rules the resolution must go over a day unless unanimous consent is given to immediate consideration. Representative Edward W. Pou (Democrat), of North Carolina, chairman of the rules committee, has called a meeting of his committee for this morning to report out the special rule and if unanimous consent is given to immediate consideration the vote will be had today.

The compromise offer of the additional exemptions was made by Mr. Crisp after a meeting of the ways and means committee. He estimated that the exemptions would reduce the total revenue the sales tax was expected to produce from $595,000,000 to $455,000,000. He estimated the loss would be divided as follows: Food, $50,000,000 to $60,000,000; clothing, $55,000,000; medicine, $10,000,000; farm implements, $2,000,000.

The ways and means committee will meet at 10:30 this morning to consider additional taxes to make up for this loss in expected revenue. Chairman Crisp said that no decision had been reached on any substitutes, but that among taxes which would be considered would be levies on bank

SALES TAX MENACES PRESTIGE OF GARNER

Speaker's Failure to Back Fight for Bill Threatens His Leadership.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Speaker John N. Garner is no longer regarded as a "czar" on Capitol Hill.

His friends say that he never wanted to be regarded as a czar. They say that he was anxious to dissipate such an idea, lest it destroy what harmony there was in the House.

If that be true, the battle over the sales tax has served Garner well. Not only has he exploded any notions that he is trying to be another Reed or another Cannon, but he has some of the members wondering whether, indeed, he is the strong leader they thought him to be.

If cloakroom talk means anything, Garner's prestige has been considerably deflated by his conduct in this fight.

That his friends realize this was indicated yesterday by the suggestion that he redeem himself by taking the floor and delivering a strong, fighting speech on behalf of the sales tax.

When, late in the day, Garner was asked at a press conference whether he would make a speech, he adopted the noncommittal attitude he always maintains whenever he is asked anything concerning his presidential boom.

"Will you take the floor and defend the bill?" he was asked.

"You will find out when and if I do," Garner replied.

COCHRAN SEEKS COMPROMISE IN PAY CUT MOVES

Chairman of House Group Offers 3-Fold Plan to Avoid Slashes.

LEAVE CURTAILMENT EMBRACED IN SCOPE

Retirements and Permitting Vacancies Urged; New Reductions Asked.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

A compromise with Federal pay reductionists, through a three-fold program of retirement, nonfilling of vacancies and curtailment of annual leave, was sought before the House economy committee yesterday.

The alternative proposal, given but little chance against specific pay cut plans of Representative John McDuffie's economy subcommittee, yet showed a lack of unanimity in the pay slash drive.

No agreement was reached by the full committee at yesterday's session. Bureau of Efficiency Director Herbert D Brown was asked to return tomorrow with more detailed data on the several plans before the group.

Agreement will be reached at that time on one of the pay cut proposals, Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns declared. He will offer the adopted bill as a rider to the legislative appropriations bill, to be reported Friday.

Would Save $135,000,000.

Plans submitted yesterday, including four specific schedules offered by the special "pay cut" subcommittee, and nearly as many more informal plans presented at the meeting, would net savings ranging upward to $135,000,000, Chairman Byrns said. Each of the McDuffie subcommittee proposals would hit salaries down to $1,000, affecting alike civil and military personnel. One would impose a flat 10 per cent cut on wages over $1,000.

The "compromise" was suggested by Chairman John J. Cochran, of the House expenditures committee, bitter opponent of pay-cut legislation.

It would embrace the following three-fold program:

1. Immediate retirement of approximately 5,000 veteran Federal workers, who have reached the retirement age, but whose time has been extended. This would save the difference between their retirement and active pay, estimated at $10,000,000.

2. Curtailment of annual leave to fifteen days or less. This would save between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 working days a year, or approximately $20,000,000.

3. No filling of vacancies without executive consent, and no promotions. Savings from this last step, already Agreement Needs Only Formal Indorsement of Two Nations in Orient.

Shanghai, China, March 21 (U.P.). An armistice agreement, lacking only the formal approval of the Nanking and Tokyo governments, was concluded today, between representatives of the opposing Chinese and Japanese armies in the Shanghai warfare.

Coincident with the agreement the mighty Japanese army began a partial withdrawal from the Yangtze Valley. Three transports believed to be carrying between 3,000 and 4,000 Japanese troops sailed for Japan and it was understood the schedule called for two or three transports to depart daily until Friday.

Japanese naval headquarters announced that the destroyer squadron, part of the cruiser division, part of the aircraft division and the cruiser Oi, which was the target of a Chinese mine in the Whangpoo River on March 1, had departed for Japan.

CIPHER NOTE PLACES STOLEN BABY AT SEA

Message That May Refer to Lindbergh Case Is Found on Exhausted Pigeon.

Hopewell, N. J., March 21 (A.P.).—As the twentieth day since the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindberg, jr., drew to a close tonight, an announcement came from the flier's Hilltop home that officers throughout the country were cooperating diligently in the hunt that has spread from coast to coast.

But in spite of all the efforts of Col. Lindbergh's personal representatives, and the work of city, county, State and Federal officers, there still was no indication that any but the actual child stealers knew the whereabouts of the famous baby.

Thousands of pieces of mail and hundreds of telegrams containing "tips" continued to pour in to the Lindbergh home. But like a myriad of other "clews" that have cropped up and then faded into insignificance, none of the "tips" so far has proved productive.

There was a flurry of excitement today when State police received reports of notes found on the legs of two carrier pigeons, one in Connecticut and the other in Pennsylvania. One however, turned out to be the work of juvenile pranksters, while the other could not be verified.

The first note read:

"Pulled off the job in fine order. Made a clean getaway. No one even suspects me. Will meet you Monday as planned. Will have the dough with me. Yours, Red."

A Brodheadsville (Pa.) resident, who found the note on a dead carrier pigeon's leg, and a deputy sheriff brought it to the Lindbergh home. But a short time later investigators back in Pennsylvania announced the bird had been found by several boys, who tied the note to its leg as a prank.

The other note read:

"All lines unsafe. Kid in yacht. Making no port. Well-trained care outside United States jurisdiction Return bird."

It was reported to have been found

BLAST PLOT CHARGED IN STRIKE OF MINERS

More Rioting Marks Start of Second Week of Unauthorized Walkout.

Scranton, Pa., March 21 (A.P.).—Insurgent anthracite miners projected their outlaw strike for equalized work into its second week today, with an idle miner's death chalked up as an indirect result, several hand-to-hand encounters and clashes with police and the revelation of a plot to blow up a dynamite storehouse at Jessup.

The men are striking against orders of United Mine Workers' officials to force equalization of work at all mines or distribution of work among all miners. They are also testing the strength of administration officials whom they accuse of laxity in pushing their demands.

The dead miner was Daniel Ruscitto, 30, of Kulpmont. Mr. and Mrs August Ventili, with whom he lived, said he was overjoyed when orders came for him to report to work Friday at the Alaska colliery after close to a year of idleness. They say he was turned back by pickets as he approached the mine and returned home, morose and dejected. Discouraged, he went to his room Sunday, they say, and shot himself.

Police at Jessup also revealed today they had discovered over the week-end, a burned out fuse leading into a nest of 25,000 dynamite caps, stored at the Dupont Powder Co.'s plant. Adjoining this nest was a larger storehouse of stick dynamite. They charge the plot to strike sympathizers.

An army of 3,000 strikers tried to prevent workers from getting to the Gilberton collieries this morning. After a free-for-all fight with police and workers, they succeeded in turning back several miners and the colliery worked short-handed.

Women joined pickets for a third attack on the Marvine mine in North Scranton today. Several were among the 90 rounded up and arrested by police, who dispersed the mob. The mine, one of the largest in the Scranton area, worked virtually full-handed.

Dives Vertically.

After the crash Lieut. O'Keefe's plane dived vertically and the officer was unable to free himself. It struck in 18 feet of water. Late last night workers had not been able to recover his body.

Lieut. Akre, his plane out of control due to the loss of one wing, jumped with a parachute. He landed unhurt. The collision occurred during combat practice. Both pilots were attached to the Forty-ninth Bombardment Squadron.

The planes were at an altitude of about 8,000 feet when they struck. They were over Plum Tree Island, near Newport News, Va. Lieut. Akre brought his ship over the field, but it was not maneuverable enough to land.

Alabama Bears Brunt, With Death List 86; Tennessee, Florida and Kentucky Report Fatalities.

TORRENTIAL RAINS FOLLOW WIND, HAMPERING RESCUERS

Even Greater Loss of Life Is Feared as Militia and Civilians Seek Victims; Flier Sees 200 Razed Buildings.

Birmingham, Ala., March 21 (A.P.).—Tornadoes late today and tonight struck in four Southern States, killing 96 persons, injuring scores more and causing undetermined property destruction.

Alabama bore the brunt of the storm. The death list in that State late tonight had reached 86. The twisters passed into Tennessee, where six persons were killed, and then struck Kentucky, taking two more lives. Georgia was the fourth State to report, and its death list stood at three and the injured list at over 30.

Heavy downpours accompanied the storms and impeded the work of the rescue parties attempting to reclaim the dead and succor the injured.

First reports came from Alabama, where tornadoes hit in the central and western part of the State. National Guardsmen were called to duty at Northport, across the Warrior River from Tuscaloosa. Cots and blankets, nurses and doctors were hurried to the vicinity. The University of Alabama Gymnasium was turned into an emergency hospital. The students of the university gave aid to the stricken.

Hospital Overflowing.

The Druid City Hospital at Tuscaloosa was overflowing with the injured. Dr. George Lang, of the Red Cross, issued an appeal for all nurses and doctors within the area to hurry to Northport and Tuscaloosa.

Fears were expressed that the number of dead in Alabama would be greater when the searching parties could see more clearly to work after daylight.

Birmingham doctors and nurses were sent to Columbiana, where the death list was placed at twelve.

Marion, Ala., had two tornadoes, one in the afternoon and another after dark.

Georgia Damage Reported.

M. L. Fleetwood, editor of the Cartersville (Ga.) News, made a hurried survey of the storm area in the rural section between there and Cassville, Ga., tonight and said it presented a scene of utter desolation. Gus Cannon, a farmer, was killed and his wife and five children were found huddled in a hole from which a giant tree had been blown by the storm. A 2-week-old baby was carried by its mother when she and her other children fled to safety when their home was wrecked. Two others, Claude Carroll, 28, and Noah Dover, were listed as killed.

Physicians and volunteers rescue parties battled through rain and along debris-strewn highways to Accused Wife-Beater Tied to Post and Flogged; Klan Denies Deed.

Shenandoah Junction, W. Va., March 21 (A.P.).—While a fiery cross burned on a hill in the distance, a dozen white-robed and hooded figures publicly whipped Lloyd Barrom, 35, Saturday night.

The incident raised excitement to a high pitch in the village. The robed band found Barrom in a restaurant. He was lashed to a telephone pole and whipped by four or five men until he begged for mercy.

While several men fired shots into the air, Barrom was released and taken to his home. There, in the presence of his wife, he was accused of beating her. He denied it, but his wife is said to have admitted having been beaten. Thereupon Barrom was whipped again until he promised to treat his wife better. The band then disappeared.

Indian Gets Life Term For Killing Columbia Coed

Government, His Legal Guardian, Had Asked for Death Penalty After He Had Taken Stand to Repudiate Murder Confession.

Globe, Ariz., March 21 (A.P.).—A Federal court jury decided tonight that Mac (Golney) Seymour, Apache Indian range rider, shall be imprisoned for life for the murder of Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia University coed.

The jury deliberated 4 hours and 28 minutes, most of the time, it was reported, being spent in deciding whether the penalty should be fixed at life imprisonment or death. It was agreed soon after the jurors retired at 4 p. m. that the verdict would be guilty of murder in the first degree.

Seymour, who speaks only broken English, did not seem to comprehend what the verdict meant when he was led from the courtroom back to his jail cell.

The Government, Seymour's legal guardian, demanded the death penalty. Miss Schmerler, a research student, was slain last July 18 on the White River Reservation, where she had lived alone.

Five possible verdicts were listed in Judge Albert M. Sames' instructions to the jurors. They included:

Guilty of murder in first degree, punishable by death or life imprisonment, the jury's recommendation to be mandatory in either case; guilty of murder in the second degree, guilty of manslaughter and acquittal.

In closing arguments, the prosecution demanded the jury "apply the same standard to the Indian as to a white man—measure him with the same yardstick."

Defense Counsel John P. Dougherty pleaded with the jurors to "give this Indian the same considertaion you would give the white under similar circumstances."

"Too easily do juries forget about the deceased—their attention is attracted by the living," declared John C Gung'l, United States attorney, "and listen to the appeal of the defendant to save his neck.

"I tell you in all sincerity this is a case that deserves the death penalty and you should not be swerved from your duty."

Miss Schmerler was found slain

Czechoslovakia Recalls Trotzky's Visit Permit

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 21 (U.P.).—The ministry of interior today decided to revoke permission granted for Leon Trotzky, exiled Soviet red army leader, to enter Czechoslovakia.

The permission was granted for a three months' visit to health resorts because of Trotzky's physical condition. It was canceled on the ground that Trotzky failed to agree to return to Turkey after the three months period had elapsed and also that he failed to agree to refrain from political activities in Czechoslovakia and not to attempt to escape from the country.

Official details of the agreement were not immediately available, but probably will be made public later today.

Dancer Is Accused Of Kidnaping Child

Former Boarder in Home Charged With Obtainnig Baby by Ruse.

San Francisco, March 21 (A.P.).—Accused of kidnaping a 3-year-old child to satisfy her desire for a baby, Miss Doreen Mordeaux, 26, dancer, was being sought today on a warrant sworn out by the father of the youngster, Fred Stone, of San Francisco.

Mr. Stone said the little girl, Evelyn, and his two other children, had been cared for by Mrs. Alice Munzy, of San Francisco, since the death of Mrs. Stone several months ago. The father asserted Miss Mordeaux obtained possession of the child through a ruse.

Miss Mordeaux, who formerly boarded with the Stones, was alleged to have asked vainly several times for permission to adopt the child.

Battle With Police Is Fatal to Motorist

Alleged Drunken Driver Is Shot by Constable After Chase.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., March 21.—A running gun battle between two county constables and an alleged drunken driver culminated near Wilderness, Spotsylvania County, early tonight in the death of Norris Parman, 22, of Marshall, Fauquier County. He was shot through the abdomen by Constable Lacey White, of Spotsylvania County, who was attempting to arrest him. He died in a hospital here an hour later.

White, who with Constable J. P. Cromer, of Orange had pursued Parman and his companion, W. H. Groves, of Remington, for 25 miles, was shot in a finger by Parman and twice struck by one of the two guns the youth carried.

Ocean City Police Chief Charged in Kidnaping

Berlin, Md., March 21 (A.P.).—Robert Allen, chief of police at Ocean City, Md., and George K. Jarvis, prominent Berlin farmer and cattle dealer, were charged today by Charles W. Brown with kidnaping him and holding him for five days. He was found by a farm youth Sunday chained to a tree in Hollygrove Swamp, near here.

Mr. Brown today swore out warrants for the arrest of Chief Allen and Jarvis on charges of assault and kidnaping. The warrants were turned over to the sheriff's department for service, and arraignment was set for tomorrow.

Allen, according to Mr. Brown, was one of the four men who waylaid him last Tuesday night near Berlin. Mr. Brown said that he tore the mask from the face of one of his captors and recognized him.

Lieut. James Comen, of the Baltimore police department, was summoned by Sheriff Purnell to assist in the case, while Mr. Brown enlisted the services of John F. Maragon, private detective from Washington.

VOTE FRAUD CHARGE IS DENIED BY BAILEY

Committee of Senate Takes Up Pritchard's Plea for Probe Today.

(Associated Press.)

A firm denial of the charges of George M. Pritchard, of Asheville, that there was widespread fraud and irregularity in the 1930 North Carolina senatorial election was put before the Senate elections committee yesterday by Senator Josiah W. Bailey, Democrat.

The committee today will take up Pritchard's accusations to determine whether they warrant a full investigation of the election, which he has been contesting for more than a year.

Pritchard, the Republican candidate, lost to Bailey by 113,000 votes. In an amended petition given the committee last week, he charged fraud in 42 counties and irregularities throughout the State, alleging illegal absentee voting and registration, coercion of voters and campaign workers at the polls.

In his formal denial yesterday, Bailey asserted "each and all of the allegations" involving the 42 counties "are untrue and denied," but added that even if true they would not form sufficient grounds for a contest.

Says Charges General.

He said the charges were general "without stating any material instance of fraud," and that instead of disproving the presumption of regularity and validity attached to the certified results, tended to show he was elected.

Election results of 1928 and 1930 were compared by Bailey to show the count in the latter year was not unusual, along with the notation that Pritchard received more votes than the preceding Republican senatorial candidates.

"President Hoover's majority was more than 60,000, which at least indicates that Republican votes are early and fully counted in North Carolina," Bailey said.

Cites Other Majorities.

He contended that his relative majority would increase if the vote in the 42 counties was declared void because of his heavier majority in the other 58 counties of the State.

Because of divided party representation in election officials, Bailey considered it significant "that frauds could be committed without developing some specific facts to afford a defeated candidate information upon which to file a bill of particulars that would justify an inquiry."

The senator claimed a recount of ballots or further investigation was not justifiable on Pritchard's charges and that "facts of record leave the contestant (Pritchard) without standing in this contest and ought to put an end to it."

Rum to Be Major Issue, Lusk Avers

Says Nothing Can Stop the Voters in Making Dry Law Question.

(Associated Press.)

Rufus S. Lusk, executive vice commander of the Washington Battalion of the Crusaders, antiprohibition organization, said last night American voters were determined "to make prohibition the principal issue in the coming national campaign."

His statement was in reply to an earlier one by F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, that antiprohibitionists would not make any substantial gains in the next Congress. The Crusaders called particular attention to "Dr. McBride's statement that prohibition was not a national political question and that 'Neither party can afford to place a repeal or modification plank in its platform.'"

Lusk's statement said, in part:

"King Canute had as much chance of rolling back the sea as Dr. McBride and his professional, lay and political prohibitionists have of stopping the determination of American voters to make prohibition the principal issue in the coming national campaign."

Jury Deliberates Case of Mancuso

Smith Testifies to Good Character of Former New York Judge.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Trial of former General Sessions Judge Francis X. Mancuso, accused of perjury, reached the jury today after several notables, including former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, testified to the good character of the defendant.

Mancuso's indictment was an outgrowth of the inquiry into the closed City Trust Co., of which he was a director. He was a close friend of Francesco Ferrari, president of City Trust, and one part of the indictment referred to alleged gifts by Ferrari to him. This count, however, was thrown out. The count upon which he is being tried charged him with falsely testifying regarding the amount of stock he held in the Harlem Bank of Commerce.

Mr. Smith said he had known Mancuso for seventeen years and "never heard anything of him except what would be in his favor." He said he "always had a very high regard for Judge Mancuso as a citizen and as a judge."

INDIAN DRAWS LIFE IN KILLING OF COED

July 24. Seymour's confession, read at the trial, was repudiated by the Indian on the stand.

The Government sought to establish that Seymour killed the young woman during or after a criminal assault, as she was accompanying him to a dance at Canyon Dey, near Fort Apache. The purported confession quoted him as admitting he stabbed her in the neck and about the head as she lay on the ground after he knocked her down with a rock.

Chlorination of Water "Pain" to Homebrewers

By JOHN J. DALY

CHLORINATION of the Water supply in Grand Island, Nebr., has brought complain' from the home brewers, now organizing themselves into a national association, with headquarters in Washington.

Since homebrewing may become one of the basic industries in America, something must be done about this chlorination of the water supply, not only in Grand Island, but in other places.

First of all, the happiness of a people must be taken into consideration. Healthy people are happy people, by nature. To safeguard health in the greater communities it is sometimes necessary to fight against the pollution of water; but water is a necessary ingredient in the making of homebrew, and if chlorination makes water purer it also destroys the fine taste of malt.

HOMEBREW, strange as it may seem, is a means of creating happiness in the hearts of a certain portion of the populace. It may be only an imaginary happiness, true; but it is happiness, after a fashion. Anyway, the homebrewers have their rights, as well as others. There is here, then, a fine line of distinction.

If it becomes necessary and prudent to subject city water to a chlorination process, in order to safeguard health, how far may this precaution go if, even inadvertently, it ruins the homebrew supply of a nation?

There is the question.

It is conceivable, of course, that Congress some day, in happy mood, may vote the homebrewers out of business—out of their cellars, at least—by ordering back the regulation product; but in the meantime the question hangs in the air, begging an answer.

HOMEBREWING is a sportive pastime. As such it makes the heart of man flutter with keen delight. It has about it all the elements of big game hunting without the necessity of travel, save from the first floor to the basement. It carries the thrill of wandering in the wilderness and coming unexpectedly upon danger—not the danger to life and limb, of course, nor of police intervention, since homebrewing is perfectly respectable, but the danger of spoiling the batch.

There has always been an element of uncertainty in homebrewing, no two batches being exactly alike, from the time of first fermentation to the final hour of bottling, which is the attribute of an art rather than a science.

* * * *

SHOULD the chlorination of the Nation's water supply go on in regular fashion, there will be only one certainty—the ruination of vast amounts of homebrew, the loss of love's labor, and the consequent disgruntlement of a vast portion of the populace. In a word, an unhappy people.

It is readily seen, then, that something must be done about a very delicate and pestiferous problem.

How is it to be solved?

Congress, if it can forget the troublesome taxes long enough, may turn its attention to a problem that calls aloud for a just and amicable solution—and, after all, homebrewers are voters; that is, those of them who do not brew in the District of Columbia.

Strange how these peculiar problems keep popping up, just when the Nation is trying so hard to balance the budget; but that is life.

COMPROMISE IN PAY CUT PLAN FOR U. S. WORKERS IS SOUGHT

put forward in House appropriations bills, could not be estimated.

In view of the flat stand taken by House leaders in favor of a pay cut, and Chairman Byrns' statement yesterday that "the committee will report out a bill," no great hope was held out for the Cochran proposal.

It appeared more than likely the committee would agree on one of the following four proposals returned by the McDuffie subcommittee:

Salaries between $1,000 and $2,000, a 2 per cent cut; salaries between $2,000 and $4,000, 3 per cent; between $4,000 and $6,000, 10 per cent; between $6,000 and $10,000, 15 per cent, over $10,000, 20 per cent. An estimated $41,000,000 would be saved by this plan.

Salaries between $1,000 and $2,000, 2 per cent; between $2,000 and $4,000, 4 per cent; between $4,000 and $6,000, 10 per cent; between $6,000 and $10,000, 15 per cent; over $10,000, 20 per cent. This plan, differing in only one percentage from the first, would save $55,000,000.

Plans $57,000,000 Saving.

Salaries between $1,000 and $2,000, 3 per cent; between $2,000 and $4,000, 5 per cent; over $4,000, 10 per cent. This would save approximately $57,000,000.

A flat 10 per cent cut "from the highest to the lowest." This would save approximately $135,000,000.

Chairman Byrns, who has ever advocated salary reductions in the highest brackets only, said the committee probably would report out a bill "that did not represent his views."

He saw no "psychological" advantage to be gained, but favors salary reduction purely as an economy step, he said. Inversely, he argued, there would be no "psychological" disadvantages, inasmuch as many businesses already have reduced wages.

Should a general reduction be approved by Congress, 732,000 Federal workers would be affected. Including the military personnel, 1,003,000 would be cut. Of that number, 616,837 are civil service employes. Approximately 71,693 of these work in the District.

The Borah bill, to cut salaries of Farm Board members from $12,000 to $9,600, and limit salaries paid by affiliated organizations to $15,000, was attacked and defended by witnesses appearing yesterday before the Senate Agriculture subcommittee.

C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, declared only seven men in his corporation would be affected by the Borah bill and that "the mishandling of a single day's business would cost as much as their combined salaries for the twelve months."

Dameron H. Williams, of Gastonia, N. C., member of the economic committee of the American Cotton Shippers Association, charged that cooperatives are handicapped by "an excessive and unwarranted salary overhead." He declared the cooperative farm movement is being "literally crushed" by Federal Farm Board misuse of power.

Hearings Held Complete.

A reply from U. B. Bialock, president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, to statements made by Mr. Williams was sent to the subcommittee yesterday for putting in its records.

Chairman Frazier (Republican), of North Dakota, said the group expected to report within the next ten days or two weeks to the full committee and that so far as he could tell the hearings now were completed.

Mr. Williams had denied charges before the committee by Mr. Bialock last week that the shippers sponsored the Borah bill; owned the Cotton Digest, a Texas publication, or had paid for an editorial in the Dunn, N. C., Dispatch, assailing board salaries.

Mr. Bialock's reply said the Dunn editorial was influenced by pressure of local shippers and that he had not said it was bought.

He said he had meant to convey the impression to the committee that the Cotton Digest, if not owned by the shippers, was "at least subsidized by subscriptions and advertising."

Reduction Opponents Consoled.

Opponents of salary reduction gained consolation yesterday through transfer of the Connally Federal pay-cut bill from the Senate appropriations committee to the Senate civil service committee.

The transfer was made on motion of Senator Wesley L. Jones, of the appropriation committee, and was in line with a similar action taken several weeks ago in regard to the Borah pay-cut measures. Senator Borah's bill to cut all Government salaries over $5,000 is still "sleeping" in a civil service subcommittee. The Idaho senator may not wait for a report on the measure, but may offer his plan as a rider to the revenue bill.

Cash Bonus Seen Losing Adherents

Johnson, of South Dakota, Tells Hoover Advocates Are Fewer Now.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Johnson, of South Dakota, ranking Republican on the House veterans committee, said yesterday he had told President Hoover there was still considerable agitation for additional cash bonus legislation but that sentiment now appeared stronger against it.

After a lengthy conference at the White House, Mr. Johnson said he expressed the opinion "no one knows exactly what the vote would be on an additional cash bonus bill."

"I can see switches in the vote on both sides," Mr. Johnson said, "but because of the present economic situation, many who have favored it in the past would switch their allegiance."

Transvaal Gold Output Set New Record in '31

Johannesburg, South Africa, March 21 (A.P.).—Arthur French, in his presidential address before the Transvaal Chamber of Mines today, said the output of the Transvaal gold mines in 1931 was £46,000,000, more than £500,000 above the previous record output.

Assuming that Mr. French reckoned the output on the gold par basis of sterling, it was approximately $228,880,000.

Killing of Husband Ends Honeymoon

Young Wife, Hearing Shot, Finds Mate Dying and Father Fleeing.

Chester, Pa., March 21 (A.P.).—The honeymoon of a 19-year-old girl ended today with the slaying of her husband in her father's house.

Mrs. Josephine Torre said she and Philip Torre, 31, were married in Baltimore 10 days ago over the objections of her father, Angelo Mercale, 54. She returned home after the ceremony and Torre returned to his quarters in Philadelphia.

He had been visiting her daily, however, and Mrs. Torre said she thought her husband and her father had become reconciled. Today she left them talking together in the living room while she went upstairs. There was a shot, and she hurried down to find Torre fatally wounded and her father fleeing out the door. He had not been found tonight.

Nonsupport Charged To Arthur's Grandson

Los Angeles, March 21 (A.P.).—A default to his wife's divorce action was entered in court here today by Chester A. Arthur, jr., Santa Barbara, Calif., a grandson of the twenty-first President of the United States. Mrs. Charlotte Arthur accused him of nonsupport.

"He just wouldn't work," Mrs. Arthur charged in her petition for divorce. "Sometimes he tried to write a little."

They were married June 29, 1921.

HEARINGS ORDERED ON GLASS BANK BILL

Senate Committee Accedes to Requests, Although Sponsor Objects.

(Associated Press.)

Over the protest of its sponsors, the Glass banking reform bill is to be the subject of hearing by the Senate banking committee.

The committee yesterday voted, 10 to 6, for such procedure. The hearings will begin tomorrow, with representatives of the American Bankers Association and the Investment Bankers Association invited as the first witnesses.

The inquiry was requested by these organizations and there are signs of some opposition from the banking group. The bill would impose a strict curb on use of Federal Reserve facilities for stock speculation, restrict chain banking, establish a system for speeding payments to depositors of closed institutions and encourage branch banking.

The decision to hold hearings further postponed the stock market investigation which the Senate recently ordered the banking committee to undertake.

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, sponsor of the banking bill, and the subcommittee which framed it voted against hearings on the ground that extensive hearings were conducted before the measure was drafted.

Senators Couzens (Republican), Michigan, and Wagner (Democrat), New York, urged the inquiry in response to urgent requests.

Paper Prints New Notice of "Jafsie"

Package Is Delivered, Says "Ad" Linked by Some to Lindbergh.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Another of a series of public notices signed "Jafsie," which are interpreted in some quarters as messages from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's personal agents to the kidnapers of his son, appears in a Tuesday morning New York newspaper.

It reads:

"Thanks. That little package you sent was immediately delivered and accepted as real article. See my position. Over 50 years in business and can I pay without seeing goods? Common sense makes me trust you. Please understand my position. Jafsie."

"The text of the message," the American says, "was accepted as evidence Col. Lindbergh has received some small article as proof that the sender was in possession of the stolen child—a button from the baby's sleeping suit, a fragment of cloth, a lock of curly golden hair."

CIPHER NOTE PLACES STOLEN BABY ON SHIP

tied to the leg of a bird beaten down in Connecticut. The informant, who said he had not seen the note, told police it was in code, which was deciphered by a local bootlegger, whom he refused to name.

In Pittsburgh every police car joined in a hunt for a mud-spattered automobile seen speeding through the city with two men on the front seat and a baby, swathed in blankets, between them.

In Pocatello, Idaho, Ignace Blaustein, who had been quoted as saying he drove the kidnapers' car, was questioned by Newark (N. J.) detectives and adhered to a statement he knew nothing of the alleged "confession."

Harry (Red) Johnson, seaman suitor of Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid, was completely exonerated by Jersey City police of any complicity in the kidneping.

Sportsmen Asked to Aid Lindbergh Baby Search

Believing that kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby may have sought hiding place in a secluded haunt away from civilization, the American Game Association has broadcast an appeal to sportsmen of the country to assist in searching isolated districts.

"The vast area of outlying territory, most remote from eyes of the law and least in touch with daily happenings, is a possible hide-out for the kidnapers. No possibility, however slight, should be neglected at this time," the association's appeal states.

"Millions of sportsmen go into this type of territory, reaching almost every section in pursuit of their sport. Hunters and anglers are usually familiar with little-frequented sections for miles around them. We urge that every sportsman be on the alert for any clew that might lead to recovery of the Lindbergh baby."

Kidnapers Warn Bower, Who Held Back Ransom

Denver, March 21 (A.P.).—Police guard over the home of Benjamin P. Bower, recent kidnap victim, was resumed today after Bower received a note warning him, "Pay the $50,000 or we'll take your daughter or grandchild."

Bower, who was held captive five days, was released January 24, on his promise to obtain $50,000 and deliver it to the kidnapers. Such delivery has not been made, police said. Bower, a wealthy bakery executive, has moved his daughter, Mrs. Walter H. Swan and her daughter, Gladys Mary, to his home where they are being guarded by police.

Lindbergh Resemblance Holds Baby in Virginia

Amelia, Va., March 21 (A.P.).—Adolph Widmaier, the 24-month-old son of A. Widmaier, of Alanta, looks so much like Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., local and State police here yesterday thought they had found the missing Lindbergh heir.

Arriving here in the arms of his German parents, believed by authorities, at first, to answer the description of the German butler and maid who left a home near Hopewell, N. J., about the time the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped, the little Widmaier boy was quickly mistaken for "little Lindy" and he and his parents were taken into custody. They were soon freed.

Slayer Files Guilty Plea As Jury Votes Acquittal

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Daniel Nevins, 29, grew nervous today while waiting for a jury to return a verdict in a murder case against him.

His anxiety led him to tell the court he would plead guilty to a second-degree manslaughter charge. The plea was accepted, and he was sentenced to from five to ten years in Sing Sing before the jury reported.

The jury members later disclosed they had reached a verdict of acquittal.

MITCHELL REJECTS R.C.A. SETTLEMENT

Senate Committee Is Also Told That Antitrust Trial Speed Is Wanted.

(Associated Press.)

The Justice Department has informed the Senate judiciary committee that the Government desires to have trial of its case against the Radio Corporation of America and others "begun before the summer vacation if it is to be tried."

A report from the Attorney General received in response to a Senate resolution was made public by the committee. It disclosed that the department has declined a settlement of the case which would involve acquiescense to the continuance of the existing contractural restriction on competition among the Radio Corporation, General Electric Co., and the Western Electric Co., and to "the Westinghouse Co. continuing to be substantially interested in the Radio Corporation along with the General Electric Co."

Attorney General Mitchell explained that the defendants had sought Government acquiescence on these points if they should agree to create a patent pool, which would open up their patent control to the general public.

Letter Sent to Defendants.

To indicate the department's stand he transmitted a letter addressed to the defendants October 15, 1931, which said:

"Your letter advances the argument that with the creation of an open patent pool there would be sufficient competition from outside the companies named to satisfy the public need and that the requirement of competition between them is not called for by economic reasons.

"Whether such a proposal can be entertained depends, of course, on whether the existing arrangements and relations between the defendants are or not in violation of the antitrust laws. * * *

"It is hardly necessary to say that we have no authority to agree to the continuance of an arrangement which is forbidden by law.

Some Situations Corrected.

"However much in the public interest we may consider an open patent pool to be * * * we could not possibly justify the creation of such a pool at the price of acquiescence in an illegal combination between the defendants themselves."

The Attorney General reported that the defendants have corrected some of the situations complained of by the Government.

"Interrelationship by licenses and stock ownership between the General Motors Corporation and the Radio Corporation is in the process of dissolution," he stated.

Other moves made by the defendants, he said, have been to reduce patent royalties from 7½ to 5 per cent and the minimum annual royalty from $100,000 to $10,000.

Lubitsch signed a contract with Paramount Pictures Corporation for another year and will leave Thursday for Hollywood.

BRAZILIAN LEADERS APPEAL FOR UNITY

Seek to Heal Sectional Row Between Vargas and Rio Grande do Sul.

Rio de Janeiro, March 21 (A.P.).—Political leaders from all parts of Brazil were called upon today to heal the breach between the military regime of Getulio Vargas and the political forces of the southern State of Rio Grande do Sul.

The defacto president himself was engaged in long conferences with the Governor of Rio Grande, Gen. Flores da Cunha, but the results of their discussion were carefully guarded.

Foreign Minister Mello Franco, who represents politically the State of Minas Geraes, a neighbor state of Rio Grande, and Americo Almeida, minister of communications, and a political representative of the northern states were among the negotiators for peace.

The opinion of the country appeared divided between two tendencies:

1. Support for the military regime of Vargas and its northern federal associates, with its aim to outline for Brazil a modern constitution with equal suffrage and political education throughout the nation before a return to constitutionalism early in 1933. Vargas has been in power since November 3, 1930, when he seized the government by military force.

2. Support, mostly civilian, for the southern states of Rio Grande do Sul, Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo, whose leaders want an election in 1932, and convocation of the National Assembly.

Vargas has insisted that the country is not ready for constitutional government, and he has been doing his utmost to reconcile the southerners since their ministers walked out of his cabinet three weeks ago. At the time they protested "a military raid" on the newspaper Carioca.

The crisis became acute when the Rio Grande leaders sent J. F. Assis Brasil to Rio de Janeiro to demand constitutionalism of Vargas.

Hoover Urges U. S. To Honor Dr. Koch

Pioneer in Tuberculosis Research Work Lauded in Statement.

(Associated Press.)

High praise was heaped upon the name of the German scientist, Robert Koch, by President Hoover yesterday in calling attention to the fiftieth anniversary of his achievement in isolating the germ that causes tuberculosis.

The Chief Executive in a formal White House statement, suggested the Nation as a whole make a special observance of Thursday in honor of the German's accomplishment.

"Because of his priceless contribution to human welfare," Mr. Hoover said, "it is fitting that we, as a Nation, do him honor, and that each community acknowledge its debt to Robert Koch by commemorating in an appropriate manner the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his discovery of the tubercle bacillus."

BRAZILIANS DOUBT CLEW TO FAWCETT

British Officials, However, Are More Impressed by Trapper's Tale.

Rio de Janeiro, March 21 (A.P.).—British and Brazilian authorities who checked the story of a Swiss trapper, Stepham Rattin, that Col. P. H. Fawcett, is still alive after his disappearance in the Brazilian jungles seven years ago, have reached opposite conclusions.

Gen. Candido Rondon, the Brazilian army officer, who has spent many years investigating the mystery land of inner Brazil, after interviewing the trapper, was skeptical that the explorer could be still alive. Other Brazilian army authorities who have often been among Brazilian Indians agreed with him.

But the British consul at Sao Paulo, Arthur Abbott, and Consul General Charles Goodwin, of Rio de Janeiro, are increasingly impressed with Rattin's story that he saw the aged Fawcett 500 miles west of Dead Horse Camp, the last outpost of civilization in Brazil, last October.

Col. Fawcett vanished with his son and a companion in the northern Brazilian wilderness in quest of a counterpart of the biblical Garden of Eden, which he believed was the real cradle of civilization. He hoped to find white Indians in an advanced civilized state in the region of the Tapajos and Xingu Rivers.

Consul General Goodwin tried the trapper with two photographs, one similar to Fawcett's and the other an actual photograph of the explorer. The trapper, puzzled for some time over the first photograph, finally said it was not the man he saw. He identified the actual photograph immediately as the man in the strange jungle encounter.

1,439,135 in Chicago Are Eligible to Vote

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—The election commissioners of Cook County (Chicago) announced today 1,439,894 persons were eligible to vote in the April 12 primary.

This figure compares with 1,412,135, the registration of last spring, but revision has not been completed in 43 precincts, and the number may be cut by as many as 2,500 names.

Hoover Opposition Claimed in Chicago

Delegate Candidate Cook Says That 20 on List Seek New Leader.

(Associated Press.)

Edgar J. Cook, candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention from the Tenth Chicago District, said here yesterday that all 20 delegate candidates from the ten districts of Cook County were opposed to renomination of President Hoover.

Mr. Cook, a candidate pledged to Senator Hiram Johnson, at the 1920 convention, conferred with the Californian during the day, and said he planned to see other Republican Independents in the interest of a "progressive" anti-Hoover movement at the convention.

The Chicagoan said Senator Johnson told him he favored a "concerted movement to bring out of the convention a candidate opposed to the existing order of things."

Mr. Cook added he hoped to get a "leader" for the Progressive movement before he terminates his visit here. He plans calls on Senators Borah, Norris, La Follette and Nye.

Nude Bathing Issue Shelved in Chicago

Mayor Cermak Declares He Would Not Allow Protested Cult.

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—By a single heroic gesture the mayor has spared the civic fathers a lot of blushes.

The subject of sunbaths in the nude need not be broached before the aldermen tomorrow. Mayor Anton J. Cermak has heard the voice of the people rising in shocked protest against nudity on sequestered sections of the Lake Michigan shore, and made answer:

"If it is something to which people object, I would not allow it even if the council approved the plan. So many people are objecting, and in view of the fact that the thing is being made a political football, it should be placed on file."

The nudist cult threatened to become a campaign issue. There was talk of postponing the discussion until, say, the day after the primary election. But the mayor lifted the burden from the worried city fathers. The matter of sunbathing is now "on file."

nection with the incident. No complaints have been lodged with police.

The Washington Post's Shenandoah Junction correspondent last night reported that the robed band was in three cars bearing District of Columbia and Maryland licenses.

H. W. Evans, the imperial wizard, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, issued the following statement here:

"I see by the afternoon papers where a group of masked men, said to have been wearing klan robes, whipped a man at Shenandoah Junction, W. Va., on Saturday night. I am hoping that the facts when developed prove that no klansman was involved in this outrage. I have ordered our representative in West Virginia to proceed immediately to Shenandoah Junction to cooperate with the officers of the law in every way possible in bringing the guilty parties to justice. All klansmen are oath bound to obey the law and to support constituted authorities in the enforcement of the law. It is unthinkable that our people can have committed this crime."

One Cent a Day Brings $100 a Month

Nearly One-Half Million Dollars Already Paid in Cash Benefits.

One cent a day ($3.65 a year), invested in a National Protective policy, will now buy more insurance benefits than can be secured from any other Company for any amount up to $10 per year. This is possible because the money saved by the National Protective plan of operation is passed on to its members.

Thousands of persons have been made happy by receiving cash benefits when cash was most needed from their National Protective policies, which pay benefits up to $100 each month and $1,000 to $1,500 at death.

The National Protective is the largest and oldest company of its kind in the world. It has paid nearly one-half million dollars in cash to its policyholders.

The benefits for auto accidents of $100 a month (instead of the usual $50 a month) is said by many to be alone worth the entire cost of $3.65 a year. Yet this is but one of the many features of this unusual policy.

Send No Money.

For 10 days' free inspection of policy, simply send name, age, address, beneficiary's name and relationship to National Protective Insurance Association, 1089 Scarritt Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. No medical examination or other red tape. After reading policy, which will be mailed to you, either return it or send $3.65, which pays you up for a whole year—365 days. Send today while offer is still open.—Adv.

1905 PACT VIOLATION IS DENIED BY JAPAN

Massing of Troops Does Not Threaten Soviet Lands, She Reiterates.

Moscow, March 21 (A.P.).—A reiteration by the Japanese government that a massing of Japanese troops on the Korean border did not threaten Soviet territory and that Japan stood ready to suppress Russian "white guard" activities in Manchuria if they threatened the Soviet frontiers was made public today by the foreign office here.

Koki Hirota, Japanese Ambassador, told L. M. Karakhan, acting Soviet foreign commissar, that the Japanese government had no intention to adopt aggressive measures along the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchuria, over which Japan recently was supporting the activities of anti-Soviet "white guards."

The Soviet government on March 8 asked for information concerning the "white guard" movement in Manchuria, the structure of the Manchurian government and what it termed a Japanese violation of the Portsmouth treaty of 1905, which ended the Russo-Japanese War.

Ambassador Hirota, in a conciliatory note, said his government did not consider the Portsmouth treaty violated by the transportation and concentration of Japanese troops along the Chinese Eastern Railway, because such action involved no aggressive intentions, but was to protect Japanese lives and property.

Russia had contended that the Portsmouth treaty prohibited the transportation of troops for "strategic purposes."

Hirota inquired in turn about a reported massing of Russian troops in that region. Mr. Karakhan said such information was without foundation. The Soviet government, the commissar said, "is continuing its peace policy, does not expect to violate the Portsmouth treaty and hopes the Japanese government and its representatives in Manchuria will do the same."

Drys' Old Charge Follows Nominee

Letter Accusing Federal Marshal of Being Wet Bobs Up.

(Associated Press.)

Joseph Fritsch, United States marshal at Rochester, N. Y., was described as "offensively wet" in a letter signed by Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the National United Committee for Law Enforcement, which is on file with a Senate judiciary subcommittee considering his reappointment.

The letter was sent to Attorney General Mitchell more than two years ago. It is the only protest against Fritsch, whose nomination is in the hands of a subcommittee comprising Senators Schall (Republican), Minnesota, chairman, and Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona.

Making a practice of looking into any accusations against officeholders when they come up for reappointment, even if the protests were filed some time before, Chairman Norris last week named the subcommittee to consider the Fritsch case. Senator Schall said yesterday he had not yet had opportunity to take it up.

DR. JULIUS KLEIN.

JULIUS KLEIN is an incorrigible optimist, and his faith in the United States is unfailingly contagious. As Assistant Secretary of Commerce he probably has come into contact with more tales of disaster and travail during the last two years than all the fortune tellers on the Bowery, yet never once has he joined the Lost Legions of Lugubrious. He answers, instead, with that classic line of the younger Seneca—

"We become wiser by adversity: prosperity destroys our appreciation of the right."

On one occasion recently he wrote a memorable short sermon on the sweet uses of depression.

"Adversity," he said, "has laid bare with ruthless, swift dexterity many of the innermost economic frailities which had been pleasantly concealed under those deeply imbedded layers of the fat of the years of opulence. By the same token, the recent ordeals have also revealed hidden and entirely unsuspected sinews of strength which had grown lethargic through misuse. The stern requirements of these times have quickened our perceptions by the very measure of our increasing needs."

Klein was born in San Jose, Calif., on June 27, 1886, and got his first college degree in the University of California in 1907. Later he studied at Harvard, the University of Berlin and the Sarbonne in Paris. He was in school in the French capital when the World War began in the summer of 1914. The next year Harvard conferred on him the Ph. D. degree.

Always a specialist in Spanish history and the economic organization of the Latin world, Klein became chief of the Latin-American division of the Department of Commerce in 1917. He remained in the department continuously until his advancement by President Hoover in the summer of 1929 to his present post of Assistant Secretary. L. S.

AGREEMENT FOR ARMISTICE WINS APPROVAL IN SHANGHAI

stood to be acceptable to the Chinese national government, although it was not known exactly what the attitude of the Tokyo government would be. The Japanese representatives in Shanghai accepted the terms.

It provides for a joint commission to work out details of a peace settlement. The commission will be composed of Chinese, Japanese and neutrals, probably four of each.

The Japanese negotiators acceded to the Chinese demands that Japanese troops withdraw, leaving the Chinese troops in their present positions outside the city.

To Supervise Evacuation.

The joint commission will supervise evacuation of the Japanese troops and will define the positions to be held by the Chinese troops after the withdrawal. The commission also will define the positions to which the Japanese troops shall withdraw.

The Japanese have the privilege of keeping troops in the International Settlement and, in view of the size of their present force, they presumably will be permitted to occupy certain quarters outside pending return of the troops to Japan.

The first formal meeting of the peace negotiators will be held after the approval of the two governments is received. Chiang Kwang-Nai and Gen. Gaston Wong will represent the Chinese and Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda will head the Japanese representatives. They plan to meet Wednesday morning.

League Probers on Tour.

Shanghai, March 21 (A.P.).—League of Nations investigators today viewed the scars of recent battle between the Japanese and Chinese.

The Japanese, having done some house cleaning—which the Chinese called "window dressing"—since the enemy retired, showed the commissioners over the late front. Five Chinese civilians, including Dr. Wellington Koo, former foreign minister of China, went along. All the inspectors saw were ruins, but a Japanese officer who served as guide vividly described the battle scenes.

While they were at Kiangwan, where a little band of Chinese machine gunners long held out against the Japanese attack, a Japanese courier dashed up with word that three Chinese snipers had just wounded a Japanese major in another section of the village. One of the Chinese was captured, he said.

Bombing Is Described.

The Japanese version of the outbreak of hostilities was illustrated by Rear Admiral Uyematsu, who commanded the naval landing party, with the aid of a large scale military map at the north station in the devastated Chapei native section, first battle ground of the conflict.

Lord Lytton, chairman of the commission, questioned him about bombings by Japanese planes. It was impossible to drop bombs in a closely settled area without causing danger to civilians and damage to their property, he said. The admiral denied that incendiary bombs had been used.

(Associated Press.)

K. Yoshizawa, Japan's foreign minister, told the special session of the Diet yesterday (Tuesday, March 22, Tokyo time) he is confident Europe and the United States will support Japan's action in Manchuria and at Shanghai after they have a full understanding of the facts.

A copy of Yoshizawa's statement of his country's foreign position was made public last night at the Japanese Embassy here. Reviewing at length incidents leading up to the Shanghai fighting, the foreign minister said:

"I may add on this occasion a word about the atmosphere of Europe and America, which has not always been sympathetic to Japan since the outbreak of the Manchurian incident, and especially since the Shanghai affair.

Misrepresentation of Facts.

"That atmosphere was created simply through misrepresentation of facts emanating from Chinese sources or through misunderstandings of various kinds. I am confident that in time the sentiment of the Western powers will turn gradually in favor of Japan."

Yoshizawa said the autonomous government in Manchuria was organized by the Manchurian people to escape militarist rule. He explained that Japan merely acknowledged the receipt of the notification that the new Manchurian government has been established. He made it clear that the action was in no sense recognition.

JAPANESE TO PLEAD FOR ARMS SECURITY

Tokyo Implies She Frowns on Cut Unless Guaranteed Protection.

Geneva, March 21 (U.P.).—Japan will ask the disarmament conference to consider special arrangements for her security in the Far East in view of the unusual circumstances existing in Soviet Russia and China.

Japanese military experts today completed the draft of the new proposals, which will be presented to the disarmament conference after the Easter holiday. The League of Nations secretariat will receive the proposals on April 4 and the conference will be requested to take up the special situation in the Orient.

This situation involves the fact that Japan's two neighbors are Russia and China. The first neighbor, meaning Russia, has a political and social and military organization which is different from similar organizations in other countries, the Japanese point out.

Not Able to Keep Order.

The second, meaning China, is unable to maintain order in its own domain, the Japanese charge.

The Japanese will demand that the conference consider these circumstances when discussing the disarmament or limitation of arms of Far Eastern nations, thus implying that Japan will not be in a position to reduce her military machine unless she is given some guarantee of security.

In some ways the proposition is similar to the French disarmament thesis, which places guarantees of national security before limitation of arms.

Will Ask Chinese Data.

The Japanese experts also will ask the league to have China furnish complete statistics on land, naval and aerial armaments, such as already have been submitted by other nations. The Japanese explain that China has not submitted such figures, which is a highly important factor, inasmuch as it is necessary for Japan to know the extent of armaments in China before she can estimate her own minimum military requirements.

League observers were of the opinion that, because of the existence of many large bandit armies in China, the government would have difficulty in furnishing statistics. Japan considers the bandits one element of military strength in China and desires that their arms be included in the figures.

Coalition Ministry Is Urged for Japan

Political Observers Doubt Fascist Coup; Issue Up Again Today.

Tokyo, March 21 (A.P.).—A nonpartisan "national" government, similar to the cabinet of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in Great Britain, was seen today as the likeliest way out of difficulties threatening the administration of Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai.

Political observers said there was little prospect of a Fascist coup, as has been rumored. They suggested instead that the strongest men of Japan's two major parties, the Seiyukai and Minseito, might be invited into the government in an inevitable reshuffling of the cabinet after the closing of the Diet on March 25.

Premier Inukai's position thus would be bolstered against weakness caused by strike within his Seiyukai party and a popular clamor for stronger leadership of Japan's affairs.

The country's political troubles were expected to come to the front again tomorrow, after a political truce today while the empire celebrated the national festival of the spring equinox. The spirits of ancestors and especially of emperors are worshiped on this occasion.

Roosevelt's Views On Utilities Asked

Underhill Makes Demand of Government League Director.

(Associated Press.)

A public statement on the attitude of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Speaker John Garner, Democratic presidential possibilities, toward Government ownership of public utilities last night was demanded of Judson King, director of the National Popular Government League, by Representative Underhill (Republican), Massachusetts.

He said King has commended the public utility stand of Roosevelt and Garner as qualifications for election. In an open letter Underhill asked him to advise the public specifically whether each is in favor of Government ownership and operation of electric power utilities and the railroads.

"You say, or directly imply, that members of the Federal Power Commission are controlled by the power companies," Underhill said. "Will you not state which ones are power controlled?"

He asked King also for the names of the officers and financial supporters of his organization.

tion workers on the frontier. Some of them halted at China, west of German engineers at Khabarovsk and Vladivostok stated they were engaged for fortification workers on the frontier. Some halted at China, west of Manchuria, and others went on eastward.

Passengers arriving via the Trans-Siberian road said they saw many troops moving eastward and one train with about 40 airplanes on it. The Russian soldiers were singing "to Manchuria."

About 3,000 freight cars and 28 locomotives belonging to the Chinese Eastern Railroad (jointly owned by China and Russia) have passed over the frontier into Russia and no cars have been received in exchange.

While both Japanese and Soviet authorities emphasized that there is no danger of serious developments on the frontier, the passengers arriving her from Siberia persistently report the presence of a considerable number of troops between Irkutsk and China and the appearance of many Soviet airplanes over the same area.

Louisiana Courts Defended by Long

Senate Hears Decisions on Governorship Upheld in Cyr Dispute.

(Associated Press.)

Louisiana's courts were defended in the Senate yesterday by Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, for their decisions refusing the governorship to Dr. Paul N. Cyr, former lieutenant governor.

An editorial in The Washington Post questioning the decisions of the Louisiana courts as "sidestepping the issue" and as "not calculated to enhance the prestige of the State" was read by Senator Long in making his speech.

"Mr. Cyr abandoned his office as lieutenant governor when he took the oath as governor," said Senator Long. "The courts of Louisiana followed the jurisprudence of four other courts of the United States. He was not governor and he was not lieutenant governor. I see this campaign of editorials which has gone on in Louisiana's politics has to be washed out here."

Senator Long referred to the impeachment proceedings against him as a "fiasco."

SOVIETS SLAUGHTER PEASANTS IN REVOLT

Machine Guns Turned On Women Resisting Razing of Churches, Is Report.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 21 (A.P.).—Reports of Soviet soldiers shooting down rebellious peasants in the Ukraine, among them women defending their churches against wreckers, came today from Roumanian villages on the Ukrainian frontier.

An uprising in the Ukraine was reported. The dispatches said martial law had been established over a two-kilometer zone on the Russian side of the Dniester River to prevent a further escape of peasants into Roumania.

Soviet church-wrecking activities in the Ukrainian village of Taslak resulted in a "bloody Sunday," said alleged eyewitness accounts from Kitzani, Roumania, across the river. Soviet soldiers, attempting to destroy a church in Russia's antireligious campaign, were faced by 300 women, the reports said, the soldiers killing and wounding several with machine-gun fire.

Persons at the Roumanian military post at Mihaiviteazu said the Soviet soldiers were seen shooting down fifteen peasants who tried to defend a cross in the village square at Ruturaga.

Stories also continued to come in of Ukrainian peasants attempting to escape from Soviet territory over the frozen Dniester River, only to be shot down by Soviet border guards before they reached Roumanian soil.

Several villagers tried to flee from Schlotolaga with their families, reports said, by hiding their wives and children in barrels on wagons. They would drive down to the river bank as though to get water, then whip up their horses and race across the ice toward the Roumanian shore.

One wagon was said to have reached Roumania, but the others were reported to have been intercepted and their occupants shot.

Soviet orders were issued to shoot on sight any civilians found within the frontier zone, the reports said, after the 282d Soviet Infantry Regiment refused to fire on a group of revolting peasants. A number of soldiers were executed for mutiny.

Bloom Still Seeks Site For Washington Bust

Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the United States Bicentennial Commission, said yesterday that he expects to find soon a suitable place for the two-ton plaster bust of George Washington, which he accepted as a gift from President Hoover.

The huge bust, the work of Ernest Durig, will probably be set in the hallway of a public building. Representative Bloom said that several places have been suggested and that he will visit them today.

Richard E. Lynch Dead; Former Vaudeville Star

Detroit, March 21 (A.P.).—Richard E. Lynch, a star of the varieties stage 30 years ago, and for the past 5 years a clerk in the violations bureau of the Detroit traffic court, died here today after a lengthy illness. He was 63 years old and a native of Detroit.

George M. Cohan called Lynch "the greatest clog dancer of all time," while Lynch was at the height of his stage career at the turn of the century. He became a professional singer and dancer when he was 16, and remained in the profession for 35 years.

La Follette Attacks Hoover Relief Plan

Says President Failed to Meet Situation of Need Squarely.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 21 (A.P.).—Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., Progressive candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention, tonight attacked the Federal reconstruction program in an address here. He said that the $2,000,000,000 measure enacted by Congress would neither increase pay rolls nor corporate earnings.

The senator said President Hoover, instead of meeting the emergency situation squarely, sought relief by tinkering with the banking system and loaning credit of the Government to the railroads, bank and insurance companies. He defended the $375,000,000 bill for Federal aid to the States, towns and localities, of which he was coauthor and which the Senate rejected.

Senator La Follette opened a campaign for Progressive delegates to the Republican national convention at Mayville this afternoon.

Still Raided; Man Arrested.

Joseph Spriggs, of Marshall Corner, Md., was arrested by Federal agents who yesterday raided a 500-gallon still near his home. He was held in bond of $1,000 on charges of manufacture, possession, and possession of articles for the manufacture of liquor. In addition to the still, the agents reported they found 9,000 gallons of mash and 25 gallons of alleged whisky.

2 OFFICERS STONED BY RIOTING MINERS

Hocking Valley Strike May Spread, Union Leaders Tell Gov. White.

Athens, Ohio, March 21 (A.P.).—A strict watch was maintained tonight by State and local authorities in the Hocking Valley coal mine field, where approximately 7,000 miners are on strike, after two National Guard captains were stoned during the day.

Adjt. Gen. Frank D. Henderson headed a party of 19 guard officers sent into the region as observers by Gov. George White late today. They were stationed at various points in the district, including the town of Millfield, where about 1,500 miners, many armed with shotguns and rifles, congregated early in the day.

The stoned captains were en route to the Sunday Creek Coal Co.'s No. 6 mine at Millfield when a crowd of men began throwing at them. The officers were unharmed, but their car was damaged and they were forced to withdraw. The crowd then disbanded and the situation was quiet tonight, but observers feared the strikers might collect again.

Gov. White, who yesterday announced he would send the National Guard into the area if necessary to maintain order, said officials of the United Mine workers of Ohio promised their active support in maintaining order after a conference at the governor's office in Columbus today.

The union leaders told him, the governor said, that the strike soon would spread to the Cambridge field.

No effort was made during the day to operate the Millfield mine, where a railroad trestle was bombed early Sunday and other minor disorders occurred.

The strike was inaugurated February 1 when coal companies posted a new wage scale. The new pay was $3 for day labor and 38 cents on tonnage. The miners claimed this cut was entirely too heavy. The operators later offered to meet with the men to discuss pay, but said they would have no dealings whatever with the United Mine Workers. This was unsatisfactory to the men, who demanded union recognition.

Sirovich Copyright Plan Indorsed by 2 Authors

(Associated Press.)

Representative Sirovich may be at odds with dramatic critics, but two representatives of the Authors League of America yesterday indorsed his new copyright bill.

They were Will Irwin, magazine writer, and Mrs. M. M. Farnum—among a number of witnesses who appeared before the House copyrights committee. Irwin held that under the Sirovich proposal, authors would be able to benefit from the sale of their writings for moving pictures.

Coast Guard Sees Ship's S O S Ruse

Distress Signal Is Believed Sent to Clear Way for Smugglers.

(Associated Press.)

A mysterious S O S call that sent Coast Guard vessels scurrying to a mythical ship said to be in trouble in heavy seas off the North Carolina coast is being investigated without much success by Coast Guard officials.

On March 18 an amateur radio operator reported to the Coast Guard at Philadelphia he had picked up an S O S saying the Sun Oil Co. ship "Suray" was in distress seventeen miles southeast of Frying Pan Shoals. Philadelphia relayed the call to New York, who sent it to Norfolk, where all available boats were rushed to the scene.

Search of records fail to disclose there was such a vessel. Coast Guard officials are investigating it to ascertain whether it was legitimate and garbled or whether it was a ruse employed by smugglers to clear the way to permit them to land contraband.

Bridge Fund Solicitor Is Placed on Probation

The man who sought funds to help the Government complete work on Arlington Memorial Bridge, yesterday was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year when he was brought before Judge Isaac R. Hitt on a larceny charge.

Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keogh said that the man, Ernest Nelson Judd, 32 years old, had collected money from persons who were told that the Government had been unable to finish the construction of the bridge and that private help was necessary. Judd entered a plea of guilty and the recommendation for a probationary period was made by Mr. Keogh.

House Doubles Amount To Ban Alien Smuggling

(Associated Press.)

Legislation doubling the fund at the disposal of the Secretary of Labor for combatting alien smuggling was passed yesterday by the House and sent to the Senate.

The bill, by Representative Johnson (Republican), of Washington, would make available $200,000 for this purpose. The present limit is $100,000.

Inquiry Ordered In Mortgage Case

Borah Heads Investigation of Prosecution in Cleveland Failure.

(Associated Press.)

A Senate judiciary subcommittee, headed by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, was named yesterday to investigate the Justice Department's conduct of a case against the Union Mortgage Co., of Cleveland, for alleged use of the mails to defraud.

Besides Senator Borah, who will be chairman, the subcommittee comprises Senators Robinson (Republican), Indiana, and Walsh (Democrat), Montana. The group was appointed by Chairman Norris, of the judiciary committee.

The investigation is pursuant to a resolution sponsored by Senator Bulkley (Democrat), Ohio, calling for an investigation of the "action or inaction" of the department with particular reference to dismissal of charges against S. Chester Crobaugh, an officer of the defunct company.

Blue Fleet Victory On Coast Indicated

Report From Admiral Schofield Says Foothold Assured in Game.

(Associated Press.)

A victory for the "blue" attacking fleet in its mission to seize a foothold on the Pacific Coast in the Navy's war games was indicated yesterday by Admiral F. H. Schofield, commander in chief of the United States Fleet, in a report to the Navy Department.

Schofield, who served as chief umpire of the war maneuvers, reported that at the close of March 18, the attacking fleet under command of Admiral Richard H Leigh, was steaming toward Magdalena Bay. The "black" defending fleet, under command of Vice Admiral A. L. Willard, was guarding the approaches to San Francisco, and there was no possibility of the black force intercepting the blue force before the latter gained its foothold.

All ships engaged in the problem were scheduled to arrive yesterday in the San Pedro-San Diego area. Admiral Schofield reported the maneuvers had required "lengthy cruizing under war conditions" and had been invaluable to participating personnel.

POWER NOMINATION IN SUPREME COURT

Davis Begins Argument for Senate in Dispute Over George Otis Smith.

(Associated Press.)

The fight between the President and the Senate over the nomination of George Otis Smith as a member of the Federal Power Commission was brought up yesterday with the Supreme Court sitting as umpire.

Out of this dispute between the administrative and legislative branches of the Government will come a ruling which will decide whether the Senate can reconsider confirmation of a nomination after communicating such action to the President.

Davis Describes Issue.

The case was reached for oral argument a few minutes before adjournment. The Senate was represented by private counsel, John W. Davis, and Chairman Smith was represented by former Senator George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania. Attorney General Mitchell is expected to be recognized by the court to defend the position of President Hoover, who is not named as a party to the case.

There was only time yesterday for Mr. Davis to give a brief statement of the facts leading up to the dispute. He told the court Chairman Smith's nomination was sent to the Senate on December 3, 1930, favorably reported out from the interstate commerce committee on December 15, and called up for action on December 20, the day Congress adjourned for the holiday recess. The nomination was confirmed by a vote of 38 to 22, the presiding officer announcing the Senate had consented to the nomination and the President would be notified.

Nomination Recall Refused.

There was no objection to the suggestion, Mr. Davis continued, and on the theory that unanimous consent had been given, the President was officially notified of the confirmation. Smith took the oath of office and became chairman of the commission.

As soon as the Senate reconvened after the Christmas holiday it adopted a motion recalling the nomination, but the President declined to comply.

When the court adjourned Davis was explaining the rules of the Senate under which that body claims the right to recall a nomination at any time before the expiration of two consecutive sessions following confirmation.

Oklahoma's Ice Regulating Laws Set Aside in Ruling

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court yesterday set aside Oklahoma's laws regulating the manufacture and sale of ice despite an emphatic warning from Justice Brandeis against staying "experimentation within the law in things social and economic."

Justice Stone alone agreed with one of the most vigorous of Justice Brandeis' dissents. The gist of the comparatively short opinion by Justice Sutherland was that the manufacture of ice in Oklahoma was a private business and was not subject to supervision as a public utility.

That being the case, he concluded, the State had no power to force Ernest A. Liebmann to get a permit from the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma before he went into the ice business in Oklahma City.

Held Oklahoma's Business.

It was Oklahoma's business, Justice Brandeis told his colleagues, accompanying his ringing words by vigorous gestures, to say whether the making and the sale of ice was enough of a public utility to be subject to regulation.

"The people of the United States," he said, "are now confronted with an emergency more serious than war. • • • Some people believe that the existing conditions threaten even the stability of the capitalistic system. • • • Business men are seeking possible remedies. Most of them realize that failure to distribute widely the profits of industry has been a prime cause of our present plight. But rightly or wrongly, many persons think that one of the major contributing causes has been unbridled competition."

He added that whether their views were sound was not known, but reminded that "economic and social science are largely uncharted seas."

Denial of the right to experimentation, he said, might have the gravest consequences.

States May Try Experiments.

"It is one of the happy incidents of the Federal system that a single courageous State may, if its citizens choose," he said, "serve as a laboratory and try novel social and economic experiments without risk to the rest of the country."

He added that the court had the right to stay such experimentation, but "We should ever be on our guard, lest we erect our prejudices into legal principles."

"It is not necessary," Justice Sutherland said, "to challenge the authority of the States to indulge in experimental legislation, but it would be strange and unwarranted doctrine to transcend the limitations imposed upon them by the Federal Constitution."

1931 Cotton Output Near High Record

Census Bureau Announces Total of 17,060,772 Bales Produced.

(Associated Press.)

For the second time in history American cotton production passed the 17,000,000-bale mark last year.

The Census Bureau yesterday reported the cotton ginning of the 1930 harvest had reached 17,060,772 bales. In 1926 the Southern States produced their largest crop—17,977,000 bales.

In its final report last fall the Agriculture Department estimated the 1931 crop at 16,918,000 bales, the climax of a summer of mounting estimates and falling prices.

The apparent supply of American cotton remaining in the United States on February 1 was about 15,700,000, compared with 11,700,000 on that date a year ago, and 12,200,000 on February 1, 1927. Some encouragement, however, was noted in January when the disappearance—exports plus consumption—was about 400,000 bales larger than the same months of the previous year. Exports alone increased 386,000, or 72 per cent over January, 1930, and were the largest for that month since 1927.

Monroe Letter, Challenging Hamilton to Duel, Is Bared

Remarkable Document, Entrusted to Aaron Burr for Delivery Seven Years Before Latter Killed Patriot, Is Found in Philadelphia.

Richmond, Va., March 21 (A.P.).—The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce disclosed today that a remarkable letter, said to have been written by James Monroe, challenging Alexander Hamilton to a duel seven years before Aaron Burr killed Hamilton on the "field of honor," has just come to light in the collection of the Rosenbach Co. in Philadelphia.

It was also disclosed that a Virginian is now negotiating for the purchase of this historic document.

Whether the duel was ever fought is a mystery. As far as can be learned there is no record of Hamilton ever answering the letter of Monroe.

In the letter, which is dated December 7, 1797, President Monroe is said to show the extreme bitterness existing between Hamilton and himself, growing out of the part taken by the latter in promoting an investigation of Hamilton's relations with Mrs. Reynold and in assailing his integrity as Secretary of the Treasury. He then challenged Hamilton to fight the duel.

Challenge as Alternative.

"I requested Col. Burr to inform you," Monroe's letter was quoted as saying, "immediately after the receipt of yours of August 9, that I was not satisfied with the explanation given by it of your preceding one of the fourth. In my judgment you ought either to have been satisfied with the explanations which I gave you upon the subject to which those letters referred or to have invited me to the field.

"There seemed to be no intermediate ground for a man of honor to take; yet you found one. The explanations I gave you on that subject were liberal. Still it is not my intention to invite or even provoke a personal interview, because I had no motive for so doing, and many, especially at the time, for avoiding it. The idea was suggested by certain passages in yours having that tendency, to which I replied if you invited, I sho'd accept it. But by this I did not mean to become an aggressor, nor was it justly inferrable. It was, however, not my intention to decline that issue if sought by you in any mode.

Authorized Friend to Act.

"I have, therefore, requested ——— to communicate with you further on the subject of the letter and empowered him in case you meant it as such, to give you my answer to it and otherwise manage the affair for the interview thus invited on your part."

It is a coincidence that the bearer of this challenge was Aaron Burr, who killed Hamilton on the field of honor in that famous duel which took place seven years later.

Hamilton, in 1797, issued a book which he termed "Hamilton's Observations," in which he states that he fully refutes charges of speculations made against him. A copy of this book has recently come into the hands of a Richmond collector.

Monroe's dueling pistols already are in Virginia and are on exhibit at his home, Ashlawn, near Charlottesville.

EXEMPTIONS FAIL TO HALT BATTLE IN HOUSE OVER TAX

He estimated that an increase of 1 cent in first-class postage rates would yield $135,000,000; 1 cent a gallon tax on gasoline would yield $165,000,000; a 2-cent tax on bank checks would yield $97,000,000, and taxes on cosmetics would yield from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, while the taxes on automobiles would yield $100,000,000.

When it was suggested that his statement might be construed as a mere promise to stick with those who had fought with him, even though he had achieved his object, he declared that he intended to put into the fight all the effort and ability at his command.

Apparently nettled at the suggestion, he declared that not only was the fight to be continued, but it would be won by the opponents.

Says Section Will Come Out.

"The entire section will be stricken out in the House," Mr. LaGuardia said. "We have the votes, and once it is stricken out in the House it will never get back in again in the Senate. The inspiration and encouragement and help I received from the other side of the Capitol in this fight couldn't be sufficiently acknowledged."

Pressed for a more definite statement on the strength of the opponents, the fiery New Yorker said noses had been counted and the opponents knew they had sufficient strength to wipe out the section.

"Have you more than 210 votes?" he was asked.

"We have," he replied, but would not say how many more he had.

Reminder of Bitter Pill.

Upsetting of the program of leaders of both parties to incorporate the sales tax in the new revenue bill, Mr. LaGuardia said it was "the first expression of the representatives of the people of the Nation we have had without throttling by oppresive rules which had no place in representative government." It was a reminder of a pill which must have been bitter medicine to Democratic leaders since the tax battle began. Under the old gag rules of the House, maintained throughout the Republican regime, it would have been possible for the leaders to have whipped their measure through the House.

Republican leaders like Representative Bertrand H. Snell, of New York, minority leader, who was one of the Longworth triumvirate, have openly criticized Democratic leaders for throwing the tax bill on the floor to be attacked by each individual member.

Despite their expressions of confidence that the amended sales tax provision would be accepted by the House, Democratic floor leaders were none too confident as was revealed by disclosure of the fact that they have appealed to Speaker John N. Garner, of Texas, who is undergoing a boom for the Democratic presidential nomination, to take the floor and openly support the bill.

Has Refused to Accede.

So far Speaker Garner has refused to do so, although he has been criticized in some quarters for a statement he made public last Friday which was interpreted as intended to inform the rebellious House that so far as he was concerned it could strike out the sales tax. A supplemental statement the Speaker issued Saturday was not thought by his floor leaders to be strong enough to overcome the impression created by his first statement, which came as a surprise inasmuch as he was publicly on record as accepting the sales tax.

Favor of LaGuardia.

Announcement of the committee's decision was followed by a statement by Representative LaGuardia that the additional exemptions met the fundamental reasons for his opposition to the sales tax provision, and it seemed for a while that the leaders had broken the opposition.

But it was after a meeting between LaGuardia, Doughton and Rankin in Mr. Doughton's office that the announcements were made that there should be no compromise and the fight should go on.

"The ways and means committee," Mr. Dougton said, "have agreed to eliminate or remove from the sales tax provisions of the pending revenue bill some of its very objectionable features. However, others remain which are to many of those opposed to the sales tax just as objectionable.

Wrong in Principle.

"My chief reason for opposing the sales tax is because I believe it is wrong in principle and is an unsound policy of taxation. While the fight made by those of us who opposed the sales tax has resulted in great victory so far in that we have forced many important exemptions since the bill was reported, there yet remains the vicious principle of the sales tax.

"Therefore, there is no reason why the fight should not be continued and see whether the sales tax shall be adopted as a part of the taxing system of our Government. All of the opponents of the sales tax with whom I have conferred are of the same opinion as myself."

Representative Rankin said he was opposed to the sales tax in principle and would not give up the fight to have it eliminated entirely.

Strengthens His Opposition.

Representative LaGuardia strengthened his expressions of opposition as the afternoon wore on. Opponents of the sales tax, he said, "are naturally gratified with their victories to date," but added that "many members feel that, because they are opposed to the sales tax in principle, they must continue their opposition and we shall continue our efforts to eliminate the entire section. Many members have put themselves on record against the sales tax in their platforms and in public statements. The exemptions which have been agreed to by the committee meet my fundamental opposition, but I shall continue to follow Representative Doughton, of North Carolina, the leader of the sales tax opponents."

Long Renews Demand.

On the other side of the Capitol, Senator Huey Long (Democrat), of Louisiana, renewing his demand for a redistribution of the wealth of the country, denounced the sales tax as an attempt on the part of the wealthy to escape their proper burden of the cost of government and to shift it to the less fortunate.

He began his speech before the House leaders had agreed to the additional exemptions from the sales tax, but when he was informed later of their decision he brushed it aside with the declaration that the tax was "rotten all through" and the principle of it "was rotten all through."

"They are trying," he said, "by their concession to swap enough of us to get by with this debauchery."

Helps Oil Opponents.

The battle against the sales tax, incidentally, has materially helped the Eastern opponents of the proposed tax on oil imports. This tariff, it has been said, was put into the tax bill by proponents of the sales tax to persuade votes to their banner from the delegations of the oil-producing States. It has been especially successful in doing that, and Eastern opponents took new confidence yesterday in their fight.

Representative John W. McCormack (Democrat), of Massachusetts, member of the ways and means committee, was named yesterday as the leader of the Easterners in their fight against the oil tariff, and it is over that provision that the next big fight is expected, and it would not be surprising if the committee were not upset once more.

Catholics Join Battle.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference yesterday joined the battle against the sales tax. A statement made public by the conference pointed out that the "Bishops' Program of Social Reconstruction," issued immediately after the war, and the encyclical issued by Pope Pius XI advocated "a far better distribution of income and wealth than now exists."

"The sales tax or manufacturers' tax," the conference statement said, "is a tax on the consumers. Under the sales tax those who have to spend most of their income to live pay out a larger part of their salary and wages in taxes than the rich who spend month by month a smaller part of their income."

The conference statement pointed out that the Swing amendment does not by any means impose on the wealthy the war-time income surtaxes.

Paris Theaters to Protest Tax.

Paris, March 21 (A.P.).—Directors of all legitimate theaters in Paris decided today to close their playhouses on March 29 in protest against what they called excessive taxation. More than 40 theaters are affected by the decision. The length of time they will be closed was not announced.

GIFT TAX ACT HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Brandeis and Stone Dissent From Decision on Effort to Prevent Evasion.

(Associated Press.)

A congressional effort to tighten the estate tax law by the levy upon gifts made within two years of death was declared unconstitutional yesterday by the Supreme Court.

The decision, from which Justices Brandeis and Stone dissented, came while the House was wrestling with a new tax bill designed to raise more than a billion dollars to balance a budget top heavy from a huge deficit. Justice Cardozo, the newest member of the court, did not participate in the decision.

Two cases were involved. John H. Donnan, of Pittsburgh, gave his family $1,700,000 about a year before his death in 1928, and William du Pont, of Delaware, gave his children $6,300,000 less than two years before his death the same year.

Congress repealed the old gift tax in 1926, largely because of inability to prove that transfers were made in contemplation of death and substituted the law discarded yesterday.

Justice Sutherland's Opinion.

It taxed all gifts valued at more than $5,000 if they were made within two years of the death of the donor. The purpose of the law was to prevent evasions of the inheritance tax.

Justice Sutherland said in the majority opinion:

"The presumption here excludes consideration of every fact and circumstance tending to show the real motive of the donor. The young man in abounding health, bereft of life by a stroke of lightening within two years after making a gift is conclusively presumed to have acted under the inducement of the thought of death, equally with the old and ailing who already stands in the shadow of the inevitable end.

"Such a statute is more arbitrary and less defensible against attack than one imposing arbitrarily retroactive taxes, which this court has decided to do in clear violation of the fifth amendment."

Justice Stone's Dissent.

The majority opinion was lengthy and one equally long was delivered by Justice Stone. He said:

"The question reduced to its simplest terms, is whether Congress possesses the power to supplement an estate tax, and protect the revenue derived from it, as was its declared purpose, that a tax on all gifts inter vivos (from the living to the living) made within two years of the death of the donor at the same rate and in the same manner as though the gift was made at death. I think it has."

He said the court decided that gifts inter vivos were not unconstitutional and to him it was plain "that this tax can not rightly be held unconstitutional on its face."

To show the ineffectiveness of the old gift tax, he said that out of 102 cases under it, the Government won in only about 23 cases involving about $4,500,000 and lost in 78 involving transfer of more than $120,000,000.

Union Bakers Offer Services for Needy

Would Make Bread From Wheat Provided by Government.

(Associated Press.)

Organized bakers of the country yesterday offered to donate their services in making bread from Farm Board wheat to be given to the Nation's needy.

In a communication to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, officers of the Bakery and Confectinery Workers' International Union of America offered the services of their membership in "effectively and practically carrying out free of cost" the legislation of Congress which provides that the 40,000,000 bushels of wheat appropriated be distributed after being baked.

Green said this offer was transmitted to the Farm Board and the Red Cross, which is handling the distribution.

SALES TAX IS HELD MENACE TO PRESTIGE OF SPEAKER

It was not the revolt of 100 or more Democrats against the sales tax that damaged Garner's prestige. Such a revolt, it is agreed, was inevitable. What hurt Garner in the eyes of many was his handling of that rebellion.

On Friday, when the drift away from the sales tax developed into a stampede, Garner was expected to make a statement that would head off the runaways. Instead he issued one that was interpreted by many to mean that he himself was not altogether in favor of the sales tax. This interpretation, an erroneous one, was based on the fact that Garner did not mention the sales tax.

"The question of preference as to methods of raising necessary revenue," he said, "becomes inconsequential and insignificant in the face of the need of actually and quickly providing the means of maintaining the Government's financial integrity."

Many of the Democrats who had committed themselves to the sales tax were sorely disappointed at Garner's failure to specifically indorse that plan. Some of them had espoused it only because he himself had come out for it two weeks before.

On Saturday, while the Capital was buzzing with talk over Garner's statement of the day before, the Speaker issued another statement.

In this he did mention the sales tax. He said it was the "soundest and most effective" means of balancing the budget.

There were some members, however, who thought that even this statement was lacking in the vigor that might be expected from a fighter like Garner.

In some Republican circles at the Capitol the conduct of Garner has occasioned considerable levity.

"Well," a man was heard to say yesterday, "has Garner returned to the Democratic fold yet?"

Garner's close friends, and few Speakers have had as many, can put up a strong argument for his handling of the sales tax fight. They say that he sees farther than those who now criticize him; that he is looking ahead to the fight that is to be made on the bill in the Senate, and even beyond that. They say that he is too smart to try and crack the whip at this time and stir up animosity that might endanger his influence at a later time.

"Jack knows what he's doing," they say.

Just the same, they would like to see him leave the Speaker's dais, go down on the floor and deliver a speech that would make his colleague, Dick Kleberg, of Corpus Christi, let out one of those cowboy yells of his.

Strength of Opposition.

Supporters of the sales tax suggested that had the Speaker taken a positive stand in favor of the amended tax immediately the compromise exemptions of the ways and means committee had been announced, he would have been able to swing many votes on the Democratic side of the aisle. The fact that he did not was interpreted in some quarters as indicative of his estimation of the strength of the opposition.

On the other hand, it was pointed out, the Speaker of the House has usually refrained from taking the floor in legislative battles, although, unlike the Vice President in the Senate, he is privileged to do so and to vote on any question which may arise whenever he wishes. But it is not done and Speaker Garner is only following the time-honored precedent of the House, it was said.

Those who, at the end of the fast shifting day, counted the sales tax opponents as already victorious, however, did not constitute an army. That the sales tax is not ready to be buried was indicated by the result of a meeting of 22 of the 32 members of the Pennsylvania delegation on the subject last night. Representative Henry W. Temple (Republican), dean of the State delegation, announced that 19 had favored the manufacturers' sales tax and the other three had been noncommittal. The committee amendments, whether adequate to overcome opposition or not, undoubtedly took some of the [illegible] opposition.

Germans and Scholars To Honor Goethe Today

Weimar, Germany, March 21 (A.P.).—Germans and scholars the world over tonight turned their thoughts to this small provincial capital, where tomorrow homage will be paid to the genius of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, who died here 100 years ago tomorrow.

Prof. Julius Peterson, president of the society, will conduct the memorial services tomorrow, which will be followed by an evening performance of "Torquato Tasso."

IRISH HERE QUESTION STAND OF ENGLAND

Council Says if Britain Bars Electorate's Decision Freedom Is Void.

Dispatches reporting Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer in the British government, as saying in an address at Birmingham, England, that the British government viewed with greatest concern two points of the program of De Valera's administration in Ireland, and that to put into effect these points would renew the bitterness between England and Ireland, has elicited an explanatory statement from the committee of the Kevin Barry Council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic.

The statement in part reads: "The two points in the program of the new Irish administration to which it seems the British government is about to object to with violence are (1) to abolish the oath of allegiance to the King of England now exacted of Irish citizens performing any public service, and (2) to stop the annual tribute of $15,000,000 in land annuities now paid by Ireland to England.

"If the British government has any shadow of right to nullify with force a decision of the Irish electorate that it happens not to like, then clearly any pretense that the Irish people have any degree or kind of freedom is an impudent falsehood, the very name of the Irish Free State is a fraud and a sham, and the true purpose of England is disclosed to treat Ireland now as in all the centuries gone by, as a conquered vassal province.

"If, therefore, blood is to flow again in Ireland, it will be upon the head of the British government. If the Irish people in this conflict are wrong, then the whole theory of the American republic is wrong; the whole basis of democracy is wrong; the whole fabric of American faith is wrong."

The signatures affixed to the statement were those of John F. Finnerty, Andrew I. Hickey, Thomas W. Lyons and Charles Edward Russell. The statement was issued from the council's office in the Insurance Building.

Lespedeza Growers Told To Survey Cold Damage

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Agriculture has warned lespedeza growers to examine fields for damage resulting from the recent belated low temperatures.

Reports received by the department indicated that seedings in some sections were seriously damaged by the low temperatures. Reports from the North Carolina and Tennessee area said that Korean lespedeza suffered most, and the common and Tennessee 76 suffered least.

$300,000 Loan Sought By Tennessee Central

(Associated Press.)

The Tennessee Central Railroad yesterday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan of $300,000 for three years.

The money would be used to pay $102,300 of interest on the bonds due April 1; to pay a $100,000 bank loan; $42,717 of taxes and $60,000 of other bills. The security would be $400,000 of first mortgage bonds.

ULSTER TAKES STEP TO AVERT OUTBREAK

Trouble Feared Sunday on Anniversary of Easter Rebellion.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, March 21 (U.P.).—The Ulster authorities tonight ordered extensive police precautions against the danger of an outbreak of violence between Free State and North Ireland extremists on the anniversary next Sunday of the Republican Easter rebellion.

Officials indicated that they were completely confident of the ability of police to maintain order, but it was obvious that there was considerable apprehension in connection with the plans of the Free State Irish Republican army, which was outlawed under the William T. Cosgrave regime, to celebrate the anniversary.

It was feared that as a result of President de Valera's action in suspending the public safety act in the Free State, there might be riotous demonstrators who would overstep the boundary and clash with their political foes in Ulster, as in 1921 and 1922.

Border Population Restless.

It was pointed out that many of the Republican army groups in Northern Ireland have evaded the watch of authorities and secured arms. The border population is restless and tense, and authorities said that a raid on a house at Glengoormley last week was due to the Republican army efforts to obtain rifles.

The Republican Nationalist elements in Ulster, where they are in the minority, hailed De Valera's St. Patrick Day pronouncement as an intention to unify all of Ireland under a Republican government, but the press has generally emphasized a desire for peaceful relations between Ulster and the Free State.

Neutral observers expressed the belief that eventual union is possible, but none was able to foresee such circumstances in the near future.

Anglo-Irish Parley Expected.

The general belief is that De Valera's control of the Republican army elements, which formed a powerful outlaw military organization under the Cosgrave regime, will be thoroughly tested within the next few weeks and that the outcome of his rule will rest on his ability to subdue the extremists.

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 21 (A.P.).—An Anglo-Irish conference is expected to arise from the present situation as regards President de Valera's announced intention of abolishing the oath to the British crown and retaining the land annuities in Ireland.

The president had nothing to say about these issues today and it was expected that he would await the initiative of the British government. Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, warned last week that the changes Mr. de Valera proposes would be regarded by Great Britain with gravest concern.

Cane Sugar Heads See Peril in Tariff

Assert Refineries Are Not Given Adequate Protection.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—A plea for a tariff to save the cane-sugar refining industry in the United States from "disaster" was made today by three heads of the country's leading refineries.

A joint letter asking help to obviate the present crisis was sent to the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants Association of New York, and the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York. The letter was signed by Earl D. Babst, chairman of the American Sugar Refining Co.; James H. Post, president of the National Sugar Refininig Co., and C. King Woodbridge, of Arbuckle Bros.

In addition to the letter, a separate statement was issued by Mr. Post, setting forth the situation which is presently confronting the industry and which has caused two of the six local refineries to shut down completely. The huge increase in imports of refined sugar from Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands was said to be chiefly due to "the failure of Congress, in adopting the Hawley-Smoot tariff, to provide adequate protection" for the refined commodity.

Reapportionment In Supreme Court

Missouri Asks New York Question Be Aired at Same Time.

(Associated Press.)

Missouri's reapportionment controversy was presented to the Supreme Court yesterday with a request that it be heard with the New York case growing out of a similar question. The New York case will be argued Thursday, but the court took no action on the request that Missouri's suit be heard at the same time.

Both involve the right of the State Legislature to redistrict the State without the approval of the governor. In both cases the highest State courts have held that the chief executive's approval was necessary to the reapportionment resolution.

John J. Carroll, of St. Louis, brought the Missouri suit after he was denied permission to file as a candidate for the House under the redistricting statute vetoed by Gov. Caulfield, Republican.

ATLANTIC SEABOARD IN PATH OF STORMS

Blizzard Hits Rockies, While Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio Have Fall.

The hounds of spring will continue to caavort today, bringing stormy weather along the Atlantic seaboard and rain to Washington.

By tomorrow the rain is expected to disappear and fair and colder weather will take its place. The cherry blossoms will be delayed at least another three weeks, it was said yesterday by Frank T. Gartside, chief horticulturist of the department of public buildings and grounds.

Storm warnings were displayed last night from Jacksonville, Fla. to the Virginia Capes and from north of the Virginia Capes to Boston. A disturbance of marked intensty was reported to be moving rapidly northeastward, centering over the lower Ohio valley.

Kansas City, March 21 (A.P.).—A snow blanket swathed the infant spring tonight. The white mantle was spread from the Rockies to the Northern Atlantic States. Temperatures, however, were not severe.

In parts of the Oklahoma Panhandle, Colorado, Kansas and Iowa the severest snowstorms of the year came out of season. High winds whipped up drifts that blocked highways.

Transcontinental air mail and passenger service was virtually at a standstill as the result of low visibility.

Chicago had 6 inches of snow with more expected tonight and tomorrow. Two deaths there were indirectly attributed to the storm.

Blizzard Prevails.

Four inches fell at Cleveland, but melted rapidly, and Toledo reported a 3-inch covering.

Philadelphia and western New York State experienced heavy snow. There was a light fall in New York City, which soon disappeared.

The snow ceased in the Rocky Mountain region, with colder weather predicted for tonight. A blizzard had prevailed in the Colorado Springs area.

Gales up to 50 miles an hour created blizzard-like conditions in sections of the plains country, except that the mercury did not reach true blizzard depths.

In southern Minnesota the snow ranged up to 10 inches. There was light snow in North Dakota and at Mitchell, S. Dak., 14 inches were deposited.

Wheat Fields Protected.

The storm brought new suffering to the drought region of northeastern Nebraska. Two to ten inches of snow covered the western part of that State.

Wheat fields of western Kansas which had been damaged by wind blowing away top soil were given a protective coating of white. Several inches of hail and sleet fell in Kansas City. Lightning started three small fires.

High winds which buffeted the Southern California Coast yesterday died out and the entire Pacific slope was enjoying normal weather.

Widow Loses Case In Husband's Death

Commissioner's Ruling Upheld in Appeal of Powell Compensation Claim.

The findings of Robert J. Hoage, deputy commissioner of the Employes Compensation Commission, must be accepted by the courts as conclusive evidence unless there was some irregularity in the proceedings, the District Court of Appeals said yesterday in affirming a delision of the District Supreme Court which had sustained a decision made by the commissioner.

The case was one in which an interior decorator, Angus A. Powell, had been hurt by a falling scaffold, and after recovering in the hospital, had contracted tuberculosis, from which he died. The Compensation Commission was requested by the widow, Mrs. Susan N. Powell, to hold that the tuberculosis was an outgrowth of the accident, but medical testimony refuted this, and no award was made.

The District Supreme Court sustained the commission, and the case went to appeal. The Appellate Court said that it could find no error in law, nor could the court find that the case had been incorrectly decided on its merits.

2 Western Governors Will Fly to Richmond

Richmond, Va., March 21 (A.P.).—Gov. James Rolph, jr., of California, and Frederick B. Balsar, of Nevada, will fly to the Governor's conference in Richmond next month in a plane piloted by Roscoe Turner, former Richmond aviator.

Mr. Turner is a colonel on the staffs of both governors. His plane will leave San Francisco on April 22, and arrive here April 23, Gov. Pollard was informed today. The Virginia executive was also advised that Gov. Dan W. Turner, of Iowa, has accepted the invitation to speak on "Taxation in the Farm States," during the conference.

Jury Absolves Air Line In Crash That Killed 7

Redlands, Calif., March 21 (A.P.).—An open verdict fixing no responsibility for a passenger plane crash in which seven persons were killed at Calimesa, near here, Saturday night, was returned late today by coroner's jury.

Testimony of officials of the American Airways line indicated that good flying conditions had existed along the route from Phoenix, Ariz., to Burbank, Calif. They attributed the accident to a localized fog, a freakish and treacherous condition, the seriousness of which could not have been foreseen.

Frozen Gear Forces Longfellow to Land

Wilmington, Del., March 21 (A.P.). Capt. Newton Longfellow, connected with the office of the chief of the Air Corps at Washington, landed his plane at the Bellanca Field at New Castle today on a flight from New York to the Capital when its retractable landing gear became frozen. He finished the journey by train.

Capt. Longfellow flew over the field eight times before he succeeded in adjusting the gear so he could land.

WOMAN AND FOUR MEN KILLED IN FOUR PLANE CRASHES IN U. S.

the huge new Army training center and burst into flames as it struck the ground.

Lieut. Parham attended Georgia Agricultural College and was graduated from West Point last June. He was a student officer attached at the field for flight training.

Lieut. O'Keefe is survived by his widow, who is a daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. C. Ormstead, of Fort Monroe, Va. The couple lived at Langley Field.

New Slotted Wings.

Two Canadian fliers, testing the new slotted wings of a moth plane, crashed at Rockliffe airdrome, near Ottawa, according to the Associated Press. One was reported dead and the other dangerously hurt.

The plane crashed when the wings buckled back against the fuselage at a height of 2,000 feet. It spun downward, while the pilot, Flying Officer A. L. James, fought for control.

At 1,000 feet it leveled off for a moment, but went into another spin. Flight Sergt. A. Anderson, who was with Officer James, jumped or was thrown from the ship just before it reached the earth. He was dead when attendants reached him.

Officer James stayed with the plane. He was rushed to a hospital, suffering severe head and chest injuries. It was said that he would not live through the night. He had been attached to the Rockliffe Airdrome a short time, having previously served on the Ottawa headquarters staff.

River in Flood Stage.

Searchers last night had not located the body of Dr. Carol S. Cole, although they found the pilot's body and the plane which was wrecked early yesterday morning in the Ohio River near Steubenville, Ohio.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Steubenville the body of the pilot, Hal George, of Columbus, was recovered when the plane was dragged from the river, swollen with flood water.

No trace has yet been found of Mrs. Cole, who ventured on a stormy midnight flight to the bedside of her daughter.

Heavy Fog Settles.

Searchers thought that Mrs. Cole leaped from the plane to her death as it plunged into the river. Pilots who conducted an aerial search said that the wreckage showed evidence that the plane crashed at a speed of 120 miles an hour.

As a heavy fog settled over the river valley, searchers were forced to abandon their quest until today.

The body of the pilot, his parachute wrapped about him, was found in the plane, submerged in about 20 feet of water. Tugboats towed the plane ashore. The body was taken to Wierton, W. Va.

The only evidence of the passenger was a woman's hat found in the plane. Mail sacks and parts of a pilot's uniform were found with the wreckage.

Battles Sleet Storm.

Workmen at Wierton told investigators of seeing a plane among the smokestacks of the Wierton Steel Co. Others told of seeing it nearly strike a high bridge as it battled with the sleet storm.

It is thought that the high water swept Mrs. Cole's body downstream, as many sections of the plane had been washed away.

Mrs. Cole had taken the night air mail plane of the Transcontinental Western Airways at Columbus. She was rushing to the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. William T. Bingham, at Newark, N. J. She left St. Louis Sunday.

At 2:37 o'clock yesterday morning Pilot George radioed his station at Columbus asking about weather conditions near Pittsburgh. The search was begun soon after daybreak by planes and boats, as the ship was hours overdue at Newark.

George was a veteran aviator. He served in the Army Air Corps in 1917 when only 16 years old. He later entered the University of Kansas, but left to become a barnstorming pilot and instructor.

The Eastern division manager of Transcontinental Western Airways, John A. Collings, came to Steubenville to direct the investigation of the crash and the search for Mrs. Cole's body today.

AT LEAST 96 PERSONS KILLED AS TORNADOES HIT ALABAMA

reach plantation cabins leveled by the two tornadoes that struck Marion.

A relief party following the second tornado early tonight found the highway to Scott's Station blocked, and was forced to return to Marion for saws and axes to cut a path to the stricken village. Judson College at Marion was unscathed.

Dead Tabulated by Towns.

Lomax, a village of 100 population, was destroyed. A truck driver reaching Calera, Ala., told of debris littering the road and bodies of dead and injured lying beside the highway.

From towns and cities that were not stricken, ambulances, nurses and physicians were sent into the stricken areas and volunteers formed relief parties.

The known dead were tabulated as follows:

Alabama—Northport, 19; Columbina, 12; Cullman, 10; Talladega, 7; Marion, 5; Sylacauga, 3; Lomax, 3; Demopolis, 2; Faunsdale, 1; Linden, 1; Fairview, 1.

Tennessee—Pulaski, 4; Lewisburg, 1; Franklin, 1.

Kentucky—Uniontown, 2.

Wrecked Buildings Burn.

Some idea of the desolation wrought at Northport was given by Herbert L. Kindred, American Airways pilot, whose plane passed over the town a short time after it was laid in ruins. Kindred said he saw what appeared to be between 200 and 300 buildings wrecked and that some were burning.

Darkness came to add to the troubles of the relief workers. In most localities they worked by dim oil lamps as torrential rains, which followed the tornadoes, beat down on them and persons who waited news of their relatives and friends.

Whole Village Suffers.

Lomax presented a sad picture. Scarcely a house in the village escaped the winds. The hospital there had been closed last week, but volunteers opened it and several nurses who had been in training joined surgeons in directing the work of the volunteers.

Compiling of the list of dead was difficult because of the lack of communication facilities. Press wires brought a mounting toll as the hours wore on, but no definite forecast could be made of the possible complete list of dead, principally because of the widely scattered locations of the stricken communities.

Red Cross officials said they feared the list of dead would grow when the ruins were searched. Tents, cots and blankets were being rushed around the tornado zone in trucks.

Country Club Leveled.

The Tuscaloosa Country Club was leveled. More than 100 trees on the golf course were blown down. Frank Culley, club secretary, was injured slightly, and Henry Smith, caddy master, was hurt critically.

A partial list of the identified dead follows:

Alabama.

Northport—Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Shirley, R. B. Ray, Ormond Barnett, M. I. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Parley, K. L. Daniels.

Lomax—Cecil Williams, "Aunt Sis" Headley.

Fairview: Miss Tessie Parker, school teacher.

Cullman—Mrs. W. A. Ayres, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Ayres, and the latter's 4-month-old baby; G. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wray, their son and grandson, and the infant of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bates.

Paint Rock—R. M. Erwin, J. J. Smith and Fred Russell Jones.

Columbiana—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Howell and their 8-year-old son and 10-year-old daughter.

Linden—Child of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dixon.

Faunsdale—Floyd Collins, storekeeper.

Tennessee.

Pulaski—Mrs. Witt Puryear and her three children, Billy, 16; Cynthia, 10, and J. W. Puryear, 7.

Franklin—Russell Beasley, 15.

Lewisburg—John Pritchard.

Georgia.

Cassville—Gus Cannon, 45; Claude Carroll, and Noah Dober.

Kentucky.

Uniontown—A. H. Pillard, 80; John Shank, 60.

Storm Death Toll Six in Tennessee

Many Persons in Various Parts of State Are Reported Hurt.

Nashville, Tenn., March 21 (A.P.).—Six persons are known to have died in Tennessee storms late today.

A mother and three children were killed when their home was destroyed near Pulaski. The dead are Mrs. Witt Puryear, 50; Billy Puryear, 16; Cynthia Puryear, 10, and J. W. Puryear, 7. Four other children and the father were injured.

Russell Beasley, 15, was killed when a storm struck 12 miles from Franklin. His father, Barney Beasley, was seriously injured.

John Pritchard, a farmer of near Lewisburg, was killed when a tornado destroyed his home. His brother was injured. Many others were reported injured in various parts of the State.

Indiana Damage Heavy; Lightning Kills Farmer

Indianapolis, March 21 (A.P.).—Storms visited every section of Indiana today, taking one life and causing heavy property damage. Injuries to five persons were reported. Communication and traffic in the northern part of the State was crippled by severe sleet, snow and rain storms.

In the south, windstorms accompanied by torrential rains wrecked a number of homes and other buildings. At Evansville, damage to one manufacturing plant was estimated by the owners at $500,000. Near Jasonville, C. E. Ward, 60-year-old farmer, was killed instantly when struck by lightning.

Cyclonic Winds Damage Ohio City; Many Injured

Hamilton, Ohio, March 21 (A.P.).—Cyclonic winds ravaged the west end of Hamilton tonight. Several buildings were damaged beyond repair. Falling walls, debris from roofs and shattered homes and glass from broken windows caused injuries to many, though only five persons sought hospital treatment.

The known injured were John Callahan and his wife and their two children, caught as their home collapsed about them, and Clarence Wynn, 14, hurt similarly in the crash of his home.

Warehouse and Cotton Destroyed by Lightning

Jonesville, S. C., March 21 (U.P.). During a severe electrical storm here tonight, lightning struck a warehouse of the Jonesville oil mill, completely destroying the building and more than 300 bales of cotton.

CONTRIBUTOR BARES SMITH FUND STORY

Contractor Tells How He and Others Helped Conceal "Illegal" Gifts.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Repercussions of a political pow-wow in a New York millionaire's "Tiger room" during the 1928 presidential campaign, at which nine friends of Alfred E. Smith signed a blanket note for $225,000, will be heard in supreme court next month.

Two of the nine—Timothy J. Mara, sports promoter, and Patrick F. Kenny, Yonkers contractor—are involved in court actions growing out of the conference.

Both charge they signed the blanket note, and later individual ones, to cover up illegal contributions to Smith's campaign fund, on the promise they would never have to pay.

The case in which Mara is a defendant today was put on the reserve calendar for April 1, after a request had been made for a jury trial.

The County Trust Co., which advanced the money on the notes, is suing Kenny for $20,000 and Mara for $50,000, the amounts they signed for. Former Gov. Smith is now chairman of the bank's board and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is a director.

District Attorney's Position.

United States Attorney George Z. Medalie said he had informally considered the charge made by Kenny that the corrupt practices act had been violated by the bank, but had not decided whether to make a formal inquiry.

The Mara suit cropped up today when counsel for the bank made a motion to vacate a previous court order whereby the sports promoter was to be permitted to examine Orie R. Kelly, president of the County Trust Co. Decision was reserved.

The "tiger room" in which the pow-wow took place is a recreation room William F. Kenny, wealthy contractor and intimate friend of the 1928 standard bearer, has established in an office building he owns. It gets its name from the pictures of tigers on the walls.

Proposal Is Described.

In describing how he was called to the "tiger room," Patrick Kenny said:

"Eight or nine of us were played for suckers. We were sent for by James J. Riordan, then president of the bank, in October, just before the election.

"Mr. Riordan said to me: 'P. F., a few of us had a little meeting last night and decided we would have to get more money for the Smith campaign.'

"He said Mr. Raskob and William Kenny were among those present and that Kenny said:

"'Let's see whom we can put down in the tiger room.'"

In explaining his statement the blanket note was designed "so the money could be raised inconspicuously," Patrick Kenny said:

Called "Usual in Politics."

"That is usual in politics. Get some names on notes and get the money and pay the notes from money that comes in afterward. That's what I thought would be done in this case. If Smith had been elected, Raskob and Bill Kenny would have fought to see which one would pay these notes."

"Don't be a sap," Kenny quoted Riordan as telling him, when it was suggested he put down for $25,000. "This is the baloney. You never will have to pay."

Later, both defendants say, the $225,000 was split up, so that Mara signed an individual note for $50,000 and Kenny one for $25,000. After a few months, Kenny said, Riordan gave gave him $5,000 cash to reduce his note to $20,000.

Patrick Kenny emphasized that while the money was for the Smith campaign, the former New York governor knew nothing about the "tiger room" conference and subsequent financial maneuvers.

Residents Rap Widening of Wisconsin Avenue

9 group of residents of Wisconsin avenue between the District Line and Bradley Lane appeared to protest against the widening of Wisconsin avenue on the west side of the car tracks at a meeting of the Montgomery County Commissioners held last night at the Bethesda County Building. The group asked that the property on the east side be asked to contribute the necessary land for the improvement.

Most of the citizens who appeared, however, were in favor of taking land on the east side for the widening. The properties on the east side already have contributed 25 feet to widening the avenue. Commissioner Robert D. Hagner, in charge of the western suburban district, presided, with Commissioners Lacy Shaw, president of the board, John B. Diamond and W. Frank Ricketts present.

Flying Lumber Impales Victims in Northport

Northport, Ala., March 21 (U.P.).—The fury of the storm which hit Alabama today was best demonstrated by the manner it struck Northport. On entering the town it picked up a lumber pile and drove it like a catapult into a residential section.

Many of the victims were impaled by the flying lumber against what remained of demolished buildings. Bodies were tossed high in the air and some stuck in tree tops. Fires broke out in the wreckage which covered an area estimated at eight city blocks. Authorities feared many other victims might be trapped in the ruins.

Montgomery, Ala., Fire Consumes City Hall

Montgomery, Ala., March 21 (U.P.). Fire of undetermined origin swept through the Montgomery City Hall tonight, calling out the entire city fire department to fight flames fanned by high winds and threatened to develop a conflagration.

Thousands of persons, already advised of major fatalities caused by the winds which lashed Central Alabama late today, crowded the city's streets as the ancient structure was consumed by the flames.

Band Leader Marries, Losing Bet of $2,000

Land Park, Ill., March 21 (U.P.).—Wayne (Waits) King, orchestra leader, and Dorothy Janis, film actress, were married here today. They left immediately by automobile for King's estate in northern Wisconsin.

King's marriage cost him $2,000. He had bet W. H. Stein that amount that he would not marry until 1940. Stein collected the bet and then acted as best man. King, who is 31 years old, has become nationally known through radio broadcasts of his dance band in a Chicago ballroom.

B'NAI B'RITH ENDS SESSION WITH FETE

Representatives Kahn, Bloom and Dickstein Among Banquet Speakers.

Climaxing a two-day conclave attended by leaders of American Jewry from Eastern and Southern States, the annual convention of Grand Lodge, No. 5, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, closed last night with a gala banquet in honor of the delegates at the Willard Hotel.

More than 300 attended the dinner.

Lauding the efforts of the B'nai B'rith in behalf of the families of naturalized American citizens barred under the present interpretation of the immigration laws, Representative Samuel Dickstein, of New York, chairman of the House immigration committee, declared himself opposed to any suspension of immigration quotas that would force separation of the families of American citizens.

"If the present administration wants suspension of immigration," said Mr. Dickstein, "I will not intervene even though I am opposed to such suspension, but I am utterly opposed to separating the families of American citizens by barring their mothers, fathers, sons or daughters from joining them here," he said.

Representative Florence Kahn, of California, introduced by Henry A. Alexander, of Atlanta, representative of the Constitution Grand Lodge, who paid a tribute to her husband, the late Julius Kahn, was given an ovation by the gathering.

Urging members of the B-nai B'rith to continue their work of perpetuating the ideals of the Jewish faith, Representative Kahn urged them to acknowledge their Jewish heritage and be proud of it. "For only by doing so," she added, "can we hold our heads high before the world and proudly say we are Jews."

Judge Joseph Fromberg, of Charleston, S. C., attributed a large part of the unrest now wracking the various countries of the world to the undermining of spiritual values.

"There is too much stress laid on materialism," said Judge Fromberg. "We must go back to fundamentals, to the original concept of our institutions."

Rabbi Edward L. Israel, of Baltimore, stressed the spiritual influence of the Jewish tradition on the American Revolution.

Other speakers were Simon Hirahman, president of Argo Lodge; William A. Goodhart, president of the grand lodge; Dr. I. M. Rubinow, secretary of the Constitution Grand Lodge; Representative Sol Bloom; Simon E. Sobeloff, United States district attorney for Maryland; Maj. Julius Peyser; Julius Reis, and Joseph A Wilner, chairman of the convention committee, who presided.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinoins, who was scheduled to speak at the banquet, was detained and did not arrive in time to attend the dinner.

Music for the banquet was furnished by the Jewish Community Center Symphony Orchestra under the direction of George Sklar.

All grand lodge officers were re-elected at the business session of the order yesterday afternoon. Mr. Goodhart was chosen president for another term; Edwin L. Levy, grand lodge secretary, and Julius Reis, grand lodge treasurer.

Citizens Indorse Game Killing Bill

$600,000 for District Idle Also Urged by Progressive Association.

A bill now pending in Congress prohibiting the killing of game and birds within the boundaries of the District of Columbia, was indorsed last night by the Progressive Citizens Association at a meeting in the Curtis-Hyde School, O street, between Wisconsin avenue and Thirty-third street northwest.

The organization also indorsed a bill in Congress which provides for an old-age pension for residents of Washington who have lived here for ten years or more. The bill allows $1 a day to persons who have reached the age of 70 years and have no means of support. A bill to establish a new form of government for the District was among a number of others favored by the association.

A resolution was adopted urging that $600,000 be taken from the municipal building program and expended to aid unemployment throughout the city. It was announced that a tree would be planted in Montrose Park in honor of Miss Etta L. Taggert, the first president of the association.

Saber Murders Charged to 2.

Bucharest, March 21 (A.P.).—Because a tavern-keeper refused to sell them drinks after closing hours, Lieuts. Paul and John Petreanu were held in a military prison here today charged with killing two waiters with their sabers.

DEEP DRY FUND CUT SOUGHT BY SENATOR

Blaine Would Slash All but $369,500 From Money for Enforcing.

(Associated Press.)

Virtual elimination of appropriations for prohibition enforcement was proposed in the Senate yesterday by Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, an opponent of the dry laws, as a move for governmental economy.

Meanwhile, Senate Democrats pushed forward with their campaign to slice $300,000,000 from Federal appropriatoins by moving to send the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor supply bill back to committee for a 10 per cent cut in its total of $124,000,000.

Blaine announced he would offer an amendment to the bill to cut $11,000,000 off the $11,369,500 proposed in it for enforcement of prohibition. This, he said, would leave only enough to maintain the Enforcement Bureau in Washington.

The Wisconsin senator's announcement assured a prohibition battle in the Senate, though Blaine himself predicted defeat of the amendment.

"The question is whether we want to spend $11,000,000 in a futile attempt to enforce a foolish law," Blaine told the Senate. "It's important from the standpoint of economy and the problem of balancing the budget."

Blaine added that the amendment would eliminate a large part of the need for the manufacturers sales tax which he said Congress is proposing to "put on the backs of the hungry."

The motion to send the bill back to committee was made by Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, who was successful last week in a similar move on the Interior Department appropriatoin bill.

West End Citizens Urge Grant School

Committee Is Instructed to Press for Replacement of Old Building.

Undismayed by notification that no funds are available for construction of a new school to replace the Grant, the West End Citizens Association last night expressed determination to carry on the fight for the new school.

The association's school committee was instructed by Robert B. Lyons, the president, to press the need for a new school before the Board of Education and House and Senate District committees. Appearing at recent hearings of the subcommittee on appropriations of the House, the association representatives were told that money was unavailable for replacing the school.

The association adopted a resolution asking the District Commissioners to have water meters inspected more than twice a year. A committee was appointed to confer with Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the United States Bicentennial Commission, in regard to decoration of Washington Circle. The entertainment committee was asked to plan future meetings as events for the entire neighborhood. Last night's meeting was held in Stockton Hall of George Washington University.

Hunger Striker Is Kept to Bed

Dr. Wolter Retains All His Faculties, but Becomes Much Weaker.

The twenty-second day of the protest fast of Dr. Frederick F. Wolter, 57 years old, was marked last night with the holder of three university degrees confined to his bed in the Salvation Army Hotel at 119 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. He was visibly weaker, but still determined "to die unless suitable employment" is found for him.

In the last 22 days of his hunger strike, which has been branded a fake by a pathologist, Dr. Wolter was accustomed to stroll along Pennsylvania avenue. The rain and the weakness caused by his failure to eat kept him in bed yesterday.

Although, he says, the weakness caused by his starvation diet is making itself felt, he still has possession of all his faculties. He has eaten, he says, only one peanut since February 28, and continues to resist the efforts of social workers to induce him to eat. His strike is a protest against unemployment conditions.

Bicentennial Pageant To Be Repeated Tonight

The Bicentennial pageant which was presented for District school officials and students by the John Burroughs School will be repeated tonight at 7:30 for the public.

The pageant, presented in costume by nearly 100 pupils, consists of five scenes portraying outstanding historical events in the life of George Washington.

The program is enriched by dialogues, poems and songs of the colonial period, many of which were favorites of Washington.

IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

The widespread feeling throughout this country that the effects of the depression are on the wane has now spread to Europe. The world has, in a remarkably short time, assumed a decidedly more optimistic view of both the economic and financial future. How soon this improved mental state will result in definite improvement in trade and the employment of labor is a question that is variously answered. The measures recently inaugurated in this country to restore normal credit, and aid stalled industries, are in active operation.

As was anticipated, the very prospect of the assistance that the new credit facilities will provide helped to turn the tide. Reports for February, just issued by the Labor Department, show that employment in manufactures increased 1.2 per cent and that earnings increased 2.1 per cent. The country is now moving in the right direction.

These statistics of the bureau are based upon a representative cross-cut of American industry, nearly 17,000 establishments in 89 of the principal manufacturing industries being represented. They employ 2,830,890 men and women, whose weekly earnings are nearly $57,000,000. The decline in staple prices has stopped, hoarded money is coming back into circulation, railroads are being aided, various forms of farm relief are operating, and increased activities are reported in varied industries.

One important factor in connection with the positive improvement in industrial lines that must be considered is the favorable condition in which the great bulk of industrial establishments find themselves today. Inventories have been revised to conform to new levels, expenses have been cut, economies inaugurated, and obsolescent plants discarded. Net results are now obtained from a smaller turnover. It is only necessary to study the closing days of other periods of depression to be convinced that this country has now entered upon the initial stage of permanent recovery.

BEFOGGING WAR DEBTS.

David Lloyd George, war-time premier of Great Britain, has written a book entitled "The Truth About Reparations and War Debts." Americans who are interested enough to open this volume will find his reasoning quaint and amusing.

Mr. Lloyd George makes a savage attack upon Stanley Baldwin, who negotiated the British war debt settlement with the United States. Secretary Mellon is accused with driving a sharp bargain with the "casual, soft, easy-going and quite raw" British statesman. But Mr. Lloyd George sweeps all that aside with his argument that the debts should be canceled in full.

The logic behind this conclusion is obscure. Mr. Lloyd George gives America credit for winning the war. "The allies were not even holding their own," he writes, "and the issue was in doubt. America settled it." He accords this country full credit for turning an European "stalemate into victory."

Yet, he contends, "the United States did not from first to last make any sacrifice or contribution remotely comparable to those that her European associates made in life, money and material of trade toward the victory which she shared with them." This is the pitfall into which most European writers and statesmen tumble. How did the United States share victory with the allies? The allies took all of Germany's colonies and still hold them for their own benefit. They assessed a staggering burden of reparations against Germany. They disarmed Germany while building up powerful war machines for themselves. The United States refused to take any reparations or any colonies, and has disarmed to a greater extent than any other nation on the winning side. To speak of the United States "sharing in the victory" is a gross misstatement of fact.

"Even total cancellation of the war debts," says Mr. Lloyd George, "would not bring her (America's) contribution up to anything approaching a comparable burden in money alone." It is estimated that the war cost the United States $52,000,000,000, exclusive of war debts. Mr. Lloyd George thinks that is not a large enough price to pay for the privilege of saving the allies. He wants Uncle Sam to pay a larger part of Europe's war bill, while the allied powers claim all the spoils. This seems to imply that America rather than Europe is responsible for the war. It is not surprising that Europe is befuddled on the war debts issue.

Mr. Lloyd George projects the responsibility of the United States still further. This Government should hold the war debts as a club over European powers to force them to disarm. Since these obligations grew out of war they should be used to force a guarantee against future wars. The doughty Welshman would only have to go a step further to develop a formula under which the United States would be asked to pay for Europe's wars and to "buy" disarmament for Europe when such conflicts are at an end.

TO ENCOURAGE DISLOYALTY.

This seems to be a poor time for loosening the bonds that tie all citizens in loyalty to their Government. The people are shocked and enraged by the perpetration of appalling crimes, and there is a rising demand for the voluntary organization of citizens to cooperate with the Government in ferreting out and punishing criminals, native or alien. Yet Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, sees fit to press a bill which would permit alien slackers, pacifists and criminals to become citizens while refusing to promise to bear arms if necessary in the country's defense. By setting up the plea that he is a "conscientious objector," the alien under Senator Cutting's bill would be admitted to citizenship, notwithstanding his refusal to do what every loyal native citizen is required to do—that is, to lay down his life, if necessary, in defense of the country.

A criminal alien seeking citizenship would not hesitate to take oath as a "conscientious objector," if by so doing he could join the ranks of slackers and pacifists who would like to enjoy American liberty at the cost of other citizens' lives.

Certain aliens of twisted mentality, who are not to be classed as criminals, have been debarred from citizenship because they could not bring themselves to give the honest pledge to bear arms if called upon to do so by the Government. The Supreme Court held that these aliens were not fit to become citizens. The public applauded this decision; but the "liberals" who demand license in the name of liberty are trying to obtain special favors and exemptions for aliens who are not willing to defend the country. It is astonishing that a man of the high character and ability of John W. Davis should lend his support to this plea.

In opposition to the Cutting bill is the bill introduced by Senator Harris, which is supported by the American Legion. It is short and sweet, and reads as follows:

> That no alien shall be eligible to citizenship who does not wholly accept the responsibilities involved, nor may any alien be naturalized who is unwilling to take an unqualified oath of allegiance to our Government.

Probably no change in existing law is necessary, in view of the Supreme Court decisions, but if it should become necessary to exact complete loyalty as the price of American citizenship a bill like that offered by Senator Harris should be enacted. The United States is not asking aliens to become citizens. They seek this privilege themselves. Let them give the oath to support and defend the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, by bearing arms, or let them be excluded as unfit to become American citizens.

To the honor and patriotism of aliens in process of naturalization it may be said that practically not one of them attempts to gain the advantages of citizenship while refusing to undertake its responsibilities. They are as patriotic as native citizens, as a rule, and they would be ashamed to be enrolled with Senator Cutting and John W. Davis in behalf of the evasion of a citizen's duty.

GATES CLOSED ON ALIENS.

If Representative Dickstein, chairman of the immigration committee of the House, thinks that he can force a change in the administration's immigration policy he is indulging in a grave illusion. Few, if any, policies adopted by President Hoover for relief of the unemployment situation have received more whole-hearted support from the people than that of excluding aliens liable to become public charges during the depression.

Mr. Dickstein's charge that President Hoover has acted in violation of the law is too flimsy for consideration. The law provides that aliens who are liable to become public charges shall not be admitted. In these hard times, when millions of Americans are without jobs, any alien seeking admission to the United States to obtain employment is liable to become a charity case. The administration would have been negligent in its duty if it had not adopted regulations to prevent an influx of foreign workmen. On one hand, the Hoover policy has protected American workingmen against foreign competition for their jobs, and, on the other, it has reduced the burden placed upon relief agencies.

When Representative Dickstein criticizes patriotic societies for supporting stringent immigration laws and regulations he beats in vain against a stone wall of public opinion. Especially in times like the present the people will not tolerate competition for jobs by incoming foreigners. The tide of immigration has been turned back to the Old World for the first time since records have been kept, with the full approval of the public. It is improbable that unrestricted immigration will ever again be permitted. The United States is now a grown-up Nation. It does not need vast numbers of immigrants to develop the country. What it really needs is opportunity to digest and nationalize the excessive number of aliens who are already here.

Mr. Dickstein can talk for home consumption, but he can not change the attitude of Congress, which is in full sympathy with the administration in keeping the gates closed.

GOETHE'S CENTENARY.

One hundred years ago today the greatest German of modern times died at the little Thuringian capital of Weimar. The centenary is being observed internationally.

Johann Wolfgang Goethe, poet and philosopher, statesman and administrator, talented amateur in half a dozen sciences, is perhaps better remembered for his influence than for anything he actually accomplished during the 83 busy years of his career. Like Leonardo da Vinci, he was gifted in so many different respects that he failed to develop to its full extent even the most precious of his capacities. His life, his exuberant vivacity of interest in all things, his universality of contact, his unfaltering industry and methodical orderliness, his devotion to high ideals, his rejection of compromise—all these have been of wider significance than the bulk of his literary and scientific achievements. He has been a source for others, rather than a completely consummated end in himself. He has been an inspiration, as well as a model.

It is commonly said of Goethe that he was the founder of German romantic literature, but this is just a somewhat unsuccessful label of classification which critics have applied in their endeavor to catalogue him. He really was the founder of a variety of living, the prophet of an ideal of creative existence; he gave us the doctrine of "noble striving" as a goal. Whoever now deliberately tries to be consistently and enthusiastically alive owes something to him as a formulator of the creed of conscious receptivity, observation and experience.

Americans know Goethe best for his "Faust," the text of which engaged his attention at intervals for 50 years. Even in translated form it is a magnificent expression of our world—the world of modern men. It is packed with the thought of the era to which we belong and of which Goethe was a primary apostle. If it is confusing in part, so is the age of which it is a product. As a whole, it is one of that small group of superior compositions, including the "Divine Comedy" of Dante and the "Paradise Lost" of Milton, that testify to the presence in the human soul of grandeur of godlike quality.

Germany has abundant reason to honor her celebrated son. The world beyond the German boundary may join with his countrymen in saluting his memory. He was, indeed, a world man, and he has had a world effect. We are what we are largely because Goethe was what he was. It is worth noticing that at the hour of his death he uttered a cry for "More light! More light!" A hundred years have passed, but the children of earth still echo the last poignant petition of the genius of Weimar.

One safe speculation is that Speaker Garner won't propose a tax on beer.

COCONUTS IN POLITICS

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

The "coconut cow" is a metaphorical bovine invented to incarnate the fear of the dairymen of coconut oil. A Minnesota newspaper editorial, discounting that fear, suggests that the Philippine coconut cow be carefully looked over to be sure that the animal is not really an American bull.

In the botanical glossary of politics the genus peanut politician must give way to the coconut one, a homo sapiens who, starting from the premise of butter and margarine, rises precipitately to offer the cup of freedom and liberty to any country that sends coconut oil to the United States duty free. To him the 70,000,000 coconut trees in the Philippines are an army of liberation more potent than orations, resolutions and demonstrations.

In the prosaic language of economics, one-fourth of the ingredients in margarine is coconut oil. The butter industry considers margarine a competitor. The statistical fact is that there is no relationship between margarine consumption and butter prices. Margarine is used by the poorer class of people who can not afford to pay the price of butter. Among the consumers are many farmers. The attack on margarine is a raid on a poor man's pocket.

Coconut oil is expressed in modern mills from copra, which is the dried meat of the coconut. Coconut oil is protected by a tariff duty of 2 cents a pound, but copra is on the free list. The Philippines being within the tariff wall, their coconut oil enters the United States duty free. Copra, being free from any country, comes not only from the Philippines, but also from the East Indies, the Malabar Coast and Oceania.

Of the total consumption of coconut oil in the United States approximately one-half is imported from the Philippines and the rest comes from the mills in the United States—in Baltimore, Cincinnati, San Francisco and Portland, Oreg. These mills use duty-free copra from all sources.

It stands to reason that if Philippine coconut oil is shut off by a tariff wall the demand of the margarine industry for coconut oil will be met by the domestic mills doubling their production. This will destroy the coconut oil industry in the Philippines. It will also permit a greater amount of copra to come in from foreign countries. And the result will be that, instead of competing with the Filipinos, as they claim, the American dairymen will be competing more with the coolies of the Pacific islands. That certainly would be a boomerang.

Although much of the complaint comes from the dairymen, about 70 per cent of all coconut oil consumed in the United States is used in the soap industry. This industry has advised the appropriate congressional committees that for technical reasons no domestic or imported vegetable oils or animal fats are satisfactory substitutes for coconut oil in the soap kettle, and that if coconut oil is made dutiable the increase in price will just be passed on to the buyer of soap.

Coconut oil does not meet cottonseed oil in competitive fields. The latter article is used mostly in cooking compounds, where the former is not utilized. Before the war cottonseed oil was used in the manufacture of yellow soaps, but the demand for white soaps with high lathering quality necessitated other vegetable oils. From the soap kettle cottonseed oil went to the field of edible industries, where it commands better prices. In the vernacular, coconut oil has kicked cottonseed oil upstairs.

Several suggestions have been advanced regarding coconut oil and copra. One is to denature coconut oil to render it unfit for human consumption, so its use will be confined to nonedible products. Another is to place copra on a dutiable basis compensatory with coconut oil. These suggestions will be met with opposition from several quarters.

The export value of Philippine coconut oil is over $22,000,000 a year. This may not look big in America, but it is more than half of the total annual income of the Philippine government and is one of the economic mainstays of the Filipino people.

WASHINGTON: FOX HUNTER.

The scene is a room at Mount Vernon, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the date February 6, 1773. Up in Boston town ferment spreads and the tea party is only a few months away, but in the Potomac mansion all is quiet save for the crackle of logs in the fireplace. The plantation master, at his desk, turns back through the January entries in his journal. On the 5th he went hunting with Mr. Magowan and together they found a fox on Ackatinck just by Lawson Parker's and lost it. On the 8th he rode to Muddy Hole; nothing sighted. On the 9th he found a fox near Timber Landing only to lose it near Mrs. French's. Out again on the 11th, 13th, 15th, 16th and 23d, and no fortune. The 23d was a little better. That day he ran a fox for near four hours and either killed or treed it, but the wind blowing fresh had thrown him off. The 30th was a day that hurt. Out with Lund Washington and took the drag of a fox by Isaac Gates' and carried it to the old Glebe, then followed a cold scent into Col. Fairfax's Neck, where they found three on a hill just above the creek. Ran them until after dark and had to give up the chase. He dips his quill and writes the entry for the winter day just closed:

> Rode into the Neck, and taking the Hounds with me, after being at the Plantns., found a fox between the two, which was killed in ¾ of an hour.

Not bad, he says to himself, not bad at all.

Discovery of Safe Ways to Steal Would Not Make Thieving Less Contemptible.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

"THIS younger generation is no worse than any other. It is just so frank and honest that it doesn't pull the window shades down."

You have heard much talk like that; and because you are a typical American optimist who hates ugly facts, you have believed it.

Of course this generation of youth is no worse than others—by nature. But in many instances its standard of sex morality is the barnyard standard, and adults have made it so.

The restraining influence of religion is gone. Adults deserted religion because it isn't scientific.

The influence of the rod is gone. Modern adults don't believe in punishing youth—except in the electric chair.

Youth is in the saddle because parents are afraid. Moderns have solved the problem of parenthood by washing their hands of it and trusting their children to work out their own salvation.

Does the result prove their wisdom? Is youth of this generation, for the first time in history, wiser than its parents?

Were the parents of all previous generations wrong when they required service, obedience and respect of their children? Their methods developed many great men and wonderful women. Are present methods proven more wise by the character they develop?

If modern youth is so frank and honest in its sex life, why does it prefer darkness and quiet lanes and distant places?

You know the answer. You know what the automobile has done to youth. You know that every crossroads filling station and lunch stand now sells contraceptives.

Bertrand Russell says sex experience is a wholesome thing for youth because it relieves natural desires and prevents unwholesome repressions.

But children also have a natural desire to take what they want and to injure people who restrain or anger them. Must they relieve themselves by stealing and killing to avoid "repressions?"

If it is wise and decent to scorn ethical restraint and follow desire in one particular, why not in all particulars?

Writers of the Russell school contend that broad-minded modern men think no less of women who have had "affairs." They neither demand nor expect chastity in the women they marry! Some bachelors may say that is true, but try to find a married man who will agree.

Human nature hasn't changed. Wrong hasn't become right because moderns have learned to "get away with it." The libertine and the wanton still are indecent, and parents who fail to teach the truth are storing up trouble for their children.

Local Taxes Hurt.
Pessenden (N. Dak.) Farmer.

We load ourselves up with local taxes until the burden becomes almost confiscatory. Then we have the nerve to sit around and abuse the President for the tax burden—a condition he has little or nothing to do with. As a matter of fact, Federal taxes have declined since 1922, while local taxes have continued to increase up to the levy for 1931. We are prone to howl about Federal and State taxes and forget the taxes imposed close to our homes. Compared to the years just prior to the war, our local taxes have about trebled. As a rule a local bond issue can be floated at any time for anything from a swimming pool to an airport, despite the fact that the bonded indebtedness of that particular unit of local government may be stretched almost to its limit. It is the local taxes that are hurting us, and not the national or State taxes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Singer Thinks Al Smith Is Secretly Boosting Gov. Roosevelt.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Particular significance has been placed by Democrats on the recent victory of Gov. Roosevelt over his adversary, Alfred Emanuel Smith, in the recent New Hampshire primaries as an indication of the comparative strength of these two contenders for the Democratic nomination for President. Loud has been the acclaim of Roosevelt supporters that the results illustrate the desirability for other States to "get on the band wagon," and ride to victory with the most popular candidate.

Smith ran for President in 1928 with disastrous results. He undoubtedly realizes that he can never be elected President, but he, nevertheless is fully aware that he controls enough votes to make his support worthwhile to any contending candidate. Is it not possible that secretly he is a stanch supporter of the very man who seemingly is his outstanding rival, Gov. Roosevelt? Smith's open support of Gov. Roosevelt would alienate many of the Southern and Western States whose support is necessary for his nomination, for they would feel that Gov. Roosevelt has definitely aligned himself with the wet interests of the East. In addition, Gov. Roosevelt has demonstrated his willingness "to play ball" with Tammany Hall by appointing another Tammany henchman to replace former Sheriff Farley. Smith support (that is, publicly declared Smith support) and actual evidence of a Tammany alliance could never gain the whole-hearted support of the South and the West. But Smith, in campaigning against Roosevelt is obtaining support for Roosevelt in sections of the country that would never consent to follow an open Smith-Roosevelt alliance. But at the proper time Smith's entire support will be openly presented to Roosevelt. This will not happen until the delegates of the Democratic party are assembled in the convention hall in Chicago.

Pluvius Approves House Vote on Prohibition for Index Purposes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the excellent and comprehensive article by one of The Post's special writers in regard to the vote on prohibition which is to be taken in the House of Representatives it was stated that representatives will have to declare themselves wet or dry, and that those who are not sure how the majority of their constituents stand are in a quandary.

Is it possible that any congressman doesn't know which way and how strongly the tide is running?

Mr. Folliard remarks: "Of course a straddler could absent himself on the day of the vote, but in the view of many this would put him in wrong with both wets and drys." Righto; a real man or woman would rather vote for an avowed opponent, and would just love to vote against a "straddler."

And, in this connection, have you noticed how frequently "government of the people, by the people," &c., is being ignored? If the Howell prohibition enforcement proposal were submitted to a vote of the people of Washington it would be rejected by at least 5 to 1. PLUVIUS.

President of Motion Picture Association Says Block Booking Prevents Theater Owners From Selecting Suitable Shows.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I offer a suggestion in reference to your editorial on children and the movies?

You are quite right in saying that responsibility for seeing that the children do not attend improper movies does not rest with the parents alone. You are quite wrong, in view of trade practices in the motion picture business, in casting that responsibility on the exhibitors.

Children for the most part attend the neighborhood and small town theaters operated by independent exhibitors. These exhibitors have no right of selection but must buy and play all pictures released by the producers with whom they deal. Therefore they are unwilling parties to a scheme for foisting bad pictures on the public.

Won't you first help us attain the right of selection in the matter of the pictures we play and then hold us to strict accountability?

THE DOCTOR PAYS A CALL.

While we were down in Yucatan a native boy fell ill,
And the nurse at Chichen worried and worked as women always will.
She watched by night and she watched by day and she dosed him as best she could,
With a prayer on her lips that a doctor soon might come to that neighborhood.

Eight of us sailed on the Olive K. to discover in Yucatan
The structures built by the Mayan race ere ever our own began.
And we stood aghast at the wonders wrought and we tramped their temples through,
And tried to live with the ancient dead and remold their lives anew.

But a sick boy sighed and our doctor heard and away to his aid he went,
For a suffering lad meant more to him than temple or monument.
And the prettiest sight that I saw down there was that wise and skillful man
Taking the pulse of a jungle boy in the wilds of Yucatan.

MARCH TERM BEGUN IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

Eleven Presentments Are Returned by Grand Jury as True Bills.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 243, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The March term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court opened yesterday morning with Judge Walter T. McCarthy presiding. E. E. Gillette, of Herndon, was selected as foreman of the grand jury. Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr made eleven presentments to the grand jury, of which six were for alleged violation of the Virginia prohibition law. All of the presentments were returned by the jury marked as true bills.

The indictments returned yesterday were against Jerry Cundiff, of River road, for the shooting of Henry Hill, of Alexandria; Franklin Davis, of Mount Vernon district, for felonious maiming; Weston Hill and William Honesty, for housebreaking; J. W. Jacobs, for the possession and transportation of ardent spirits and destroying evidence; Wirt M. Patton, second offense against State prohibition law; Herbert Pettitt, possession and transportation of ardent spirits and destroying evidence; Thomas L. Struder, second offense of driving while drunk; Sam Wells, second offense of possession of ardent spirits, and W. Cary Galleher, forgery of a check for $50.

District Youth Accused.

Two indictments were returned against Joseph Henson Davidson, jr., said to be the son of a lieutenant in the District of Columbia Fire Department, each charging him of being the driver of a hit-and-run automobile on the Washington-Richmond highway about two weeks ago. When he appeared before the court a plea was entered in his behalf asking that his parents be allowed to take him to Washington for a mental examination at Gallinger Hospital prior to having him committed to St. Elizabeths Hospital. Judge McCarthy denied the plea, but ordered that a mental examination be conducted by the Virginia authorities before the youth is tried on the indictments.

Other indictments disposed of by the court yesterday on pleas of guilty were Weston Hill and William Honesty, colored, of Herndon, charged with stealing a quantity of meat from a locked building in the night, were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary each. Thomas L. Struder, of Lincolnia, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail on an indictment charging second offense of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and the suspension of a jail sentence imposed during the last term of court on a similar charge was revoked, making an additional jail sentence of three months; and Sam Wells, of Centerville, indicted for the second offense of possession of ardent spirits was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail. A capias was issued for the apprehension of W. Cary Galleher, indicted for forgery.

Ten Dry Presentments.

Commonwealth's Attorney Farr made ten presentments direct to the court, all charging violation of the State prohibition law. Presentments were made for driving while under the influence of intoxicants against the following: William Finchman, G. W. Jones, D. G. Lough, Curtis B. Newton and Levi J. Speaks.

Presentments charging possession and transportation of ardent spirits were made against William Finchman, Alan Roy and Leon Wilkins; for possession of ardent spirits alone, Franklin Davis and O. H. Olinder.

William Finchman, G. W. Jones, D. G. Lough, Curtis B. Newton and Levi J. Speaks pleaded guilty of driving while drunk and were fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail each. The jail sentences were suspended by the court in each case during good behavior. William Finchman also pleaded guilty to the possession and transportation of ardent spirits and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail. The jail sentence was suspended. Alan Roy was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to three months in jail on a similar charge. A capias was issued for Leon Wilkins, said to be serving a sentence in the Alexandria Jail.

Guilty Pleas Entered.

The following cases, carried over from previous terms of the court, were disposed of on pleas of guilty by the defendants: Harry Johnson, violation of prohibition law, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in jail; Kyle Spenser, charged with possession, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail, the jail sentence being suspended during good behavior; William Lightner, charged with driving while drunk, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail and was ordered discharged from custody of the sheriff without payment of the fine and costs.

The charges of robbery against Stanley Ayers, of Alexandria, were nolle prossed by Commonwealth's Attorney Farr. Ayers was convicted on the charges several months ago in the circuit court on the testimony of witnesses other than the men he is said to have held up. He appealed the sentence of eight years imposed by the jury to the Virginia Court of Appeals, which returned the case to the Fairfax court with orders for a new trial.

Alexandria Police Hunt Goat Missing in Transit

"Please find out who got our goat," was the rather unusual request received by the Alexandria Police Department yesterday from Potomac Yards.

Freely translated, this means that a small white goat escaped yesterday from a car in transit through the Potomac freight yards, and the officials deemed this of sufficient importance to ask the police to institute a search for the missing animal. Word of the escape was flashed to all police cars, but the goat was still at large.

Hoover Will Aid Dedication Of Washington Memorial

Accepts Invitation to Participate in Ceremonies at Alexandria Masonic Shrine May 12; Reception Committees Are Named.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

President Hoover, in a letter addressed to Col. Louis A. Watres, president of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association, has definitely accepted an invitation to be present at the dedication of the memorial temple in Alexandria on May 12. It is expected he will arrive shortly before 1 o'clock, when the exercises are scheduled to begin. It is uncertain whether or not the President will deliver an address.

President Hoover will be the second Chief Executive of the United States to participate in exercises pertaining to the Masonic memorial temple. President Calvin Coolidge, on November 1, 1923, having been present at the laying of the corner stone of this imposing structure, taking an active part by spreading mortar with the trowel used by George Washington in laying the corner stone of the Capitol, and which now is in possession of the Alexandria-Washington Lodge, of Alexandria, of which Washington was the first worshipful master.

Chairman Robert S. Barrett, of the committee on arrangements for the dedication, has appointed a special committee to receive the President and look after his comfort, composed of former Representative Charles C. Carlin, former Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, and Col. Edgar Warfield, the last named being the last survivor of the Alexandrians who marched in 1861 with the Confederate forces.

A number of Cabinet officers also have accepted invitations, and a committee composed of Mayor Edmund F Ticer, W. Selden Washington, past master of Alexandria-Washington Lodge and a collateral descendant of George Washington, and F. Clinton Knight, master of Andrew Jackson Lodge, of Alexandria, has been appointed to meet them.

Many senators and representatives also have accepted invitations, and the committee appointed to greet them is composed of Representative Howard W. Smith, Mayor J. Fulmer Bright of Richmond; Representative C. A. Woodrum, of Roanoke; Delegate J. Fred Birrell, of Alexandria, and Arthur E. Cook, of Washington.

Special committees will be appointed to receive each of the grand masters and high Masonic dignitaries, many of whom will come from foreign lands, who will be present.

Plummer Lauded By Senator White

Late Official of Shipping Board to Be Buried in Arlington Today.

A tribute to Edward C. Plummer, vice chairman of the Shipping Board, who died Sunday in his apartment in the Burlington Hotel, was paid yesterday by Senator Wallace H. White, of Maine.

Praising Mr. Plummer as one of Maine's outstanding citizens, Senator White said:

"For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Plummer, with voice and pen, served the cause of the American ships and of American foreign trade. He brought to the United States Shipping Board a wide and detailed knowledge of these subjects. He was industrious, aggressive and persuasive in his advocacy of shipping legislation. The shipping interests of the country have suffered a grievous loss in his death."

Funeral services for Mr. Plummer will be held in the funeral home of Joseph Gawler & Sons, 1750 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. He will be buried with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Plummer are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Plummer, and three sisters, Mrs. Ada C. Lane, of Woodfords, Me.; Mrs. Ella Pease, of Tennants Harbor, Me., and Mrs. George Currier, of Portland, Me.

Made chief of police here in 1919, "Uncle Billy" warred on the undesirables with a billiard cue and a sawed-off shotgun and kept the town peaceful after one fatal gunfight.

As a boy of 15 he enlisted in the Ninth Tennessee Cavalry and rode through many Civil War battles as a Confederate. Later, in charge of revenue activities in 36 eastern Tennessee counties, he was said to have captured 1,500 stills in fourteen years.

Inquest Ordered In Police Fatality

Grissam Is Believed Victim of Bicycle Collision With Auto.

Although the theory that William J. Grissam, United States park policeman, who was found early Sunday lying unconscious on John Marshall place near Pennsylvania avenue northwest and died later in Emergency Hospital, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver has been virtually abandoned, Coroner Joseph D. Rogers ordered an inquest at the District Morgue at 11 o'clock this morning.

Following a preliminary investigation of the case, police were inclined to believe that Grissam fell from his bicycle after striking a parked car. Dents in the fender and rear license plate of a machine parked near the spot where the policeman was found, led to the collision theory.

Finding that Grissam died of a fractured skull and lung injuries, Coroner Rogers ordered an extensive investigation. The handlebars and frame work on the officer's bicycle were found to be bent.

Interfederation Conference Urges Car Merger Here

Legislation authorizing merger of the local street car companies, with the recommendation that all details of the amalgamation be left to the discretion of the Public Utilities Commission, was urged by the Interfederation Conference at a meeting last night at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The report on which this action was based, submitted by Col. A. B. Barber, pointed out that the primary purpose of the merger is for the general improvement of the utilities and for the benefit of the public. Congress can serve this end by passing the legislation, and the Public Utilities Commission can be well depended on to do the rest of the work, it was remarked.

Two hours of last night's meeting was devoted to consideration of broadening the activities of the Community Chest to take in surrounding counties, Elwood Street, director of the Chest, leading the discussion. Director Street was questioned on all phases of the plan by the conference representatives. Dr. J. W. Bird president of the Montgomery County Social Welfare League, was among those present.

The discussion was climaxed with adoption of a motion authorizing Stephen James, president of the conference, to appoint a committee to continue study of the matter.

Alexandrians Plan Council Plan Study

Citizens Association Will Hold Special Election Debate Tomorrow.

Edwin E. Carver, president of the Alexandria Citizens Association, has issued a call for a meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Potomac Community Hall, for the purpose of discussing the special election to be held on March 29, when the voters of Alexandria will decide whether the "Council at Large" plan or the "Council by Wards" plan of electing members of the city council shall be adopted. The former plan provides for the election of seven members of the council, all to be chosen at large, and the latter would mean the election of six members, one from each of the voting wards of the city, and three members at large.

Under the first-named plan all members would serve four years, while the ward plan provides for the members elected from the wards to serve two years each, and those at large three years each. The plan now in use provides for five councilmen, all elected at large, their terms being four years each, this being the original set-up.

The general public has been invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

Negro Community Upset When "Corpse" Arises

Gulfport, Miss., March 21 (A.P.).—Negroes of the Handsboro community are spreading the word far and wide about the "corpse" that "riz up and walked."

A woman of the neighborhood died, reputedly of poison. Justice of the Peace H. C. Moore and Deputy Sheriff Edward Vanzandt were called to her home to hold an inquest.

The Negroes gathered about in solemn mien to watch the progress of the examination.

Suddenly the woman opened her eyes, arose from her couch and spoke an emphatic denial of death.

The crowd dispersed much in the manner of a terrified army's retreat.

MASS MEETING SET ON BYRD ROAD PLAN

Holding of Special Elections to Be Discussed Tuesday in Lyon Park.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The merits of the so-called Byrd road plan recently enacted by the General Assembly and the question of holding a special election in Arlington County to determine whether the county shall remain under the plan or withdraw from it will be discussed at a mass meeting in Lyon Park Community House next Tuesday night.

The meeting will be under auspices of the Lyon Park Citizens Association in place of the regular meeting which was to have been held tonight.

State Senator John W. Rust, of Fairfax, and Delegate Hugh Reid, of Arlington County, will explain the provisions of the bill. Under the plan, according to the statements of its sponsors in the General Assembly, the State, on and after July 1, will take over the road equipment of the counties and will maintain the county roads as a secondary State highway system. However, any county wishing to withdraw from the plan may do so by holding a special election on the question before July 1. Generally, counties which do not withdraw from the plan will not be permitted thereafter to levy road taxes nor will they receive any portion of the State gasoline taxes.

The meeting will be open to all citizens of the county desiring to attend. Special invitations have gone out to presidents of all local associations in the county and other civic leaders, including members of the county board.

Klemm Won't Quit Race for Congress

Refuses to Give Way to Gambrill and Save Primary Cost.

Dr. John William Klemm will not withdraw from the race for the Democratic nomination for representative from the Fifth Maryland Congressional District, he said yesterday.

It had been suggested that Dr. Klemm take his name from the list of candidates to save the voters the cost of a primary election. He has run against the incumbent, Stephen W. Gambrill, several times before. The contest between Dr. Klemm and Mr. Gambrill is the only fight in view, and makes the holding of the primary necessary. This election will cost the country about $10,000, and the district about $50,000.

"I'm not going to withdraw. Why do they want me to withdraw? Why not ask the other man? The office is not for him indefinitely," Dr. Klemm declared. He is running on a bone-dry platform, he said last night at his home in Mount Rainier.

Capitol Heights Firemen To Ask Court Retention

Six members of the Capitol Heights Volunteer Fire Department will appear before the Prince Georges County Commissioners today to ask that the police court remain in the fire house and to present the plans for the new quarters for the department and court.

George Finger, Walter Oliver, and Henry Schneider will represent the fire company, while the Ladies Auxiliary will be represented by Mrs. Sarah Beavers, Mrs. Vernon D. Acree, and Mrs. Julia Floyd. Last week Thomas J. Luckett, Capitol Heights attorney, wrote the commissioners suggesting that the court be moved from its present quarters. Plans have been made for a new two-story building, with a courtroom about twice the size of the present one on the second floor.

M'CENEY WILL HEAD COUNTY GRAND JURY

Montgomery Judge Declares Serious Crimes to Come Before Inquisitors.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

William H. McCeney, of Colesville, Md., was selected as foreman of the Montgomery County Grand Jury at the convening of the County Circuit Court yesterday, at Rockville, Md. Judge Robert B. Peter selected Mr. McCeney after the 23 members of the inquisitorial body had been drawn in accordance with the usual customs of the court. He is a prominent farmer of the Colesville district and a member of the County Board of Education.

In charging the grand jury, Judge Peter told them that he regretted he was unable to advise them that no serious crime had been perpetrated in the county since the last grand jury session. He said that he referred to one serious offense, presumably the murder of Horace D. Waters, 79-year-old merchant of Old Germantown, in which the culprits had not been apprehended but in which there is a possibility they will be placed under arrest. He warned the grand jurors that they must maintain absolute secrecy regarding all that transpires in the grand jury room. The grand jury then retired to its room and began examination of witnesses.

The following were named to be members of the petit jury for the March term: Henry W. Schuerger, Arthur Eckloff, Chester C. Bogley, Preston L. Snyder, W. Trailla Carlisle, Roland Wootton, Elbin Leishear, Bernard T. Brosius, William J. Umstead, James W. Howes, Tudor U. Heeter, Hugh Rabbitt, Edward Gandy, Alfred L. Fraley, Carson W. Pope, Marshall N. Walker, James H. Anderson, Albert F. Thompson, James M. Daniels, Noble B. Embrey, Edward J. Medeary, Walter K. Matthews, William Ashton Berry, George B. Remsburg and Laurence B. Jones.

Most of the day was devoted to calling the docket and setting cases for trial. Trial of civil cases and criminal appeal cases will be held first while the grand jury deliberates. Trial of criminal cases will begin March 31. The court docket is one of the heaviest in its history.

GAYETY

"BLACK AND WHITE REVUE." A Columbia Burlesque attraction featuring Billy Fields, Bimbo Davis, Wanda de Von and Jean Lee and the Club Prudhom Revue, with Elmer Calloway and his orchestra. Reviewed by W. L. Wright.

This is bargain week at the Gayety and Jimmy Lake is offering two excellent shows for the price of one. "The Black and White Revue," the event of the season, is snappy, fast-moving entertainment and should be seen by all who like spicy comedy, "hot" jazz and peppy dancing.

Featuring the first half of this attraction is that past master of comedy, Billy ("Laugh-a-Minute") Fields. Bimbo Davis, his sidekick, needs no introduction in Washington. This pair have the house in a continuous uproar and with Chuck Callahan, Frank Dufrane, Jess Mack and Larry Clark to lend aid occasionally, form a combination hard to beat.

Wanda de Von, a red-headed beauty of no mean ability, made two appearances that left the boys clamoring for more. Always a favorite at this theater, Wanda made many new friends at last night's performance.

Jean Lee, another red head, and Joy St. Claire, a newcomer to these parts, put over their numbers in approved style. Eloise Dwan, prima donna of the company, won much deserved applause with several fine vocal numbers.

The Club Prudhom Revue, an aggregation of colored stars, led by Elmer Calloway and his Cub Prudhom Orchestra, put on an excellent show for the second half of this double-header. Any lover of jazz, hot and hotter, should hear this crowd and see Calloway do his stuff.

With this revue is Bea Ford, a clever singer, and three fast and snappy dancers, Blake, Simmons and James. This trio stopped the show with the best foot work of the year.

IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

The widespread feeling throughout this country that the effects of the depression are on the wane has now spread to Europe. The world has, in a remarkably short time, assumed a decidedly more optimistic view of both the economic and financial future. How soon this improved mental state will result in definite improvement in trade and the employment of labor is a question that is variously answered. The measures recently inaugurated in this country to restore normal credit, and aid stalled industries, are in active operation.

As was anticipated, the very prospect of the assistance that the new credit facilities will provide helped to turn the tide. Reports for February, just issued by the Labor Department, show that employment in manufactures increased 1.2 per cent and that earnings increased 2.1 per cent. The country is now moving in the right direction.

These statistics of the bureau are based upon a representative cross-cut of American industry, nearly 17,000 establishments in 89 of the principal manufacturing industries being represented. They employ 2,830,890 men and women, whose weekly earnings are nearly $57,000,000. The decline in staple prices has stopped, hoarded money is coming back into circulation, railroads are being aided, various forms of farm relief are operating, and increased activities are reported in varied industries.

One important factor in connection with the positive improvement in industrial lines that must be considered is the favorable condition in which the great bulk of industrial establishments find themselves today. Inventories have been revised to conform to new levels, expenses have been cut, economies inaugurated, and obsolescent plants discarded. Net results are now obtained from a smaller turnover. It is only necessary to study the closing days of other periods of depression to be convinced that this country has now entered upon the initial stage of permanent recovery.

BEFOGGING WAR DEBTS.

David Lloyd George, war-time premier of Great Britain, has written a book entitled "The Truth About Reparations and War Debts." Americans who are interested enough to open this volume will find his reasoning quaint and amusing.

Mr. Lloyd George makes a savage attack upon Stanley Baldwin, who negotiated the British war debt settlement with the United States. Secretary Mellon is accused with driving a sharp bargain with the "casual, soft, easy-going and quite raw" British statesman. But Mr. Lloyd George sweeps all that aside with his argument that the debts should be canceled in full.

The logic behind this conclusion is obscure. Mr. Lloyd George gives America credit for winning the war. "The allies were not even holding their own," he writes, "and the issue was in doubt. America settled it." He accords this country full credit for turning an European "stalemate into victory."

Yet, he contends, "the United States did not from first to last make any sacrifice or contribution remotely comparable to those that her European associates made in life, money and material of trade toward the victory which she shared with them." This is the pitfall into which most European writers and statesmen tumble. How did the United States share victory with the allies? The allies took all of Germany's colonies and still hold them for their own benefit. They assessed a staggering burden of reparations against Germany. They disarmed Germany while building up powerful war machines for themselves. The United States refused to take any reparations or any colonies, and has disarmed to a greater extent than any other nation on the winning side. To speak of the United States "sharing in the victory" is a gross misstatement of fact.

"Even total cancellation of the war debts," says Mr. Lloyd George, "would not bring her (America's) contribution up to anything approaching a comparable burden in money alone." It is estimated that the war cost the United States $52,000,000,000, exclusive of war debts. Mr. Lloyd George thinks that is not a large enough price to pay for the privilege of saving the allies. He wants Uncle Sam to pay a larger part of Europe's war bill, while the allied powers claim all the spoils. This seems to imply that America rather than Europe is responsible for the war. It is not surprising that Europe is befuddled on the war debts issue.

Mr. Lloyd George projects the responsibility of the United States still further. This Government should hold the war debts as a club over European powers to force them to disarm. Since these obligations grew out of war they should be used to force a guarantee against future wars. The doughty Welshman would only have to go a step further to develop a formula under which the United States would be asked to pay for Europe's wars and to "buy" disarmament for Europe when such conflicts are at an end.

TO ENCOURAGE DISLOYALTY.

This seems to be a poor time for loosening the bonds that tie all citizens in loyalty to their Government. The people are shocked and enraged by the perpetration of appalling crimes, and there is a rising demand for the voluntary organization of citizens to cooperate with the Government in ferreting out and punishing criminals, native or alien. Yet Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, sees fit to press a bill which would permit alien slackers, pacifists and criminals to become citizens while refusing to promise to bear arms if necessary in the country's defense. By setting up the plea that he is a "conscientious objector," the alien under Senator Cutting's bill would be admitted to citizenship, notwithstanding his refusal to do what every loyal native citizen is required to do—that is, to lay down his life, if necessary, in defense of the country.

A criminal alien seeking citizenship would not hesitate to take oath as a "conscientious objector," if by so doing he could join the ranks of slackers and pacifists who would like to enjoy American liberty at the cost of other citizens' lives.

Certain aliens of twisted mentality, who are not to be classed as criminals, have been debarred from citizenship because they could not bring themselves to give the honest pledge to bear arms if called upon to do so by the Government. The Supreme Court held that these aliens were not fit to become citizens. The public applauded this decision; but the "liberals" who demand license in the name of liberty are trying to obtain special favors and exemptions for aliens who are not willing to defend the country. It is astonishing that a man of the high character and ability of John W. Davis should lend his support to this plea.

In opposition to the Cutting bill is the bill introduced by Senator Harris, which is supported by the American Legion. It is short and sweet, and reads as follows:

> That no alien shall be eligible to citizenship who does not wholly accept the responsibilities involved, nor may any alien be naturalized who is unwilling to take an unqualified oath of allegiance to our Government.

Probably no change in existing law is necessary, in view of the Supreme Court decisions, but if it should become necessary to exact complete loyalty as the price of American citizenship a bill like that offered by Senator Harris should be enacted. The United States is not asking aliens to become citizens. They seek this privilege themselves. Let them give the oath to support and defend the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, by bearing arms, or let them be excluded as unfit to become American citizens.

To the honor and patriotism of aliens in process of naturalization it may be said that practically not one of them attempts to gain the advantages of citizenship while refusing to undertake its responsibilities. They are as patriotic as native citizens, as a rule, and they would be ashamed to be enrolled with Senator Cutting and John W. Davis in behalf of the evasion of a citizen's duty.

GATES CLOSED ON ALIENS.

If Representative Dickstein, chairman of the immigration committee of the House, thinks that he can force a change in the administration's immigration policy he is indulging in a grave illusion. Few, if any, policies adopted by President Hoover for relief of the unemployment situation have received more whole-hearted support from the people than that of excluding aliens liable to become public charges during the depression.

Mr. Dickstein's charge that President Hoover has acted in violation of the law is too flimsy for consideration. The law provides that aliens who are liable to become public charges shall not be admitted. In these hard times, when millions of Americans are without jobs, any alien seeking admission to the United States to obtain employment is liable to become a charity case. The administration would have been negligent in its duty if it had not adopted regulations to prevent an influx of foreign workmen. On one hand, the Hoover policy has protected American workingmen against foreign competition for their jobs, and, on the other, it has reduced the burden placed upon relief agencies.

When Representative Dickstein criticizes patriotic societies for supporting stringent immigration laws and regulations he beats in vain against a stone wall of public opinion. Especially in times like the present the people will not tolerate competition for jobs by incoming foreigners. The tide of immigration has been turned back to the Old World for the first time since records have been kept, with the full approval of the public. It is improbable that unrestricted immigration will ever again be permitted. The United States is now a grown-up Nation. It does not need vast numbers of immigrants to develop the country. What it really needs is opportunity to digest and nationalize the excessive number of aliens who are already here.

Mr. Dickstein can talk for home consumption, but he can not change the attitude of Congress, which is in full sympathy with the administration in keeping the gates closed.

GOETHE'S CENTENARY.

One hundred years ago today the greatest German of modern times died at the little Thuringian capital of Weimar. The centenary is being observed internationally.

Johann Wolfgang Goethe, poet and philosopher, statesman and administrator, talented amateur in half a dozen sciences, is perhaps better remembered for his influence than for anything he actually accomplished during the 83 busy years of his career. Like Leonardo da Vinci, he was gifted in so many different respects that he failed to develop to its full extent even the most precious of his capacities. His life, his exuberant vivacity of interest in all things, his universality of contact, his unfaltering industry and methodical orderliness, his devotion to high ideals, his rejection of compromise—all these have been of wider significance than the bulk of his literary and scientific achievements. He has been a source for others, rather than a completely consummated end in himself. He has been an inspiration, as well as a model.

It is commonly said of Goethe that he was the founder of German romantic literature, but this is just a somewhat unsuccessful label of classification which critics have applied in their endeavor to catalogue him. He really was the founder of a variety of living, the prophet of an ideal of creative existence; he gave us the doctrine of "noble striving" as a goal. Whoever now deliberately tries to be consistently and enthusiastically alive owes something to him as a formulator of the creed of conscious receptivity, observation and experience.

Americans know Goethe best for his "Faust," the text of which engaged his attention at intervals for 50 years. Even in translated form it is a magnificent expression of our world—the world of modern men. It is packed with the thought of the era to which we belong and of which Goethe was a primary apostle. If it is confusing in part, so is the age of which it is a product. As a whole, it is one of that small group of superior compositions, including the "Divine Comedy" of Dante and the "Paradise Lost" of Milton, that testify to the presence in the human soul of grandeur of godlike quality.

Germany has abundant reason to honor her celebrated son. The world beyond the German boundary may join with his countrymen in saluting his memory. He was, indeed, a world man, and he has had a world effect. We are what we are largely because Goethe was what he was. It is worth noticing that at the hour of his death he uttered a cry for "More light! More light!" A hundred years have passed, but the children of earth still echo the last poignant petition of the genius of Weimar.

One safe speculation is that Speaker Garner won't propose a tax on beer.

COCONUTS IN POLITICS

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

The "coconut cow" is a metaphorical bovine invented to incarnate the fear of the dairymen of coconut oil. A Minnesota newspaper editorial, discounting that fear, suggests that the Philippine coconut cow be carefully looked over to be sure that the animal is not really an American bull.

In the botanical glossary of politics the genus peanut politician must give way to the coconut one, a homo sapiens who, starting from the premise of butter and margarine, rises precipitately to offer the cup of freedom and liberty to any country that sends coconut oil to the United States duty free. To him the 70,000,000 coconut trees in the Philippines are an army of liberation more potent than orations, resolutions and demonstrations.

In the prosaic language of economics, one-fourth of the ingredients in margarine is coconut oil. The butter industry considers margarine a competitor. The statistical fact is that there is no relationship between margarine consumption and butter prices. Margarine is used by the poorer class of people who can not afford to pay the price of butter. Among the consumers are many farmers. The attack on margarine is a raid on a poor man's pocket.

Coconut oil is expressed in modern mills from copra, which is the dried meat of the coconut. Coconut oil is protected by a tariff duty of 2 cents a pound, but copra is on the free list. The Philippines being within the tariff wall, their coconut oil enters the United States duty free. Copra, being free from any country, comes not only from the Philippines, but also from the East Indies, the Malabar Coast and Oceania.

Of the total consumption of coconut oil in the United States approximately one-half is imported from the Philippines and the rest comes from the mills in the United States—in Baltimore, Cincinnati, San Francisco and Portland, Oreg. These mills use duty-free copra from all sources.

It stands to reason that if Philippine coconut oil is shut off by a tariff wall the demand of the margarine industry for coconut oil will be met by the domestic mills doubling their production. This will destroy the coconut oil industry in the Philippines. It will also permit a greater amount of copra to come in from foreign countries. And the result will be that, instead of competing with the Filipinos, as they claim, the American dairymen will be competing more with the coolies of the Pacific islands. That certainly would be a boomerang.

Although much of the complaint comes from the dairymen, about 70 per cent of all coconut oil consumed in the United States is used in the soap industry. This industry has advised the appropriate congressional committees that for technical reasons no domestic or imported vegetable oils or animal fats are satisfactory substitutes for coconut oil in the soap kettle, and that if coconut oil is made dutiable the increase in price will just be passed on to the buyer of soap.

Coconut oil does not meet cottonseed oil in competitive fields. The latter article is used mostly in cooking compounds, where the former is not utilized. Before the war cottonseed oil was used in the manufacture of yellow soaps, but the demand for white soaps with high lathering quality necessitated other vegetable oils. From the soap kettle cottonseed oil went to the field of edible industries, where it commands better prices. In the vernacular, coconut oil has kicked cottonseed oil upstairs.

Several suggestions have been advanced regarding coconut oil and copra. One is to denature coconut oil to render it unfit for human consumption, so its use will be confined to nonedible products. Another is to place copra on a dutiable basis compensatory with coconut oil. These suggestions will be met with opposition from several quarters.

The export value of Philippine coconut oil is over $22,000,000 a year. This may not look big in America, but it is more than half of the total annual income of the Philippine government and is one of the economic mainstays of the Filipino people.

WASHINGTON: FOX HUNTER.

The scene is a room at Mount Vernon, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the date February 6, 1773. Up in Boston town ferment spreads and the tea party is only a few months away, but in the Potomac mansion all is quiet save for the crackle of logs in the fireplace. The plantation master, at his desk, turns back through the January entries in his journal. On the 5th he went hunting with Mr. Magowan and together they found a fox on Ackatinck just by Lawson Parker's and lost it. On the 8th he rode to Muddy Hole; nothing sighted. On the 9th he found a fox near Timber Landing only to lose it near Mrs. French's. Out again on the 11th, 13th, 15th, 16th and 23d, and no fortune. The 23d was a little better. That day he ran a fox for near four hours and either killed or treed it, but the wind blowing fresh had thrown him off. The 30th was a day that hurt. Out with Lund Washington and took the drag of a fox by Isaac Gates' and carried it to the old Glebe, then followed a cold scent into Col. Fairfax's Neck, where they found three on a hill just above the creek. Ran them until after dark and had to give up the chase. He dips his quill and writes the entry for the winter day just closed:

> Rode into the Neck, and taking the Hounds with me, after being at the Plantns., found a fox between the two, which was killed in ¾ of an hour.

Discovery of Safe Ways to Steal Would Not Make Thieving Less Contemptible.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

"THIS younger generation is no worse than any other. It is just so frank and honest that it doesn't pull the window shades down."

You have heard much talk like that; and because you are a typical American optimist who hates ugly facts, you have believed it.

Of course this generation of youth is no worse than others—by nature. But in many instances its standard of sex morality is the barnyard standard, and adults have made it so.

The restraining influence of religion is gone. Adults deserted religion because it isn't scientific.

The influence of the rod is gone. Modern adults don't believe in punishing youth—except in the electric chair.

Youth is in the saddle because parents are afraid. Moderns have solved the problem of parenthood by washing their hands of it and trusting their children to work out their own salvation.

Does the result prove their wisdom? Is youth of this generation, for the first time in history, wiser than its parents?

Were the parents of all previous generations wrong when they required service, obedience and respect of their children? Their methods developed many great men and wonderful women. Are present methods proven more wise by the character they develop?

If modern youth is so frank and honest in its sex life, why does it prefer darkness and quiet lanes and distant places?

You know the answer. You know what the automobile has done to youth. You know that every crossroads filling station and lunch stand now sells contraceptives.

Bertrand Russell says sex experience is a wholesome thing for youth because it relieves natural desires and prevents unwholesome repressions.

But children also have a natural desire to take what they want and to injure people who restrain or anger them. Must they relieve themselves by stealing and killing to avoid "repressions?"

If it is wise and decent to scorn ethical restraint and follow desire in one particular, why not in all particulars?

Writers of the Russell school contend that broad-minded modern men think no less of women who have had "affairs." They neither demand nor expect chastity in the women they marry! Some bachelors may say that is true, but try to find a married man who will agree.

Human nature hasn't changed. Wrong hasn't become right because moderns have learned to "get away with it." The libertine and the wanton still are indecent, and parents who fail to teach the truth are storing up trouble for their children.

Local Taxes Hurt.
Fessenden (N. Dak.) Farmer.

We load ourselves up with local taxes until the burden becomes almost confiscatory. Then we have the nerve to sit around and abuse the President for the tax burden—a condition he has little or nothing to do with. As a matter of fact, Federal taxes have declined since 1922, while local taxes have continued to increase up to the levy for 1931. We are prone to howl about Federal and State taxes and forget the taxes imposed close to our homes. Compared to the years just prior to the war, our local taxes have about trebled. As a rule a local bond issue can be floated at any time for anything from a swimming pool to an airport, despite the fact that the bonded indebtedness of that particular unit of local government may be stretched almost to its limit. It is the local taxes that are hurting us, and not the national or State taxes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Singer Thinks Al Smith Is Secretly Boosting Gov. Roosevelt.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Particular significance has been placed by Democrats on the recent victory of Gov. Roosevelt over his adversary, Alfred Emanuel Smith, in the recent New Hampshire primaries as an indication of the comparative strength of these two contenders for the Democratic nomination for President. Loud has been the acclaim of Roosevelt supporters that the results illustrate the desirability for other States to "get on the band wagon," and ride to victory with the most popular candidate.

Smith ran for President in 1928 with disastrous results. He undoubtedly realizes that he can never be elected President, but he, nevertheless is fully aware that he controls enough votes to make his support worthwhile to any contending candidate. Is it not possible that secretly he is a stanch supporter of the very man who seemingly is his outstanding rival, Gov. Roosevelt? Smith's open support of Gov. Roosevelt would alienate many of the Southern and Western States whose support is necessary for his nomination, for they would feel that Gov. Roosevelt has definitely aligned himself with the wet interests of the East. In addition, Gov. Roosevelt has demonstrated his willingness "to play ball" with Tammany Hall by appointing another Tammany henchman to replace former Sheriff Farley. Smith support (that is, publicly declared Smith support) and actual evidence of a Tammany alliance could never gain the whole-hearted support of the South and the West. But Smith, in campaigning against Roosevelt is obtaining support for Roosevelt in sections of the country that would never consent to follow an open Smith-Roosevelt alliance. But at the proper time Smith's entire support will be openly presented to Roosevelt. This will not happen until the delegates of the Democratic party are assembled in the convention hall in Chicago.

Pluvius Approves House Vote on Prohibition for Index Purposes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the excellent and comprehensive article by one of The Post's special writers in regard to the vote on prohibition which is to be taken in the House of Representatives it was stated that representatives will have to declare themselves wet or dry, and that those who are not sure how the majority of their constituents stand are in a quandary.

Is it possible that any congressman doesn't know which way and how strongly the tide is running?

Mr. Folliard remarks: "Of course a straddler could absent himself on the day of the vote, but in the view of many this would put him in wrong with both wets and drys." Right; a real man or woman would rather vote for an avowed opponent, and would just love to vote against a "straddler."

And, in this connection, have you noticed how frequently "government of the people, by the people," &c., is being ignored? If the Howell prohibition enforcement proposal were submitted to a vote of the people of Washington it would be rejected by at least 5 to 1. PLUVIUS.

President of Motion Picture Association Says Block Booking Prevents Theater Owners From Selecting Suitable Shows.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I offer a suggestion in reference to your editorial on children and the movies?

You are quite right in saying that responsibility for seeing that the children do not attend improper movies does not rest with the parents alone. You are quite wrong, in view of trade practices in the motion picture business, in casting that responsibility on the exhibitors.

Children for the most part attend the neighborhood and small town theaters operated by independent exhibitors. These exhibitors have no right of selection but must buy and play all pictures released by the producers with whom they deal. Therefore they are unwilling parties to a scheme for foisting bad pictures on the public.

Won't you first help us attain the right of selection in the matter of the pictures we play and then hold us to strict accountability?

THE DOCTOR PAYS A CALL.

While we were down in Yucatan a native boy fell ill,
And the nurse at Chichen worried and worked as women always will.
She watched by night and she watched by day and she dosed him as best she could,
With a prayer on her lips that a doctor soon might come to that neighborhood.

Eight of us sailed on the Olive K. to discover in Yucatan
The structures built by the Mayan race ere ever our own began.
And we stood aghast at the wonders wrought and we tramped their temples through,
And tried to live with the ancient dead and remold their lives anew.

But a sick boy sighed and our doctor heard and away to his aid he went,
For a suffering lad meant more to him than temple or monument.
And the prettiest sight that I saw down there was that wise and skillful man
Taking the pulse of a jungle boy in the wilds of Yucatan.

Eleven Presentments Are Returned by Grand Jury as True Bills.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 186.

The March term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court opened yesterday morning with Judge Walter T. McCarthy presiding. E. E. Gillette, of Herndon, was selected as foreman of the grand jury. Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr made eleven presentments to the grand jury, of which six were for alleged violation of the Virginia prohibition law. All of the presentments were returned by the jury marked as true bills.

The indictments returned yesterday were against Jerry Cundiff, of River road, for the shooting of Henry Hill, of Alexandria; Franklin Davis, of Mount Vernon district, for felonious maiming; Weston Hill and William Honesty, for housebreaking; J. W. Jacobs, for the possession and transportation of ardent spirits and destroying evidence; Wirt M. Patton, second offense against State prohibition law; Herbert Pettitt, possession and transportation of ardent spirits and destroying evidence; Thomas L. Struder, second offense of driving while drunk; Sam Wells, second offense of possession of ardent spirits, and W. Cary Galleher, forgery of a check for $50.

District Youth Accused.

Two indictments were returned against Joseph Henson Davidson, jr., said to be the son of a lieutenant in the District of Columbia Fire Department, each charging him of being the driver of a hit-and-run automobile on the Washington-Richmond highway about two weeks ago. When he appeared before the court a plea was entered in his behalf asking that his parents be allowed to take him to Washington for a mental examination at Gallinger Hospital prior to having him committed to St. Elizabeths Hospital. Judge McCarthy denied the plea, but ordered that a mental examination be conducted by the Virginia authorities before the youth is tried on the indictments.

Other indictments disposed of by the court yesterday on pleas of guilty were Weston Hill and William Honesty, colored, of Herndon, charged with stealing a quantity of meat from a locked building in the night, were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary each. Thomas L. Struder, of Lincolnia, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail on an indictment charging second offense of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and the suspension of a jail sentence imposed during the last term of court on a similar charge was revoked, making an additional jail sentence of three months; and Sam Wells, of Centerville, indicted for the second offense of possession of ardent spirits was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail. A capias was issued for the apprehension of W. Cary Galleher, indicted for forgery.

Ten Dry Presentments.

Commonwealth's Attorney Farr made ten presentments direct to the court, all charging violation of the State prohibition law. Presentments were made for driving while under the influence of intoxicants against the following: William Finchman, G. W. Jones, D. G. Lough, Curtis B. Newton and Levi J. Speaks.

Presentments charging possession and transportation of ardent spirits were made against William Finchman, Alan Roy and Leon Wilkins; for possession of ardent spirits alone, Franklin Davis and O. H. Olinder.

William Finchman, G. W. Jones, D. G. Lough, Curtis B. Newton and Levi J. Speaks pleaded guilty of driving while drunk and were fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail each. The jail sentences were suspended by the court in each case during good behavior. William Finchman also pleaded guilty to the possession and transportation of ardent spirits and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail. The jail sentence was suspended. Alan Roy was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to three months in jail on a similar charge. A capias was issued for Leon Wilkins, said to be serving a sentence in the Alexandria Jail.

Guilty Pleas Entered.

The following cases, carried over from previous terms of the court, were disposed of on pleas of guilty by the defendants: Harry Johnson, violation of prohibition law, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in jail; Kyle Spenser, charged with possession, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail, the jail sentence being suspended during good behavior; William Lightner, charged with driving while drunk, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail and was ordered discharged from custody of the sheriff without payment of the fine and costs.

The charges of robbery against Stanley Ayers, of Alexandria, were nolle prossed by Commonwealth's Attorney Farr. Ayers was convicted on the charges several months ago in the circuit court on the testimony of witnesses other than the men he is said to have held up. He appealed the sentence of eight years imposed by the jury to the Virginia Court of Appeals, which returned the case to the Fairfax court with orders for a new trial.

Alexandria Police Hunt Goat Missing in Transit

"Please find out who got our goat," was the rather unusual request received by the Alexandria Police Department yesterday from Potomac Yards.

Freely translated, this means that a small white goat escaped yesterday from a car in transit through the Potomac freight yards, and the officials deemed this of sufficient importance to ask the police to institute a search for the missing animal. Word of the escape was flashed to all police cars, but the goat was still at large.

Hoover Will Aid Dedication Of Washington Memorial

Accepts Invitation to Participate in Ceremonies at Alexandria Masonic Shrine May 12; Reception Committees Are Named.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

President Hoover, in a letter addressed to Col. Louis A. Watres, president of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association, has definitely accepted an invitation to be present at the dedication of the memorial temple in Alexandria on May 12. It is expected he will arrive shortly before 1 o'clock, when the exercises are scheduled to begin. It is uncertain whether or not the President will deliver an address.

President Hoover will be the second Chief Executive of the United States to participate in exercises pertaining to the Masonic memorial temple, President Calvin Coolidge, on November 1, 1923, having been present at the laying of the corner stone of this imposing structure, taking an active part by spreading mortar with the trowel used by George Washington in laying the corner stone of the Capitol, and which now is in possession of the Alexandria-Washington Lodge, of Alexandria, of which Washington was the first worshipful master.

Chairman Robert S. Barrett, of the committee on arrangements for the dedication, has appointed a special committee to receive the President and look after his comfort, composed of former Representative Charles C. Carlin, former Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, and Col. Edgar Warfield, the last named being the last survivor of the Alexandrians who marched in 1861 with the Confederate forces.

A number of Cabinet officers also have accepted invitations, and a committee composed of Mayor Edmund F Ticer, W. Selden Washington, past master of Alexandria-Washington Lodge and a collateral descendant of George Washington, and F. Clinton Knight, master of Andrew Jackson Lodge, of Alexandria, has been appointed to meet them.

Many senators and representatives also have accepted invitations, and the committee appointed to greet them is composed of Representative Howard W. Smith, Mayor J. Fulmer Bright of Richmond; Representative C. A. Woodrum, of Roanoke; Delegate J. Fred Birrell, of Alexandria, and Arthur E. Cook, of Washington.

Special committees will be appointed to receive each of the grand masters and high Masonic dignitaries, many of whom will come from foreign lands, who will be present.

Famous 'Revenoor,' 86, Is Dead in Oklahoma

Bristow, Okla., March 21 (A.P.).—W. W. (Uncle Billy) Freshour, the Tennessee "revenoor" who drove the oil boom hoodlums out of Bristow, dropped dead today. He was 86 years old. Made chief of police here in 1919, "Uncle Billy" warred on the undesirables with a billiard cue and a sawed-off shotgun and kept the town peaceful after one fatal gunfight.

As a boy of 15 he enlisted in the Ninth Tennessee Cavalry and rode through many Civil War battles as a Confederate. Later, in charge of revenue activities in 36 eastern Tennessee counties, he was said to have captured 1,500 stills in fourteen years.

Mr. Robb was foreman of a group of men employed by the District employment committee at the Chevy Chase Playground. He came to Washington about six months ago after the depression affected the business in which he had been successfully engaged in the Middle West for some years. He was a native of Gays Mill, Wis.

Inquest Ordered In Police Fatality

Grissam Is Believed Victim of Bicycle Collision With Auto.

Although the theory that William J. Grissam, United States park policeman, who was found early Sunday lying unconscious on John Marshall place near Pennsylvania avenue northwest and died later in Emergency Hospital, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver has been virtually abandoned, Coroner Joseph D. Rogers ordered an inquest at the District Morgue at 11 o'clock this morning.

Following a preliminary investigation of the case, police were inclined to believe that Grissam fell from his bicycle after striking a parked car. Dents in the fender and rear license plate of a machine parked near the spot where the policeman was found, led to the collision theory.

Finding that Grissam died of a fractured skull and lung injuries, Coroner Rogers ordered an extensive investigation. The handlebars and frame work on the officer's bicycle were found to be bent.

Interfederation Conference Urges Car Merger Here

Legislation authorizing merger of the local street car companies, with the recommendation that all details of the amalgamation be left to the discretion of the Public Utilities Commission, was urged by the Interfederation Conference at a meeting last night at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The report on which this action was based, submitted by Col. A. B. Barber, pointed out that the primary purpose of the merger is for the general improvement of the utilities and for the benefit of the public. Congress can serve this end by passing the legislation, and the Public Utilities Commission can be well depended on to do the rest of the work, it was remarked.

Two hours of last night's meeting was devoted to consideration of broadening the activities of the Community Chest to take in surrounding counties, Elwood Street, director of the Chest, leading the discussion. Director Street was questioned on all phases of the plan by the conference representatives. Dr. J. W. Bird president of the Montgomery County Social Welfare League, was among those present.

The discussion was climaxed with adoption of a motion authorizing Stephen James, president of the conference, to appoint a committee to continue study of the matter.

Alexandrians Plan Council Plan Study

Citizens Association Will Hold Special Election Debate Tomorrow.

Edwin E. Carver, president of the Alexandria Citizens Association, has issued a call for a meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Potomac Community Hall, for the purpose of discussing the special election to be held on March 29, when the voters of Alexandria will decide whether the "Council at Large" plan or the "Council by Wards" plan of electing members of the city council shall be adopted. The former plan provides for the election of seven members of the council, all to be chosen at large, and the latter would mean the election of six members, one from each of the voting wards of the city, and three members at large.

Under the first-named plan all members would serve four years, while the ward plan provides for the members elected from the wards to serve two years each, and those at large three years each. The plan now in use provides for five councilmen, all elected at large, their terms being four years each, this being the original set-up.

The general public has been invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

Negro Community Upset When "Corpse" Arises

Gulfport, Miss., March 21 (A.P.).—Negroes of the Handsboro community are spreading the word far and wide about the "corpse" that "riz up and walked."

A woman of the neighborhood died, reputedly of poison. Justice of the Peace H. C. Moore and Deputy Sheriff Edward Vanzandt were called to her home to hold an inquest.

The Negroes gathered about in solemn mien to watch the progress of the examination.

Suddenly the woman opened her eyes, arose from her couch and spoke an emphatic denial of death.

The crowd dispersed much in the manner of a terrified army's retreat.

Holding of Special Elections to Be Discussed Tuesday in Lyon Park.

BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The merits of the so-called Byrd road plan recently enacted by the General Assembly and the question of holding a special election in Arlington County to determine whether the county shall remain under the plan or withdraw from it will be discussed at a mass meeting in Lyon Park Community House next Tuesday night.

The meeting will be under auspices of the Lyon Park Citizens Association in place of the regular meeting which was to have been held tonight.

State Senator John W. Rust, of Fairfax, and Delegate Hugh Reid, of Arlington County, will explain the provisions of the bill. Under the plan, according to the statements of its sponsors in the General Assembly, the State, on and after July 1, will take over the road equipment of the counties and will maintain the county roads as a secondary State highway system. However, any county wishing to withdraw from the plan may do so by holding a special election on the question before July 1. Generally, counties which do not withdraw from the plan will not be permitted thereafter to levy road taxes nor will they receive any portion of the State gasoline taxes.

The meeting will be open to all citizens of the county desiring to attend. Special invitations have gone out to presidents of all local associations in the county and other civic leaders, including members of the county board.

Klemm Won't Quit Race for Congress

Refuses to Give Way to Gambrill and Save Primary Cost.

Dr. John William Klemm will not withdraw from the race for the Democratic nomination for representative from the Fifth Maryland Congressional District, he said yesterday.

It had been suggested that Dr. Klemm take his name from the list of candidates to save the voters the cost of a primary election. He has run against the incumbent, Stephen W. Gambrill, several times before. The contest between Dr. Klemm and Mr. Gambrill is the only fight in view, and makes the holding of the primary necessary. This election will cost the country about $10,000, and the district about $50,000.

"I'm not going to withdraw. Why do they want me to withdraw? Why not ask the other man? The office is not for him indefinitely," Dr. Klemm declared. He is running on a bone-dry platform, he said last night at his home in Mount Rainier.

Plans have been made for a new two-story building, with a courtroom about twice the size of the present one on the second floor.

M'CENEY WILL HEAD COUNTY GRAND JURY

Montgomery Judge Declares Serious Crimes to Come Before Inquisitors.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

William H. McCeney, of Colesville, Md., was selected as foreman of the Montgomery County Grand Jury at the convening of the County Circuit Court yesterday, at Rockville, Md. Judge Robert B. Peter selected Mr. McCeney after the 23 members of the inquisitorial body had been drawn in accordance with the usual customs of the court. He is a prominent farmer of the Colesville district and a member of the County Board of Education.

In charging the grand jury, Judge Peter told them that he regretted he was unable to advise them that no serious crime had been perpetrated in the county since the last grand jury session. He said that he referred to one serious offense, presumably the murder of Horace D. Waters, 79-year-old merchant of Old Germantown, in which the culprits had not been apprehended but in which there is a possibility they will be placed under arrest. He warned the grand jurors that they must maintain absolute secrecy regarding all that transpires in the grand jury room. The grand jury then retired to its room and began examination of witnesses.

The following were named to be members of the petit jury for the March term: Henry W. Schuerger, Arthur Eckloff, Chester C. Bogley, Preston L. Snyder, W. Trailla Carlisle, Roland Wootton, Elbin Leishear, Bernard T. Brosius, William J. Umstead, James W. Howes, Tudor U. Heeter, Hugh Rabbitt, Edward Gandy, Alfred L. Fraley, Carson W. Pope, Marshall N. Walker, James H. Anderson, Albert F. Thompson, James M. Daniels, Noble B. Embrey, Edward J. Medeary, Walter K. Matthews, William Ashton Berry, George B. Remsburg and Laurence B. Jones.

Most of the day was devoted to calling the docket and setting cases for trial. Trial of civil cases and criminal appeal cases will be held first while the grand jury deliberates. Trial of criminal cases will begin March 31. The court docket is one of the heaviest in its history.

GAYETY

"BLACK AND WHITE REVUE." A Columbia Burlesque attraction featuring Billy Fields, Bimbo Davis, Wanda de Von and Jean Lee and the Club Prudhom Revue, with Elmer Calloway and his orchestra. Reviewed by W. L. Wright.

This is bargain week at the Gayety and Jimmy Lake is offering two excellent shows for the price of one. "The Black and White Revue," the event of the season, is snappy, fast-moving entertainment and should be seen by all who like spicy comedy, "hot" jazz and peppy dancing.

Featuring the first half of this attraction is that past master of comedy, Billy ("Laugh-a-Minute") Fields. Bimbo Davis, his sidekick, needs no introduction in Washington. This pair have the house in a continuous uproar and with Chuck Callahan, Frank Dufrane, Jess Mack and Larry Clark to lend aid occasionally, form a combination hard to beat.

Wanda de Von, a red-headed beauty of no mean ability, made two appearances that left the boys clamoring for more. Always a favorite at this theater, Wanda made many new friends at last night's performance.

Jean Lee, another red head, and Joy St. Claire, a newcomer to these parts, put over their numbers in approved style. Eloise Dwan, prima donna of the company, won much deserved applause with several fine vocal numbers.

The Club Prudhom Revue, an aggregation of colored stars, led by Elmer Calloway and his Cub Prudhom Orchestra, put on an excellent show for the second half of this double-header. Any lover of jazz, hot and hotter, should hear this crowd and see Calloway do his stuff.

With this revue is Bea Ford, a clever singer, and three fast and snappy dancers, Blake, Simmons and James. This trio stopped the show with the best foot work of the year.

New Virginia Map Is Tourist Guide

Historic Landmarks Are Boldly Outlined With Road Details.

A new map of an area of about 235 miles, mostly in the northern part of Virginia, including Wakefield, the birthplace of George Washington, has just been published by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, as a guide to visitors to the historic landmarks.

Wakefield is now a national shrine, and the house and grounds have been restored to approximately the condition they were in when occupied by the Washington family. The map, which can be obtained from the Geological Survey, shows also the birthplace of Robert E. Lee at Stratford, 5 miles southeast of Wakefield.

The region around Wakefield was settled soon after the founding of Jamestown. The greater part of it is still covered with forests. All points of general interest, however, are connected by improved highways, which are shown on the map by a red overprint so that they can be easily identified and followed.

Letters Found Believed Messages to Pharaoh

London, March 21 (A.P.).—What are believed to be letters to the Egyptian Pharaoh from cities of Palestine, imploring military aid to help stem the invasion of the Israelites of the Exodus have been found near Tel El Amarna, Egypt, said a statement today by Sir Charles Marston, noted Biblical archeologist.

Sir Charles' expedition, under Prof. John Garstang, is exploring the site of ancient Jericho.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Blondes Should Stick to Delicate Make-Up.

SINCE it is her delicate coloring and fragile skin that characterize the blonde, she is wise to play up and preserve these fragile charms. Her make-up should be as fair and soft as her skin and eyes. Vivid rouge and lipstick should be avoided. A too obvious make-up is in poor taste for all types, but for the blonde it is particularly devastating.

Elsie Pierce.

You have often heard the term "cheap." That is exactly the effect a vivid make-up or a too heavy and generous application gives the blonde. Bright rouge that screams, powder put on in a heavy mask, strike discordant notes when accompanied by a soft, fair skin.

This rule of soft make-up applies to all blondes, even though the actual shades of rouge and powder and lipstick may vary as the color of the individual's hair and eyes vary and the skin particularly.

Rules for Color Combinations.

One of the most difficult questions to answer is, "What shade of rouge or powder shall I use, or what colors shall I wear?" Every individual is a law unto herself. It would be a very simple thing if we could pigeonhole all humans into definite and distinct classes of blonde, brunette, redhead, &c. But not all blondes have a fair skin and light eyes and not all brunettes are really dark. In fact, you will meet many a golden-haired lass with a skin several shades darker than her Castillian brunette cousin. That is why any rules for make-up shades and becoming colors in costumes have to be very arbitrary at best. When outlining these, I offer them as very general suggestions. Try them. If they suit you, I am pleased. If not, experiment with an eye to enhancing your own individuality and your own coloring.

Types of Blondes.

Blondes fall into several classes:

The Nordic blonde—with fair skin, blue eyes and gold hair. For her a delicate powder which many manufacturers call naturelle, a light shade of rouge with just a trace of orange in it, light lipstick to match and blue eyeshadow should be flattering.

The Anglo blonde—whose hair is ash blonde, eyes gray, hazel or brown and quite pale skin. For her a creamy or naturelle powder for daytime, a peach for evening. Her rouge should be light, a clear red tone, mascara of light brown and eyeshadow to match the eyes in color.

The Celtic blonde—vivacious and vivid, gorgeous eyes of violet hue, hair with chestnut brown tones in it, fair skin with healthy natural coloring. She can wear a deeper shade of rouge than the others, a medium shade with clear red tones, lipstick to match and a special blend of powder with light rachel tones, eyeshadow of a deep sea blue.

For evening, the rouge may be brighter and powder lighter for all types. A bit of mauve or peach powder blended with the daytime powder makes a splendid shade for evening.

Vivid colors in costumes are also out of keeping with the delicate coloring of the blonde. I have a complete color chart, which is yours for the asking. It will tell you what colors should be especially lovely for your type, what colors are passable and what colors you should avoid. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Molyneux elegance and discretion in a green and lynx trimmed coat dress for spring. And two hats, one of black and one of white fine straw, expressing widely different phases of the spring mode.

NEW YORK, March 21.—How heroic is luxury!

Oh, France, luxury loving, luxury inspiring, luxury giving! Many are your trials, many the crises through which you have passed, but always and ever, elegance and luxury are yours to have and to give.

This year again France has triumphed in her taste. Everywhere her lovely ladies appear, if anything more sumptuously gowned, more luxuriously furred, more lavishly bejeweled. And many of the couturieres, with true heroism, have shown a spring and summer collection abounding in luxury and richness. The heroism lies in the fact that while the collections and gatherings of elegants display as much richness and luxuriousness as ever before, this is only done at great personal expense to both the individual and the couturier.

For prices are less, but the couturier is losing thousands, even millions, of francs thereby, as well as the furriers, the fabric makers and the jewelers who are obliged to sell things that were made in precrisis days at a fourth of their cost. Yet they do it, and never a ripple mars the surface of their cheerfulness, never a hint of their losses does one find in their manner or their offerings! This to keep things in circulation, to guard against a complete paralysis of industry, employment and the death of culture.

The individuals with money nobly respond in France. Though they, too, have suffered many and heavy losses, far more than the bourgeois who, having little to lose, lost that and was only back where he started. Maybe not five but one gown miladi will have. Maybe not ropes of pearls but at least a "petite collier."

Ah, luxurious France, we salute you!

* * * *

Molyneux offers elegance in a discreet way, as usual, in the green coat dress I sketch for you today. The collar is lynx, the lines are practical and elegant, and the whole is typically Molyneux.

* * * *

Straws have it for spring beyond a doubt. And fine straws, as well as the shiny ones. Today I illustrate two of the fine ones, the upper one white, with a brown grosgrain band, for spring strolls in the Bois or Central Park. And the lower one is a black straw, for the afternoon, and perhaps the more sophisticated type. The ribbon was lightweight cire satin.

* * * *

All the costume slips you need at last. By just sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make them out of one yard of material. And bias ones, too. You get the leaflet, make the first one out of unbleached muslin, try it on, alter it, and then cut all the rest from that model, in the big dressmaker way. And you lose nothing if you don't happen to like the style. Better send for the leaflet.

Au revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES McDONALD

ONE-TRACK MINDS.

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: I am not very clever at putting my thoughts on paper, but I hope you can understand my problem and perhaps help me a little.

Please tell me what happens to very young divorcees? Myself, for instance; young, fair amount of good looks, some personality and not exactly dumb. But here everything ends. I am divorced and have a small daughter, and I really don't know what to do. A career doesn't interest me. There is only one thing that I seem to feel I'm fitted for and that's marriage. From the little I know of marriage I found out that it was the only career I ever wanted.

But I had the wrong husband. He was so ultramodern, I just couldn't keep up with him. His ideas of life were too free and easy. Perhaps I might have gotten used to it in time. But I didn't have a chance. He left for good. So here I am now, back where I started from, only with the added responsibility of being a mother. And what good can a mother be without the help of a husband? And although it is leap year I can't very well chase every man I see.

And then, too, men seem rather skeptical about marrying a divorced woman—one with a child. I wonder why? Do you think I should stop thinking of marriage and cultivate other interests? I have opportunities to do things, and I'm certainly not looking for a meal ticket. I get along very well on my own. Thank you for any advice you may offer.

"FORGOTTEN."

Other interests and plenty of them, are the answer to your problem. You see men have a horror of a woman with a one-track mind. And the woman who sees only one possible route for a woman to travel is that kind of woman. Had you developed a few independent interests before marrying the first time, your husband would probably be your husband still. But the effort of trying to carry interests for two people proved a bit too much for his resources.

The number of women who sit all day waiting for the sound of a key in the lock as the high spot of the 24 hours is legion, and accounts for the number of men who manage to have dates away from home as many evenings as possible. Men are, as a whole, keyed for high pressure, they match wits all day long with other men. And when they return to their homes to some one who has not had a thought in days, the result is what might be expected. And it is a significant fact that the woman who feels marriage is the only career in which she could find interest, is of all women least fitted to make a success of such a career. It is high time all women realized that marriage is something more than a "way out." It takes as much mentality to hold a husband as to hold a job. It, as a matter of fact, is a job. And while it is the one job where an applicant is not required to have "experience," it will soon be one in which she will be expected to have at least "training." When that day arrives fewer men will be writing to this column to tell of their boredom, their inability to get their wives to read, to think and to talk intelligently. Last week a man told us that the only thing his wife could talk about was what they were eating. Cooking. Food. No man is interested in food except when hungry, and then only to the point of getting it on his plate. He has no mental interest in it. Yet thousands are forced to talk about it as if it were a world event.

Cultivate the interests that will make you choose a man and build a marriage around him, instead of choosing marriage and planting a man in the middle of it. You see what happens to "very young divorcees" as a rule is that they speedily do the same thing right over again, marry in haste and blame the man. So give a little thought to the next venture, and build up a life of your own before you marry again. Have something to offer, something to withhold. Be an interesting person—not just somebody's well-meaning mate.

Culbertson on Bridge

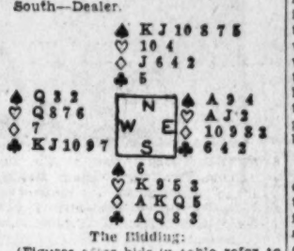
CONCEALING STRENGTH.

TO tell your partner enough to encourage him to continue the bidding and yet conceal part of your strength from your opponents so that they may be encouraged to overbid, or, if you secure the final contract, make a favorable lead is one of the foundation stones of winning Contract bidding. It is your duty to your partner to picture your holdings so clearly that the best contract in the combined hands may be reached. It is also your duty to your partner to conceal as well as may be the distribution of your forces, provided partner is not misled thereby. It is more important to give correct information to your partner than it is to mislead your opponents. These are two of the fundamentals of success at the Bridge table.

An illustration of the carrying out of these principles is given in the hand below, played recently at the Cavendish Club in New York.

South—Dealer.



The bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1◇	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♡(1)	Pass	3◇(2)	Pass
3NT(3)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—South reasons that this hand should be played at notrump. If North can assist hearts, then a bid of three notrump is eminently sound; if North has no strength in hearts, then a bid of that suit may prevent a heart opening. Thus planning the strategy of the hand, South decides to conceal the second biddable suit as with the bidding its opening is the most probable.

2—North's spade suit is not rebiddable, but he has a sound Raise for diamonds.

3—South's strategy has succeeded.

As South hoped, West opened the Knave of clubs, which was won by the Queen in the closed hand. A spade was then led to the Dummy and the Ten finessed. East refused to win, as he felt certain the diamond Knave was an entry and, of course, was unaware of the fact that South held only one spade. The Ten of hearts was led from the Dummy. East and South played small and West won with the Queen and led another round of clubs, which South permitted to hold.

South won the third round of clubs with the Ace and then played four rounds of diamonds, winning the last in the Dummy with the Knave. He then led Dummy's last heart, upon which East played the Knave. South won with the King and put East in the lead with another heart, forcing him at the end to concede a trick to the spade King, thus giving South a game as the reward of his strategic bidding.

TODAY'S POINTER.

When during the bidding you are certain as to the best eventual contract, later bidding should be an effort to conceal the disposition of your strength from the opponents, while optimistic enough to encourage your partner to continue.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

Poor Man's Cake, Gingerbread and a Menu.

"Dear Madam: Kindly publish in your column of the paper, which I read daily with great interest in these depressing times, a recipe for good gingerbread, also one for an eggless and butterless cake, and oblige, respectfully yours, A. H."

We call our eggless, butterless cake "poor man's cake," A. H., which has always seemed a touch of quaintness to me. As for the gingerbread, this one we offer is a dandy, of the never-go-wrong variety, so I am sure you will enjoy adding it to your recipe file. Come again when our institute may be of assistance. We are always glad to hear from friends, especially those who read us daily, for it gives us the nice feeling which comes of knowledge that we are of real help to our home makers of the countryside.

Gingerbread.
(For "A. H.")

1 egg, well beaten
1 cupful sour milk
½ cupful melted butter
2 1-3 cupfuls flour
2 teaspoonfuls ginger
½ teaspoonful salt
1¾ teaspoonfuls soda
1 cupful molasses

Mix sour milk, egg and molasses. Sift together dry ingredients. Combine mixtures, add butter and beat vigorously. Pour into buttered shallow pan and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees).

Poor Man's Cake.
(Also for "A. H."

1 cupful brown sugar
2 cupfuls raisins, seeded
2 cupfuls flour
1 cupful water
1-3 cupful shortening
1 teaspoonful cinnamon
1 teaspoonful soda
½ teaspoonful cloves
½ teaspoonful baking powder
¼ teaspoonful nutmeg
¼ teaspoonful salt

Bring to boiling point all the ingredients except flour, baking powder and soda and boil for three minutes. Let cool. Then sift in dry ingredients and beat three minutes. Bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. This quantity makes one loaf.

Now—our menu for tomorrow and it's an old friend upon which we predicate our planning—a French omelet with mushrooms—made in the true French (top stove) method.

WEDNESDAY'S DINNER.

French Omelet with Mushrooms
Spanish Fried Potatoes
Caramel Tomatoes
Dressed Watercress
Spring Fruit Cup
Tea

French Omelet With Mushrooms.

4 eggs—beaten
4 tablespoonfuls milk
Salt and pepper
¼ pound mushrooms—cut in small pieces
2 tablespoonfuls butter
1 clove garlic

Beat eggs, add milk and salt and pepper. Heat one tablespoonful butter in frying pan which has first been wiped with the garlic clove. Saute the mushrooms in the butter, add the egg mixture and cook slowly, lifting bottom of omelet with flexible knife as it cooks until of desired consistency. Serve at once.

Spanish Fried Potatoes.

6 boiled potatoes
½ green pepper
2 tablespoonfuls pimiento
½ onion
1 teaspoonful salt
Dash of pepper
4 tablespoonfuls bacon drippings

Dice green pepper, pimiento and onion. Cook slowly in the fat until onion is tender but not brown. Add sliced potatoes. Season with salt and pepper. Fry until crisp and brown, stirring occasionally.

Spring Fruit Cup.

2 whole grapefruit
5 oranges
Juice of 1 lemon
2 cupfuls fresh strawberries
1 cupful sugar
¼ cupful nonalcoholic sherry flavoring.

Cut the oranges and grapefruit in small pieces. Wash and drain the strawberries and combine with the oranges and grapefruit. Add sugar and lemon juice to the fruit and chill thoroughly.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

DAYTIME CHIC.

This is quite the loveliest coat-type dress of the season.

It is cut so as to give the figure a youthful slim appearance.

It's easily made. The long-waisted bodice joins the skirt. You'll be amazed at its simplicity.

It's stunning in navy blue rough crepe silk, with white crepe trim. It's so lovely for undercoat wear now and so smart alone for the warmer spring days.

Sheer woolens and crepe silk prints are also very smart to fashion it.

Style No. 627 is designed for sizes 16, 18 and 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 bust. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material, with 1¼ yards of 39-inch contrasting.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SHEDDING FINGER NAILS.

THE nails are produced by skin tissues located in what is called the root area. They are nothing more than skin, modified in certain ways, in order to serve certain purposes. At the time they emerge from under the skin the nail structure is complete. Nothing thereafter is added or subtracted except for the ordinary training of the free end. Ridging in different directions is already proceeding according to pattern when the hard structure comes into view. If there be any exception it is in the appearance of white spots, though most of these move from backstage with the growing nail.

One practical lesson to be drawn from these facts is the danger that lies in too much manicuring. Pushing back the cuticle and trimming and handling around the root area are liable to result in abnormalities of the nails.

In the light of these facts it is not easy to understand just why the nail should be attached to a bed from its root to its free edge. That the bed serves to hold the nail in place and to prevent it from acting as a foreign body is one purpose, but scarcely requires the nail bed to have as much blood supply and as close connection with the nail as there is.

However, the connection is not difficult to break. In injuries to the fingers the nails may be torn loose. If the finger tips are pinched, as by a door, the nails are very apt to loosen eventually and to come away, even though at the time of accident the injury did not appear to have been of any moment.

In certain trades something in relation to the work is responsible for the appearance of brown spots under the nails, followed by rather rapid loosening and eventual shedding. Dr. H. J. Templeton reports a series of people who lost their nails as a result of washing catsup bottles. Not long after taking up this work brown spots under the nails were noted. Shortly afterward the nail was rapidly loosed from its bed and, before long, it came away. If the work were changed new and normal nails came back. The injury was to the nail bed and the nail root was spared. Dr. Templeton was not able to decide just what there was about washing catsup bottles that did the harm.

CHILBLAINS.

H. S. B. writes: As you say, information on chilblains is very scarce. The following remedy has proved effective in one case, to my knowledge: My young daughter suffered several winters with chilblains. I went to the drug store seeking a remedy and a customer, overhearing my conversation, advised me to try oil of peppermint rubbed on the feet and to leave them unconfined until evaporation had ceased. I followed his advice and my daughter experienced immediate relief. She continued to use it that winter, but has never had occasion to use it since. That was 20 years ago.

A. E. Q. writes: About fifteen years ago I used the following, after home remedies and a doctor's prescription had failed: Due to frost bites, my feet would swell, itch, hurt, turn blue, and break into ugly cracks. I suffered agonies and, at times, was unable to work. Then I had a druggist mix one-quarter ounce spirits of ammonia, one-quarter ounce turpentine, one-quarter ounce olive oil, one-quarter ounce oil of peppermint (or wintergreen).

M. C. B. writes: Do you know of oil of hemlock for chilblains? It was recommended to me by a teacher many years ago and proved very effective. My toes were swollen dreadfully, and at times I could not get my shoes on. Applications of the oil seemed to relieve the itching and burning, to draw out the inflammation, and to shrink the skin, the chilblains finally disappearing entirely.

A. O. P. writes: May I tell what a chiropodist has learned about chilblains? The trouble is produced by a chilling of the part, which slows the cutaneous circulation and leads to congestion and inflammation. The parts most frequently affected are the toes and joints. It is characterized by redness and itching. Often much pain is present. In severe cases the color may be a deep purple, and the skin may present a "bruised apple" appearance. A pus formation is not uncommon.

Dampness, cold rains, melting snows, and cold floors are more apt to cause chilblains than dry cold of low temperature. Young people are more affected than old, and it is more common among women. Excessive perspiration renders the victim more susceptible.

The general circulation must be kept up in tone. The feet must be kept dry and warm. A broad-toed Oxford tie affords far better protection than the thin pump or strap shoe which exposes half the foot.

Powder the feet daily to take up excess moisture. Daily hot and cold foot baths are helpful. On coming in out of the cold, avoid the radiators. Sponge the feet with cold water and give them a brisk rub with a coarse towel. Then put on fresh footwear.

A lead water lotion (shallow teaspoonful of lead acetate to a pint of cold water) will relieve intense inflammation and swelling. Ichthyol ointment (as high as 40 per cent strength) is also beneficial. For mild inflammation apply a 5 per cent solution of silver nitrate.

REPLY.

There are many chilblain remedies. I am sure readers could supply 50 more. Each has proved satisfactory on certain occasions and unsatisfactory on others. The question is somewhat more intricate than use of a local application for relief.

Rubbing a frozen member with snow is serviceable provided the snow is very clean. Much of the snow used for rubbing such cases acts like sandpaper. The snow should be used as soon as the frozen or badly chilled condition is discovered.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to make house plants bloom. I am a lover of flowers and can coax them to make a splendid, healthy growth, but can not get them to set buds in the house. Outdoors my plants always bloom well.

MRS. EMMA A.

Perhaps you are trying to get plants which are resting to bloom; this is impossible. Again, you may be trying to have plants bloom in north windows; this is also impossible. Blooming plants must in every case have sunshine. The fact that they grow well is an indication that you are watering them correctly and that you are supplying them with the proper soil.

Please tell me what to do to keep the leaves and fruit from falling from a Jerusalem cherry tree.

MRS. HOWARD F. T.

Keep the plant in a cool, sunny place, where there is plenty of fresh air, and water it every day. It is the warm, dry air of your house that is causing the plant to shed both leaves and fruit.

Please tell me how to care for a genista after it has finished flowering.

MARION D. T.

After the genista has finished flowering in March or April cut back the plant, shift it into a slightly larger pot and syringe daily until well established. Then move the plant to an airy place and provide some slight shade for it. As soon as danger from frost is past, set it out of doors for the summer and syringe daily. Leave it out until it is threatened by frost, then store it in a cool, light place, where the temperature does not exceed 40 degrees at night. After the first of the year, or about this time, you should remove the plant to a much warmer place, where it will soon develop flower buds.

Please tell me how to test manure for weeds. There may be no such test, but I think you mentioned one last summer in your column.

VIRGINIA D. W.

To test manure for weeds, spread it out over the bottom of a cigar box and keep it warm and moist. In a week or ten days weed seedlings will begin to appear on the surface of the manure. If they fail to appear you can be reasonably sure that the fertilizer is safe to use in any part of the garden.

Please tell me what kind of soil to use to fill a window basket. I mean to suspend the basket in a sunny window.

FREDA F. R.

To be successful with a hanging basket the soil must be just right. One composed of one-half good garden loam and one-quarter part each of sand and manure is most satisfactory. The whole should be thoroughly pulverized and mixed before using. Never attempt to grow several different varieties in one basket. One variety makes a more pleasing effect. Moreover, unless the basket is very large there is never sufficient root room to sustain in full vigor a variety of strong growing vines.

Please tell me the objection, if any, to painting a flower pot. H. A. P.

The objection is due to the fact that the paint makes the pot less porous.

Please tell me where I can get some information on Chinese or Japanese landscape gardening.

MRS. CHARLES K.

If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I will send you the name of a publisher listing a book on this subject. I would also suggest that you can look over the garden books in the public library. You may be able to find just what you wish.

(Copyright, 1932.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

Handbook on Marriage Bars Birth-Control Data

London, March 21 (A.P.).—A new handbook on marriage to aid the clergy, social workers and others who often are called upon to give advice to young couples, is to be published in May by the British Social Hygiene Council, it was announced today.

It deals with the physiological and psychological factors in marriage, but it is not a "handbook on marriage and birth control," as it has been described in some quarters, the council spokesman said. He explained that the members of the council had decided that birth control was outside the scope of its work.

May 1 Is Set by Hoover As Child Health Day

(Associated Press.)

Seeking a wider opportunity for the physical and mental development of American children, President Hoover yesterday issued an official proclamation setting aside May 1, 1932, as Child Health Day.

The proclamation issued from the White House invited "all agencies and organizations interested in child welfare to unite upon that day in the observance of such exercises as will awaken the people of the Nation to the fundamental necessity of unremitting effort for the protection and development of the health of the Nations children."

The presidential proclamation follows:

"Whereas the Congress of the United States, by enactment of May 18, 1928, requested the President to Proclaim May 1 as Child Health Day, for national consideration of this subject; and,

"Whereas the children of this Nation are our most precious possession, the causes and objects of our deepest affections, and in them is the promise of our future homes; and,

"Whereas we have in them the constant and unfailing source of vitality, wealth and leadership, the future benefits of which to the Nation depend upon the health and protection of children today; and,

"Whereas the knowledge of how to protect and promote their health, physical, mental, and spiritual, is more accessable than ever before, as the reports to the White House conference on child health and protection give tangible evidence;

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim May 1, 1932, to be Child Health Day, and do invite all agencies and organizations interested in child welfare to unite upon that day in the observance of such exercises as will awaken the people of the Nation to the fundamental necessity of unremitting effort for the protection and development of the health of the Nation's children."

Proof of 'Oldoway Man' Being Oldest Is Asserted

London, March 21 (A.P.).—Proof that the "Oldoway Man," whose skeleton was found in Tanganyika, East Africa, in 1913, is the oldest modern type of man yet known has been discovered by an expedition now exploring there, according to A. E. Hopwood, of the London Museum of Natural History.

Tools and other objects found by the Tanganyika expedition, he said, indicate that the "Oldoway Man" equalled culturally the Heidelberg man. Although it would be impossible to date the Oldoway man accurately, he said, and "he might be 100,000 or 1,000,000 years old," he is "infinitely older than anything yet found," although there have been older fragments of skeletons.

LIQUOR CASE REVIEW DENIED FRANK SHORE

Sentence in Trunk Seizures Must Stand; Taking of Motors to Be Heard.

Frank Shore, 48 years old, who was arrested January 28, 1929, when detectives, led by prohibition agents, raided premises at 1223 New York avenue, and confiscated three trunks filled with liquor, said to have been shipped from Florida, and convicted of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was yesterday refused a review by the Supreme Court.

A prohibition agent was said to have received a tip that three trunks of whisky were being shipped from Florida to the New York avenue address, and 95 quarts of whisky, 3 gallons of alcohol, 168 quarts of beer and 7 quarts of gin were confiscated by the raiding party.

Three trunk loads of the beverage were brought up to the premises by an express wagon and when the trunks were taken into the building, detectives rushed in, finding Shore and the whisky.

Fred Palm will have to serve the sentence that has been imposed upon him by Michigan for having a pint if gin in his home at Lansing. The Supreme Court yesterday refused to take a hand in the case.

Palm was convicted in 1927 and sentenced to from 6 months to 2 years in the State penitentiary as a second offender. Later it was found that he was a fourth offender, which under Michigan laws required the imposition of a life sentence.

He was resentenced to life, but this was later commuted by the governor to an indeterminate sentence of from 7½ to 15 years, which he is now serving.

The contention of the United States that it has the right to seize automobiles found transporting liquor without giving the owners an opportunity to recover them will be heard by the Supreme Court.

It granted an appeal to the Government yesterday in three cases from southern Texas, in which the lower Federal courts had held the Commercial Credit Co. had the right to recover motor vehicles that had been confiscated.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 229

THE Nation's grief at the death of President William McKinley is recalled in the above photo of the United States Marines in the state funeral, along Pennsylvania avenue, September 17, 1901, as crowds lined the route of the cortege to pay their respects to the dead leader. Buildings were draped in black, and flags were lowered to half-mast on the day of mourning.

The Washington Post Building, seen in the picture, displayed a large picture of the President, with black borders. A drizzling rain descended on the crowds, and many sought refuge under the large shade trees, which were planted along the Avenue.

President McKinley was shot by a Polish anarchist, Leon F. Czolgosz, while attending the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, N. Y., September 6, 1901. He died in Buffalo on the 14th, and his body was brought to Washington two days later. He was buried in Canton, Ohio.

FOSHAY, PROMOTER, GETS 15-YEAR TERM

Vice President of Companies Gets Same Sentence for Mail Frauds.

Minneapolis, March 21 (A.P.).—Wilbur B. Foshay, whose promotions grew from a few thousand dollars to control of enterprises he valued at more than $50,000,000 in 12 years, lost a stubborn battle today to avoid being held criminally responsible for their collapse in 1929.

With H. H. Henley, vice president of his companies, he was convicted on 4 of 17 counts of using the mails to defraud. B were sentenced to serve a maximum of 15 years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., and to pay a $1,000 fine.

The conviction represented the opinion of 11 men, most of them farmers, who deliberated five days after a trial lasting ten weeks. They formed the second jury to hear the case, the trial of eight weeks last fall ending in a deadlock when the only woman member of the panel insisted for a week on acquittal. She afterward was found in contempt of court on grounds she concealed her previous employment under Foshay.

Foshay and Henley said the verdict was only the prelude to another battle as they left the United States District courtroom after continuing in force appearance bonds of $15,000 each. They will begin an appeal during the 42-day stay of commitment granted by Judge Joseph W. Molyneaux, who refused a petition to postpone imposition of the sentence.

The Government, represented in both trials by Fred Horrowitz, of Los Angeles, special United States Attorney General, contended that through the promotion of the far-flung Foshay companies its financial position was misrepresented to stockholders and prospective investors.

Utilities, the chief object of the promotions, were purchased with small down payments, revalued by a holding company, and large blocks of securities issued through Foshay's own sales office in every principal city.

PUBLIC CHILD HELP HELD LESS NEEDED

Ohio Welfare Worker Says Home Aid Has Brought Better Results.

Community programs for child welfare trend more and more toward helping the child in his own home, rather than placing him in an institution, Miss Irene Atkinson, superintendent of charities of the department of public welfare of Ohio, told the Council of Social Agencies at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday. Miss Atkinson was introduced by Miss Fay Bentley, chairman of the child welfare committee of the council, in charge of the meeting.

Miss Atkinson traced the institutional care of children back to its beginning in this country, in 1729, when a group of Ursuline nuns at New Orleans, following an Indian massacre, took charge of a number of little girls left orphans by the massacre, and gave them a home in the convent. This was the first institution for the care of children in the United States, Miss Atkinson said.

The speaker compared the institutional and home-placing methods, declaring that each has its advantages. She pointed out, however, that with the introduction of mothers' aid, workman's compensation and other laws tending to give aid to those left without resources, the number of children needing public care is diminishing, they remaining with their parent or parents. Even where there are active family welfare agencies, she said, the number of children placed in institutions is decreased.

Most of these improvements are due to the advancement of social case work, Miss Atkinson said. The child is no longer admitted to an institution after a "doorstep examination," but is studied and placed where best results can be obtained in making the child into a better citizen in later years.

Upon motion of the board of directors, expressed by Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, the Rev. Francis J. Haas, director of the Catholic School of Social Service, was made a member at large of the council.

Mrs. Wilson Compton, Mrs. Dwight Clark and Leonard W. DeGast were named as nominating committee to nominate members of the board for election at the annual meeting April 11.

Death in Baldwin Home Of Indian Author Suicide

Los Angeles, March 21 (A.P.).—A theory that Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, 36, Indian author, had shot and killed himself while a guest of Anita Baldwin, wealthy daughter of the late "Lucky" Baldwin, mining magnate, was accepted by authorities today.

Frank A. Nance, county coroner, who investigated the shooting of the Indian Sunday in the palatial home of Miss Baldwin, said no inquest would be conducted. Officials said they were unable to learn why Long Lance ended his life.

Mrs. Helen Pond Wins Decree From 'Idle' Mate

Reno, Nev., March 21 (A.P.).—Mrs Helen S. Pond, New York society woman, was divorced today from Warren B. Pond on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Pond testified that her insistence that Pond find employment led to constant quarrels over a period of five years and that her health was impaired as a result. The couple married in New York October 6, 1921, and have two children.

$50,000 Suit Is Filed After Auto Accident

James W. Ryon, 2808 Thirty-fourth place northwest, yesterday filed suit against Electrolux, Inc., of 1010 Vermont avenue northwest, for $50,000 damages.

The suit alleges that Ryon was struck by an automobile at Fifteenth and I streets northwest, and that the automobile was in charge of an agent of the corporation. Through Joseph B. Rafferty, attorney, Ryon told the court he was struck October 21, 1931, and injured.

Park Police Head Sought in Group

Capt. D. Hickey Proposed to Replace Montgomery; Others Considered.

The War Department and the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks are considering the names of a group of officers from which to select a successor to Capt. Ray C. Montgomery as superintendent of the United States Park Police here.

As yet no definite choice has been made, but it is understood that three names are receiving consideration. Among these is Capt. Doyle O. Hickey, Field Artillery, now stationed at Madison Barracks, N. Y. Capt. Hickey's name will be submitted to Col. U. S. Grant 3d by the War Department as a possible successor to Capt. Montgomery. The names of the other two officers could not be learned.

Capt. Montgomery, the present chief of the park police, has been selected to go to Fort Leavenworth, a fortnight or less ago, it now seems that the engagement of Helen Hayes in Molnar's new comedy, "The Good Fairy," will come to an end at the Henry Miller Theater in New York on Saturday night, April 2, with Chicago the objective of a brief intermediate tour that will include Boston, Philadelphia and Washington.

When the road tour is begun, Miss Hayes' advance emissary—as he has been before—will be that sapient and serviceable showman, Mr. Charles Warren McClintock, now decorating the menage of Col. Francois Philippe Morse, fresh from a restful late winter cruise of the Caribbean and its principal ports of call aboard that palatial ocean (dark) greyhound, the Conte Grande.

When apprised of his forthcoming duties late yesterday afternoon, Mr. McClintock was unadvised as to the order in which Miss Hayes would play the cities mentioned or the theater in which she would appear in Washington. "The Good Fairy," however, is, according to plans of the moment, an assured attraction for April.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WELL, it may not be long now until we have a genuine, blown-in-the-bottle talkie star sitting in the halls of Congress. At least, that is the present dream of the Hollywood Democratic Club as it is conveyed to this department by Mr. Warren E. Boyer, one of the club's most vocal boosters.

It seems that there is a newly created California congressional district that has been necessitated by the enormous growth of Hollywood these past few years, and is confined almost exclusively to the physical boundaries of filmland.

It is said that a few of the talkie actors imported to the West Coast studios from the New York stages of bone and sinew have already gone quite a way toward turning the old Tammany Tiger loose in moviedom.

Will Rogers has let it be known that he expects to "drop in on the boys" some night when they are in session at the Roosevelt Hotel. This has started a deal of speculation and some clowning as to precisely what developments may be expected to come out of the new movement—especially if Will Rogers should by some chance or other land in the National House of Representatives.

The possibilities are held to vary from his appearing exclusively with Uncle Sam at Government functions and filling the galleries of the House with autograph hunters to calling for camera action when addressing the Speaker or passing a law that Will Hays obtain all his movie plots from the Congressional Record—God forbid!

Edward L. Knott, residing at 5811 Fifth street northwest, is the winner of the Fox Theater Easter vacation trip to Miami Beach, Fla.

This announcement was made from the stage of the theater last night by George W. Offutt, president of the Washington Board of Trade.

Mr. Knott, when questioned, declared himself to be the most surprised person in the world. He is employed at the Washington Navy Yard and will be accompanied by Mrs. Knott on the Easter outing.

As guest of the Fox, Mr. Knott will receive two round-trip tickets to Miami Beach, Pullman fares and meals included, and at the Florida resort will be guest for a week at the Roney Plaza Hotel. In addition to all these free doings, the Fox will present the winner with a check for $50 for minor incidental expenses.

Mr. Ray Henderson strengthens his right to be known as the theater's most helpful and most lucid press representative, as well as the most valuable to those he serves, as follows:

"Katharine Cornell continues her unique experience of playing to sold-out houses. Following her Washington engagement, she went to Philadelphia, where, in the large Forrest Theater, she attracted $32,080 last week in eight performances. Her current week, Holy Week, is entirely sold out, with 30 extra chairs placed in the orchestra pit for every performance. Next week (March 28) she appears in the Maryland Theater in Baltimore, and the management reports that hundreds of orders for tickets have been received from Washington playgoers who were unable to buy tickets for Miss Cornell's engagement in this city.

"Miss Cornell will act 'The Barretts of Wimpole Street' in Pittsburgh, Detroit and Chicago after her Baltimore visit. She is reported still indifferent to the call of Hollywood, which would have her make a talking picture of the Besier drama.

"She plans to spend the summer chiefly in Tyrol to perfect her German for the character she is to act next in Sidney Howard's "Alien Corn." She will take along her Ford, so that she may motor where she pleases and will travel under her married name, Mrs. Guthrie McClintic."

Numerously represented among the Washingtonians who will journey to Baltimore to view "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," no doubt, will be the many w.o have inquired of this department, since the local engagement of the play, if we feel that there really was anything morally questionable in the attitude of Edward Moulton-Barrett toward the feminine members of his family—which it has seemed to me from the outset is a particularly eloquent tribute to the delicacy of Rudolf Besier, the author.

Contrary to every expectation of a fortnight or less ago, it now seems that the engagement of Helen Hayes in Molnar's new comedy, "The Good Fairy," will come to an end at the Henry Miller Theater in New York on Saturday night, April 2, with Chicago the objective of a brief intermediate tour that will include Boston, Philadelphia and Washington.

When the road tour is begun, Miss Hayes' advance emissary—as he has been before—will be that sapient and serviceable showman. Mr. Charles Warren McClintock, now decorating the menage of Col. Francois Philippe Morse, fresh from a restful late winter cruise of the Caribbean and its principal ports of call aboard that palatial ocean (dark) greyhound, the Conte Grande.

When apprised of his forthcoming duties late yesterday afternoon, Mr. McClintock was unadvised as to the order in which Miss Hayes would play the cities mentioned or the theater in which she would appear in Washington. "The Good Fairy," however, is, according to plans of the moment, an assured attraction for April.

Afterthoughts on the opening night's performance of the "Scandals" at the Washington Auditorium:

Louis J ("Duke") Fosse, manager of the Auditorium, properly frock-coated for Sabbath evening, greeted his guests in the lobby, just as in the old Poli days, he being an old-time showman who broke Lee Shubert in as an assistant treasurer out at Powers Theater, in Chicago, as I remember it. . . . It has now been proved that a big revue can be staged satisfactorily at Banker Harper's vast town hall. . . A dab of paint here and there, however, wouldn't hurt. . . Ethel Barrymore Colt, talented daughter of the theater's first lady, has scant opportunity in "Scandals," but, at that, acquits herself with infinitely more vivacity and charm than in "Scarlet Sister Mary," in which she made her debut. . . . Rudy Vallee is taking on a little weight, which is entirely becoming. . . He also plays with poise and easy assurance, minus any suggestion of affectation, swelled head or high hat. . . Properly enough, he adheres to his radio style of singing, although by so doing he gives the impression of not "getting over" with quite the surety and aplomb of old seasoned troupers like Willie Howard, for example. . . Willie comes out there to those footlights and socks you right between the eyes with his stuff—and makes you like it. . . Rudy, nevertheless, does a swell job in his impersonation of Maurice Chevalier. . . Now you can see how perfect Chevalier's imitation of Rudy doing an imitation of Maurice really was. . . And get a load of that Barbara Blair. . . I wish Eugene Howard would revive his imitation of the Hawaiian steel guitar, it was a darb . . . But the show is doing fairly well as it is—$18,000 tucked away in George White's sock in advance sales before the opening performance. . . They used to figure always that a week's gross would be three times the total of the advance sale. . . How do you mean, depression?

On Friday, April 15, according to present arrangements, the world's foremost bandmasters will be guests at the National Press Club and each will conduct his own favorite composition. A world convention of bandmasters will be in session in Washington at that time.

What a tragedy that John Philip Sousa could not have survived to attend and take his place at the forefront of them all!

It just occurs to me that if Senator Bingham's 4 per cent beer bill should become law, the country probably will turn a little pail!

Autoist Seriously Hurt In Collision With Pole

Jones, of Alexandria, Va., is in undetermined condition at Emergency Hospital, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, received early yesterday when the automobile he was driving skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into a telegraph pole at Wisconsin avenue and Reservoir street northwest.

Jones was taken to the hospital and admitted for observation after being treated for severe lacerations to his head. His automobile was demolished.

HOOVER TO GET DATA ON DRIVES FOR JOBS

Leaders Expect to Report 300,000 Employed in United Campaign.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—President Hoover tomorrow will receive a progress report on the campaign to put a million unemployed Americans in wage-earning positions.

With the largest single day's total in the six weeks campaign reported today, Mark McKee, executive director of the campaign, and John Thomas Taylor, vice president of the American Legion legislative committee, will outline for Mr. Hoover the manner in which the "war" on unemployment is being conducted.

They expect to carry to Washington figures showing more than 300,000 persons have been employed through the united action of the legion, its auxiliary, the American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers.

The campaign tonight was within less than 10,000 jobs of that figure, the 15,226 reported from 201 communities in 40 States having brought the total to 290,819.

Alabama led for the day with six communities reporting work found for 1,869 persons. North Carolina followed closely with 1,850 in ten communities. California reported 1,394, and Ohio 1,337 for the day.

Minnesota, with 30,124, leads in the grand total. New York is second with 27,676.

Railroad Pensions Cut 10 Per Cent

Pennsylvania Also Trims Clerical Forces' Time in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 21 (A.P.).—The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. today announced that it "has been regretfully compelled to call upon its pensioned employes to share in the efforts which have been instituted over the entire railroad to decrease expenses."

"Effective April 1," the company announced, "a reduction of 10 per cent will be made in all pensions, except in cases where the decrease would result in a payment of less than $50 per month. The reduction will bring pensions in line with the decrease of 10 per cent already effected in all wages and salaries. A second reduction of 10 per cent in all officers' salaries will become effective April 1."

Also, clerical forces on a monthly basis employed in the system's offices in Philadelphia, will take off two days without pay each month beginning April 1.

Ann Harding's Husband Ends Work for R. K. O.

Hollywood, March 21 (A.P.).—Harry Bannister, actor, said today he had "settled" his contract with R. K. O. pictures and henceforth will free lance.

Bannister is the husband of Ann Harding, actress. He said he asked for his release because he was not satisfied with certain phases of his relations with the concern. He and Miss Harding had been under contract with R. K. O. three years. She will remain with the studio.

Royal Playhouse Is Burned.

Llandogo, Wales, March 21 (A.P.).—The pretty life-sized playhouse which the Welsh people built for little Princess Elizabeth, granddaughter of King George, was destroyed by fire today as it was being taken to London to be presented to her. EFFORTS OF HOOVER PRAISED BY SMALL

Has Renewed Faith in U. S. Institutions, He Tells Philadelphians.

"In all the proud history of this Nation, Herbert Hoover is the first President to make sensible, systematic and result-getting efforts to stay the progress of a great economic depression," Charles H. Small, special assistant to the Attorney General, said at an open meeting of Shriners in Philadelphia last night.

"There have come to the President for the solution of their problems the leaders of finance, industry and commerce. He has, through his wise procedure and untiring efforts, established renewed faith in our institutions. He has created thousands of jobs through his splendid program of public construction. He has secured the cooperation of great public utilities and other interests in carrying on enlarged building programs. He has stopped by Executive order the influx of foreign immigration during this period, and prevented hundreds of thousands of foreigners from displacing our own citizens in their employment," Small asserted.

"We are living in a swiftly moving age. New questions of transcendent importance may arise within a few weeks. None can foresee the future. No man lives who can foretell with accuracy just what the issues in the forthcoming campaign will be. But from past experiences we may rest assured that each govegrnmental problem of importance before the country will be squarely met with a firm declaration of policy and principle in the platform which will be adopted by the Republican party in convention assembled at Chicago June next."

$25,000 Fire Damages Arkansas Resort City

Eureka Springs, Ark., March 21 (A.P.).—A hotel, an apartment building, and the First Christian Church were destroyed, and two dwellings and the Episcopal Church were damaged, by fire here late today. The loss was estimated by firemen at $25,000 to $40,000. Fire departments from neighboring towns helped bring the flames under control after a two-hour struggle.

The fire started in the Thatch Hotel, on West Mountain. The resort city's most fashionable residential section. A strong northwest wind caused it to spread rapidly.

Levine Is Indicted On Three Charges

Chamberlin's Backer Accused of Forgery, Larceny and Receiving Property.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Charles A. Levine's succession of scrapes, which followed upon his flight to Germany as Clarence Chamberlin's backer and passenger in 1927, grew longer today with his indictment for forgery, grand larceny and criminally receiving stolen property.

Two indictments were returned against the man whose promotion schemes, arrests, mysterious disappearances and aliases have kept his name intermittently in the news for five years.

One of them charged his complicity in disappearance of 100 shares of American Telephone & Telegraph stock, which were started from the A. T. & T. headquarters for a brokerage office March 24, 1930, but never arrived there. The stock later was offered by Levine as collateral for a loan, it was alleged. The second indictment charged he had forged necessary indorsements on the stock.

THE TELEPHONE TAX.

AMONG the provisions in the new tax bill is a tax on telephone, telegraph and radio messages. Under this section every voice over a long-distance telephone will become sweet music to the White House, while the clicking of a telegraph instrument will be as victorious drumbeats in the battle to balance the budget.

• • • •

Uncle Sam is going to put a levy on all messages except those sent by smoke signal.

• • • •

When a wife in the suburbs puts through a toll line call to tell her husband that the cat won't eat its liver, that the baby has the colic or that the bootlegger is there with a C. O. D. package she will be doing her bit to dig Uncle Sam out of a hole.

• • • •

When a husband wires his wife that he is detained out West on business and won't be home for two more days it may be a message of gloom to the little lady, but it will come as tidings of joy to the tax department.

• • • •

At last the fellow who gets into one of those pay-station booths and spends the week-end trying to square himself for not showing up Tuesday night will get an assessment fitting the crime.

• • • •

If prolonged telephone conversations will restore America to financial normalcy, those pay station boys should qualify as saviors of the Nation.

• • • •

But even at that a mere telephone tax won't be sufficient punishment. Most of those pests stay in the booth so long they should pay a residence tax.

• • • •

THE tax is to be 5 cents on all telephone calls costing more than 31 cents and 10 cents on all calls running into 50 cents or more. Under this system a fellow who puts through a cross-country call will practically pay off the national debt.

• • • •

The tax will be collected from the telephone companies, which will pass it on to the subscribers.

• • • •

And how!

• • • •

One industry that never undercharges anybody is the telephone business. Under the bookkeeping system used by telephone companies a subscriber is assessed even for disputing his bill.

• • • •

If Mr. Hoover wants to put the Treasury on its feet all he has to do is collect a tax of 10 per cent on the additional items charged to a subscriber after he has once dared ask the phone company to explain the original bill.

• • • •

However, anything to lift the Treasury out of the slough of despond. Let the telephone calls be taxed. Who cares? We never get a call through successfully these days anyhow.

ACACIA MUTUAL LIFE INCREASES BUSINESS

Drug Company's Net Drops $14,898,055 Over 1930; Dividends Declared.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Acacia Mutual Life Association's volume of business written thus far this year is 8 per cent greater than for the corresponding period of last year. This information was imparted yesterday to the association's field advisory committee meeting at the home office here, by William Montgomery, president of the association. Mr. Montgomery informed the committee that intensive efforts on the part of the field force in cooperation with the home office staff in Washington are meeting with commendable success in the face of generally adverse conditions.

The field advisory committee, composed of Acacia's three leading branch managers, has been holding a series of conferences with home office executives as part of the regular program planned for the committee at its inception some years ago by Mr. Montgomery.

New Committee Members.

The branch managers who have earned a place on the committee this period are Roland Suter, Baltimore; Clarence L. Fritz, Newark, N. J., and Cornelius Legters, Tampa, Fla. S. R. Bowman, Acacia's Pacific Coast supervisor, is also here for the meetings.

Home office officials who have participated in the committee's discussions of matters of outstanding organization interest include Mr. Montgomery; J. P. Yort, secretary and actuary, and Samuel R. Mooers, field secretary.

McKesson & Robbins, Inc., manufacturers and distributors of drug and allied products, in its pamphlet report mailed to stockholders yesterday, shows combined net sales of $119,967,384 for the year ended December 31, 1931, a decrease of $14,898,055, or 11.5 per cent, compared with 1930. Net after deducting all selling and general expenses, depreciation, fixed charges and Federal taxes, totaled $1,845,739 available for the common stock against $2,629,196, reported on a comparable basis for 1930.

Net Profit for 1931.

The net profit for 1931 was equal to 1.17 times the prefepence stock dividend, and, after deducting such dividends the balance equaled 24 cents a share earned on the 1,082,555 shares of common stock issued against 94 cents a share in 1930.

Directors of Federal-American Co. have declared a dividend of $1.50 on its preferred stock, payable April 1, to stockholders of record at close of business March 28. A dividend of 15 cents per share has been declared on the common stock, the foregoing dates being applicable.

The regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share has been declared on the capital stock of Security Storage Co., payable April 11, to the stockholders of record at close of business April 7. Books will be closed between said dates, respectively.

Sugar Control Board Near Break at Paris

Paris, March 21 (A.P.).—The International Sugar Council, which is having its troubles because of differences between Cuban and Javanese interests, met briefly this morning and adjourned until evening.

Some of the delegates expressed fear the Chadbourne plan controlling sugar production had been torpedoed, but others appeared determined to make every effort to reconcile the differences between Cuba and Java this evening.

The secretary insisted a compromise would be reached.

Industrial Jobs In Slight Upturn

First Improvement Since Spring of 1931 Noted Among Factories.

A slight upturn in factory employment and a larger increase in total industrial pay rolls were reported yesterday in the monthly survey of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics. It was the first mark of gradual Nation-wide business improvement since the spring of 1931.

Employment in manufacturing industries increased 1.2 per cent during February, and total earnings of all industrial workers were 2.1 per cent over January.

Per capita earnings in this group increased 0.8 per cent during the month.

The increase is based, the bureau explained, on reports made by 16,891 establishments in 89 of the principal manufacturing industries throughout the country, having in February a total of 2,830,890 employes, whose combined earnings in one week were $56,719,548.

The report follows wholesale price statistics issued Saturday, which indicated the firming of the wholesale purchasing power of the 1926 dollar at $1.50 during the last four weeks.

The factors behind this employment increase were not brought out in the report.

Slackening of seasonal demand caused employment to decrease 0.3 per cent in the sixteen major industrial groups, but despite this slump the groups reported their combined earnings increased 0.1 per cent over January.

Bituminous coal mining, telephone and telegraph and crude petroleum producing reported increases in pay rolls of 0.1, 0.5 and 0.9 per cent, respectively.

In the manufacturing group the lumber, paper and printing and food groups showed decreases in employment and earnings. The rubber products and the machinery groups showed no change, while nine other groups showed gains in employment ranging from 0.1 per cent in chemicals to 5.6 per cent in leather.

As to earnings, increases were registered from 0.7 per cent in the tobacco group to 15.1 in the leather group.

Reporting manufacturing establishments set operation at 87 per cent of full time, a gain of 1 per cent for the month.

Lithuania Extends Kreuger Payments

London, March 21 (A.P.).—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Riga today said the Lithuanian government had agreed to spread payment of $2,000,000 due from the Kreuger Co. on the match monopoly, permitting instalments on April 1, May 1, and June 1, instead of requiring full payment on April 1, as the present agreement provides.

If the instalments are not met the monopoly may be cancelled, it was said.

SOVIET MILLS BEGIN PRODUCING PIG IRON

Magnetogorsk Plant Turns Out 500 Tons Daily; More to Follow.

Moscow, March 21 (A.P.).—"Magnetogorsk is producing pig iron."

With these words, William A. Haven, vice president of Arthur G. McKee & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, engineering firm, recently summed up his final report to the Soviet government on his departure for the United States after completing a contract for the construction of the great Asiatic steel capital, which is called the Gary of Russia.

"The blowing in recently of blast furnace No. 1 signalized what is probably the most important accomplishment in the metallurgical field of the Soviet industrialization program," Mr. Haven's report said.

Other divisions of the Magnetogorsk project have been operating for months but the actual production of pig iron was eagerly awaited.

The American engineer said that while the present output of the furnace is 500 tons daily and it will not reach its full capacity of 1,000 tons until the Russians are more experienced, the "initial operation of the furnace is satisfactory and gratifying."

"Starting such a large plant, designed by foreigners and equipped almost entirely with foreign machinery, without the aid of a foreign operating personnel probably sets a precedent in Soviet industrial practice," he continued.

"Such a procedure is not without cost. Some minor accidents and delays occurred and will continue until the Russian operators have learned by experience what they might have learned by precept, but starting a new blast furnace without any mishaps would be exceptional even in America.

"Furnace No. 2 is in the final stage of construction and can be started early in the spring. These two units alone should be capable of producing 2,000 tons of pig iron daily, which would increase the output of the U. S. S. R. 15 per cent. Raw materials are proving even better than had been expected.

"Considering the inexperience of Russians in construction work of this type, the magnitude of the work accomplished at Magneto Gorsk is astonishing if the isolated location and the extreme climatic conditions are kept in mind."

Equipment to produce 4,000,000 tons of steel annually is contemplated for the Magneto Gorsk plant, for which a city to accommodate 200,000 persons is being erected where two years ago there was an empty steppe.

Visible Wheat Supply Smaller.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes, in bushels, as compared with a week ago: Wheat decreased 2,026,000; corn increased, 700,000; oats decreased, 322,000; rye increased, 48,000; barley decreased, 151,000.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

STOCKS moved upward firmly with the rails leading on news that adequate financing arrangements had come out of last week's White House conferences. The trade was small.

BONDS were generally sluggish, but the industrial average closed higher, as did the stronger rail issues and U. S. Governments.

CURB trading was dull, but the leaders recorded slight advances in most sections of the list.

WHEAT futures closed 1 to 1½ cents higher on export sales of about a 1,000,000 bushels for the day.

COTTON was steady but quiet and the close was 1 to 3 points above Saturday's, on light Southern offerings.

Grant Chain Stores Plan 32 New Units

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—W. T. Grant Co. had net income of $3,105,898 in the fiscal year ended January 31, equal to $2.59 a share, compared with $3,349,173 or $2.80 a share in the previous fiscal year.

Sales totaled $75,679,202 against $71,376,486. The company had 404 stores in operation January 31, compared with 350 at the end of the previous fiscal year. It has signed leases for possession of 34 more stores during 1932.

American Gas Reports Share Income of $3.57

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The pamphlet report of American Gas & Electric Co., published today, showed consolidated 1931 net income of $16,671,135, equal to $3.57 a common share.

This compares with $19,238,012, or $4.38 a share on a slightly smaller capitalization in 1930.

N. C. R. Profits Show Sharp 1931 Decline

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The National Cash Register Co., including domestic subsidiaries, reports net profit of $824,399 for 1931, compared with $3,584,830 in 1930.

These profits are after depreciation, Federal taxes, reserve for inventory and all other charges.

Per share profits last year were 69 cents on the class "A" stock, compared with $3.01 a share in 1930.

Wall street hears the company may show a small profit for the current quarter against a $300,000 loss sustained in the first quarter of 1931.

Stockholm Exchange Resumes; Trade Quiet

Stockholm, March 21 (A.P.).—Prices on the stock exchange were weak today when it opened, compared with prices on March 12, when the exchange was closed following the suicide of Ivar Kreuger at Paris.

BANKERS DISTURBED BY TAX BILL DELAYS

Apparent Leadership Lapse Gives Concern; Hope for Action Tomorrow.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The new week in Wall street was marked by continuation of the uncertainty which characterized sentiment late last week. Industrial and trade news of the week-end indicated no change in the low level of activity, and financial attention converged largely upon the tax measure before the House in Washington.

Banking quarters were somewhat concerned over the apparent lapse of leadership in the House of Representatives late last week, and were hopeful that holding up of further consideration of the tax measure until tomorrow might result in a "cooler" attitude. Governmental economy and balancing of the budget are regarded in most quarters in Wall street as essential to economic recovery.

Week-end surveys from the steel industry mentioned a slight pickup in orders for structural material, but said that there had been little change in the aggregate, operations at Chicago alone showing some quickening, with a tendency toward further slackening apparent in other steel-making centers.

The upturn today seemed to reflect more than anything else a complete drying up of selling, which, in turn, prompted short covering.

The rails finally responded to President Hoover's reassuring statement of Saturday regarding the reconstruction plan of taking care of the roads' pressing financial requirements.

Official estimates of the railroads' needs for this year were much under Wall street's figure. Requirements will probably be met as they come up, although just what policy is to be followed toward applications for assistance in carrying on improvements has not been indicated. Nevertheless, it is believed here that consideration will be given to the influence such programs will have on employment, relief for which situation is one of the chief aims of the reconstruction program.

Brokerage quarters were rather gloomy over the continued low level of business activity and corporate earnings. Some, however, expressed the view that it was too much to hope that the successful stabilization of the banking structure should result in an immediate impetus to business. Wall street is now pinning its hopes to intensive automobile sales campaigns planned for early April. Should these campaigns arouse an encouraging response, it is hoped that the quarterly earnings statements, due toward the close of the month, may be overlooked. It is recognized that first quarter earnings have been approximately nil for many leading corporations.

Trader Is Suspended From Stock Exchange

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange today announced the suspension of Perry B. Strassburger, a private trader, for inability to meet his engagements. The suspension was announced just before the close of the market.

Strassburger was not connected with the brokerage firm of Strassburger & Co., which is a member of the exchange.

Strassburger was suspended also from associate membership in the New York Curb Exchange.

Sears-Roebuck Plans Three Eastern Stores

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Sears, Roebuck & Co. will extend its retail store chain into the New York Metropolitan area this year, erecting three new $1,000,000 department stores in Brooklyn, Hackensack, N. J., and Union City, N. J.

Robert E. Wood, president, announced today the completion of real estate transactions giving the company "rather large tracts of land" in the three cities.

In addition to the building cost of $1,000,000 each, the firm will expend about $4,000,000 for fixtures and equipment. Each unit will be a three-story building with basement and adjacent autuomobile parking lot. The stores will handle about 48,000 articles grouped in 12 specialty shops.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The stock market greeted spring with modest gains today, but speculative pulses did not quicken to any noticeable degree with the turn in season, for volume fell to the lowest since March 1, amounting to only 889,250 shares, or little more than Saturday's half day.

Resistance of the rails during a familiar early sag and the prompt evaporation of selling elsewhere, as soon as week-end offerings had been executed, brought repurchases for short accounts, and the market was firm thereafter.

Reports that an agreement on the tax bill was nearer and more careful consideration of President Hoover's railroad statement appeared to further the cause of higher prices, even though the market was unable to display notable enthusiasm for the recovery. Net gains in many instances ranged from 1 to 2 points.

Effects of News.

Rumors that Missouri Pacific's April 1 note maturities were to be taken care of and that no interest defaults would be forthcoming on that date went the rounds of brokerage houses, adding to the evidence on which shorts based their covering. Of even more weight, undoubtedly, was the market's stronger resistance to early selling, especially the favorable technical indication given by the rails when they worked their way into a rally which other groups eventually followed.

Rails, including New York Central, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific, closed with gains of a point or more.

Kreuger & Toll traded in normal volume, contrasting with the previous session's heavy volume, and held steady, but International Match dropped a couple of points to a new low.

General Motors was rather soft, easing under 18 for a fractional loss. Gossip has it that the corporation's directors may decide to revise the current dividend rate in view of declining earnings and generally slow business, although talk of a cut is still in the rumor stage.

American Telephone was off a point while the trend was downward, but closed a couple of points to the good. U. S. Steel, at its worst, was only off a fraction and hardened coincident with a better demand for the preferred. Bethlehem preferred dropped to a 14 per cent yield basis and closed at 51, off 4.

Bonds Fractionally Higher.

The bond market displayed little vitality and various issues slipped quietly to lower levels. Even the United States Government list was irregular throughout most of the session, but managed to close with a majority of fractional gains.

Sales totaled $7,962,000.

The Electric Bond & Share group provided most of the improvement in a dull curb market. Prices generally held steady, following a narrow course, with specialties dull and little changed. Utilities displayed considerable resistance, although gains, except in a few instances, were moderate. The day's turnover was about 190,000 shares, of which more than half changed hands in the first two hours.

COTTON PRICE AIDED BY TRADE'S BUYING

Market Is Quiet, With May Contracts Closing at 6.75, After Drop to 6.67.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today following the declines of late last week. After easing off several points early under some further liquidation and relatively easy Liverpool cables, prices steadied on trade buying prompted by an absence of Southern offerings in any appreciable volume and the steadier tone of the wheat and stock markets. After selling off to 6.67, or 8 points net lower, May advanced to 6.77 and closed at 6.75, with the general market closing steady, net 1 point lower to 3 points higher.

Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best for the day. March contracts were relatively easy early, as if influenced by the circulation of a few notices, estimated at 1,200 bales, but after easing off to 6.59 rallied to about Saturday's closing quotations on covering.

The report of the Census Bureau placing ginnings for the season at 816,595,780 running bales, or 17,060,772 equivalent 500-pound bales, compared with the December estimate of 16,918,000 bales, seemed a shade above average expectations.

Liverpool cables reported covering and trade calling supplied by liquidation influenced by the steadier sterling and the failure of the "more-looms-per-weaver" negotiations in Lancashire.

Exports today were 37,919 bales, making 6,613,568 bales so far this season.

Port receipts were 14,809 bales and United States port stocks stood at 4,464,890 bales.

GRAIN MARKET RISES ON EXPORT TRADING

Wheat, Corn and Oats Close Higher; Argentine Pays Premium Prices.

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Despite lively selling on price advances, the grain markets developed robust strength today, stimulated by new North American wheat export business totaling 1,000,000 bushels.

Unexpectedly higher wheat quotations at Liverpool, together with word that France had increased her wheat import quota to 35 per cent from 30 per cent had a bullish effect. There were also substantial curtailments shown in the United States wheat visible supply and in the amount of wheat afloat for Europe.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top level, 1 cent to 1⅝ cents above Saturday's finish. Corn was up ½ to ⅞ cent, oats ½ to ⅝ cent, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Adding to the upward momentum of wheat values was the fact that the Argentine market showed pronounced strength, going to a premium over Kansas City, compared with a recent discount of 5½ cents. Bulls put stress, too, on statements credited to Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board that proposals to finance United States wheat sales abroad implied no dumping in Europe or elsewhere.

A report that General Manager Milnor of the United States Grain Stabilization Corporation would try to sell France 12,000,000 bushels of wheat was not generally available until after the market had closed.

United Aircraft Increases Bookings.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Unfilled orders on the books of the equipment subsidiaries of United Aircraft & Transport Co. as of December 31 totaled $8,147,797, compared with $6,491,635 at the end of 1930.

BAR SILVER SLUMPS TO NEW LOW LEVEL

2,500,000 Ounces Are Sold at 28⅞ Cents; Dealers Expect Recovery.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Bar silver slumped ⅝ of a cent to 28⅞ cents an ounce today, a new low for 1932.

This commodity recently received considerable attention from speculators, who felt that the recent hostilities around Shanghai, where it is used as currency, should considerably increase the demand, but the metal reached a 1932 peak in the spot market of only 31 cents an ounce. Some speculators are still hoping for increased demand from Shanghai, as reconstruction of the war-torn area gets under way.

As a result of the mark down in the spot price in the New York market today, heavy selling appeared in futures in the National Metal Exchange, where 2,500,000 ounces were traded, the largest turnover in recent months. The May delivery, which closed at 29.95 cents on Saturday, dropped to 29.15, and closed at 29.35 bid.

Traders with bullish leanings pointed out that production in this country in February was only 1,674,000 ounces, as reduced from 1,909,000 in January, and 3,167,000 in February of last year. They were also hopeful of some result from schemes designed to increase its monetary use.

Silver sold as low as 25¾ cents early in 1931, then got up to 37½ last November. For several years prior to 1930 the price ranged between 50 and 60 cents an ounce.

Dry Goods Markets Anticipate Upturn

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—It is a widely expressed opinion in primary dry goods markets that the next two months will witness a much greater activity in retail channels than has been seen in the past two months with the advent of better weather and with the Easter holiday business out of the way it is believed that consumers will be more readily disposed to cover their seasonal needs.

NATS' ROOKIE PITCHERS FAIL TO IMPRESS JOHNSON;
DELAWARE-HUDSON GAINS SEMIFINALS IN A. A. U. TOURNEY

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., March 21.

THE Nats will resume their exhibition battles here tomorrow against the Toledo Club of the American Association, now the temporary property of the Cleveland Indian owners, who are operatnig the team under a one-year option of purchase.

Manager Johnson will send a pair of his select performers against Toledo, Carl Fischer and Monte Weaver having been nominated to shoulder the pitching duties. The Nats figure to win with their presence, as both have displayed rare good form in their trials this far.

Joe Kuhel is slated to play first base for the Nats tomorrow, with Joe Judge nursing a strained back as a result of too strenuous an effort in batting practice yesterday. He was in uniform today, but saw no action.

The remainder of the line-up will present the regulars in every position except behind the bat. Roy Spencer, the club's only remaining convalescent, has not been in uniform for four days as a result of a siege of malaria, but he is seen around the lobby.

Bob Burke complained today of a sore arm as a result of his efforts against the Biloxi Team yesterday and has been instructed by Trainer Mike Martin to ease up in his pitching. Lloyd Brown's sore elbow has improved to the gratifying extent where he can cut loose once more.

Dave Harris' two home runs yesterday against the Biloxi Club were among the longest ever hit on this field and caused President Clark Griffith to declare that Harris would be as valuable a hitter as Al Simmons if he did not persist in allowing the good ones to float by.

Ossie Bluege, noted as one of the league's greatest suckers on a curve ball, could boost his average 100 points if he ever corrected this weakness. Bluege's helplessness against curves is so well known throughout the circuit that 95 per cent of the pitches thrown at him are hooks.

Manager Johnson is not unduly alarmed at the impotency of Carl Reynolds at bat thus far this spring. Reynolds has made only one hit in ten appearances at the plate, but Johnson wishes he was a sure that one of his rookie pitchers would come through as he is that Reynolds will hit. It's hard to overlook his .355 average in 1930 throughout a full season.

Biloxi is being sought as a training site by the Louisville club, it was reported when the Nats were in Mobile, where the Colonels train. The Mobile franchise in the Southeastern League and the plant have been purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals, who doubtless will send the Rochester or Columbus clubs, of their extensive chain, to Mobile next spring.

The Nats, however, are slated to return to Biloxi's shores next spring as a result of Griffith's satisfaction with the weather and other conditions here.

Another utility infielder is the immediate need of the Nats, according to Manager Johnson, who is willing to sacrifice a bit of fielding ability for the presence of an infielder who can field passably and assume the role of a pinch hitter.

With the inaugural game three weeks distant, speculation on the pitcher who will perform for the Nats on April 11 is hazardous, but the signs point to Alvin Crowder as the nominee, barring a slump in his work, in which case Lloyd Brown or Fred Marberry are the choices.

Martineau Will Aid Princeton Grid Coach

Princeton, N. J., March 21 (U.P.).—Earl Martineau, former backfield coach at Purdue University, has been named assistant football coach at Princeton, according to an announcement made tonight by Dr. Charles W Kennedy, chairman of the Princeton board of athletic control. Martineau, regarded as one of the best half backs ever to graduate from Minnesota, will assist Herbert O. Crisler and will report here for spring practice on April 4.

The new Tiger coach was head coach at Western State College from 1924 to 1929. He then went to Purdue where he has coached football and track up to the present time.

9,000 See Shikat Win Over Pinetzki

Polish Giant Is Victim of Double Headlock After 34-Minute Bout.

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Dick Shikat, of Philadelphia, threw Leo Pinetzki, Polish giant, in the feature match of a wrestling show in Madison Square Garden tonight. Shikat disposed of Pinetzki with a double headlock in 34:58. Shikat weighed 218 pounds; Pinetzki, 282.

Shikat's victory stopped a long winning streak on the part of Pinetzki, who was unbeaten in three months of busy campaigning since coming to the United States three months ago.

A crowd of 9,000 saw the match.

Other results were:

Karl McCready, 232, Oklahoma, defeated Tiny Roebuck, 253, Oklahoma, in 17:32 of a finish match with a double wristlock and body scissors.

Sandor Szabo, 205, Hungary, drew with Abe Coleman, 200, California, in a 20-minute time limit match.

George Kostonaros, 196, Los Angeles, defeated Jack Hurley, 208, Ireland, in 10:09 with head and arm lock.

Sam Stein, 200, Newark, defeated Jack Lewis, 219, Oklahoma, in 11:41 with a flying tackle and body slam.

Fritz Kiss, 212, Germany, defeated Al Piertotti, 210, Boston in 4:19 with a flexible back body hold.

Herman Rickman, 215, Tennessee, defeated Gene Bruce, 202, Germany, in 8:33 with a body slam and arm lock.

Herbie Freeman, 219, New York, drew with George Calza, 220, Italy, in 30-minute time limit match.

Mt. Vernon's Five Bows, 38 to 23

Ryan Leads Winners; Als Gain Finals in Girl's Class.

Eastern Reserves and Capitol Towers Are Other Victors.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

WINGING in one-handed shots with all the acumen that has boosted their name to the upper strata of local basket ball, the Delaware & Hudson court team burst into the semifinal round of the District A. A. U. last night at Tech High, leaving Mount Vernon M. E. behind them, stricken on the quarter-final round battle ground, 38-23.

It was the feature of a night of basket ball, but the show threatened to be stolen twice during the evening, first when the lowly Powhatans, with just a quorum of players, matched Eastern High's Reserves point for point for nearly three periods, and secondly when the much-favored Capital Towers squeezed through its game against the Fox Independents by a spine-tickling margin of 23-21.

The first game of the night saw the Als Sextet, making their initial bow in a tournament they dominated once upon a time, run wild against the United Typewriter Girls, 43-11, holding the clever Typists scoreless for nearly three periods.

Melton Leads Mount Vernon.

Delaware and Hudson, as is usually the case, got off on the wrong foot and with Melton flipping in several spectacular one-hand shots for Mount Vernon, found themselves trailing, 7-1, before the opening whistle had stopped echoing about the place. It took their entire offensive strength to battle back on even terms, but once Jim Ryan, Bob Gaylor and George Beach had got their ranges, and Delaware & Hudson had eased ahead to a 15-10 lead at the half, there was not a great deal to the game which produced the first unlimited semifinalist of the tournament.

What kept the fray alive was the unearthly shooting of both sides. Not 10 per cent of the points made were accomplished in orthodox fashion, with running one-hand potshots being the most popular attempted and completed.

Out in the semifinals, D. & H. now awaits the winner of Thursday night's game between Tech and the Clifton Barbers.

Al's A. C. Sextet Routs Uniteds to Gain Finals

After getting off to a 6-2 lead in the first three minutes of play, the United Typewriter Grays failed to tally again until all but three minutes of the game had elapsed, and consequently lost to Al's A. C. in a lop-sided contest. The final score was 43-11, and puts the winners in the finals.

The ability of Edna Spencer, 6-foot Al's center, to control the tap-off, handcuffed the Grays. The latter strove heroically to make the game interesting, but their opponents would have none of it. In Jewel Douglas and Anna Honabach, Al's exhibited two of the best players in senior girl ranks. They departed from the time-honored custom of girls to dribble into the basket before attempting shots, to "pot" long ones. The Al's guards, Miriam Leach and Helen Murphy, also contributed to their team's victory with their stellar work.

Emily Harrington starred for the Typists.

Capitol Towers Defeats Fox Quintet in Thriller

Entering the fray with the odds overwhelmingly against them, the Fox Independents proceeded to surprise their staunchest supporters by putting up a whirlwind battle before bowing to the Capitol Towers quintet, 23-21, in the 115-pound class. The winners earned the right to meet the Western Flashes for the championship by their victory.

The score was tied, 6-6, at the end of the first quarter, but Fox eked out a 10-8 lead as the half ended. The eventual winners' attack went into high gear in the third period and with "Dopey" Dean showing the way they ran the score to 21-12. The independents rallied to bring their total to 16, after being held to a pair of foul shots in the third period. The Capitol five then added their last

Miss Taube, Good Sport, Gives Victor Her Medal

Check down the name of Lenore Taube, of the Washington Swimming Club, among the ranks of real sportswomen. Saturday night she finished second in the District A. A. U. swimming meet's 100-yard breast stroke, a stroke behind Louisa Roberts, guest star, from Atlanta.

Since it was strictly a District meet Louisa was ineligible to receive a District A. A. U. medal, but Lenore presented her first-prize award to the Atlantan in the face of strong criticism from her friends.

GEORGE WINS BOUT FROM MEYERS

1,500 Watch Match; Pojello Victor at Bolling Field.

ED DON GEORGE, wrestling's gift to beauty and one of the reason's why the female population goes out nights, made his bow before a Washington mat audience last night at Bolling Field, tossing Dr. Freddy Meyers, sleepy-eyed Jewish champion, with a convincing leg scissors in 31 minutes in the feature bout.

The handsome George, once champion of the Bowser band of rasslers and conqueror of Henri DeGlane, present holder of the crown (before Henri won the diadem when bitten by Strangler Lewis), had the better of his argument throughout, although the Meyers person punished him plenty with arm slaps, wrist locks and head locks.

Decisive Hold Fantastic, Powerful.

The decisive hold was as fantastic as it was powerful, with George lifting Meyers in air in a spin and then catching him on the drop with his sinewy underpinning. Part of the good doctor's elongated frame crashed heavily to the floor of the ring while George clamped pressure tighter and tighter until Referee Billy Jones counted off the all-important "three," much to the delight of the crowd of 1,300, nearly half of which were women.

George stated before the bout that his goal is another meeting with DeGlane, whom he claims is not as good now as was Gus Sonnenberg when he dumped the former Dartmouth gridiron star for the championship. DeGlane defeated George following the former's title conquest.

Karl Pojello, "brains" of the Bowser troupe and certainly one of its most pleasing performers, scored his second victory in two starts here by successfully executing a series of back body drops on the overstuffed frame of Ivan Vakturoff, Russian champion. Karl stuck to straight wrestling for the most part, despite his opponent's indulgence in clowning wherein the Russian drew loud guffaws at his deep-throated cry which sounded like "Hot-cha."

Russian Stops Wrestling To Argue.

Some enthusiast in the front row voiced his doubt of Ivan's courage and the Russian, to make the situation funnier, stopped rassling to dare his tormentor into the ring. Just at this time Pojello rushed Ivon and the latter ran away.

Sam Cordovano, former Georgetown University football star, used his bag of gridiron tackles and charges to subdue Bull Garnon in 21 minutes. Sam buried his head in Bull's viscera to clinch the bout.

Charlie Strack, former Olympic champion, but now anything but a hero if you ask a Washington rassle fan, roughed it up for 30 minutes with Lee Wykoff, and Danny Winters defeated Paul Finsky in 19 minutes in the other preliminaries. Winters won with a hold recently taught him by Pojello. It is not as yet in the rassle dictionary, but believe us, it was a "Finlander spin."

National Ring Body On "Racketeer" Drive

Chicago, March 21 (U.P.).—A campaign to drive the racketeering element out of the boxing game has been started by the National Boxing Association, it was revealed today in the regular weekly bulletin issued by Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing Association.

"A decided movement on the part of certain managers and so-called booking agencies for boxers to make a 'racket' out of the boxing sport by matching inferior boxers with outstanding contenders has been called to the attention of the National Boxing Association," said the bulletin. "It is said that some of these agencies go so far as to arrange fake boxing matches with a full understanding between the contestants beforehand.

"Whenever it is found that a 'ringer' or a fake fight is foisted upon the public it is suggested that all parties to the affair be called before the commission and suspended for life, thereby cleaning the sport of these parasites who would destroy boxing as a sport for personal gain or to build up a false reputation for their boxer."

Mangin Wins, Shields Is Beaten

Indoor Champion in Four-Set Triumph Over Boussus.

Borotra's Win Gives French Split With U. S. Netmen.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, March 21 (A.P.).—The United States and France broke even tonight in the opening singles engagements of the international tennis team matches. Gregory Mangin, of the home forces, beat Christian Boussus, 7—9, 6—4, 6—3, 6—4, only to see his work go for naught when Jean Borotra squared matters by defeating lanky Frank Shields, 6—8, 6—1, 6—3, 6—2.

Mangin, newly crowned national indoor champion, came from behind after dropping an erratic opening set to play brilliant tennis and subdue the left-hander, Boussus. But Shields shot his bolt in taking the prolonged first set from Borotra and thereafter fell easy prey to the bour- 3 Basque.

Injury Slows Shields.

Shields, handicapped by a new injury incurred in the indoor finals Saturday, did not get around with his accustomed agility in the last three sets, but is doubtful he could have beaten tonight's Borotra in any case. In the last three sets the French Davis Cup veteran brought off one dazzling shot after another.

The opening night's results left the issue in doubt, with France still conceded an even chance of successfully defending its team laurels. The lone doubles match is scheduled tomorrow night, with Boussus and Borotra opposing George Lott, jr., and Johnny Van Ryn. Final singles will be played Wednesday with tonight's pairings reversed.

Dempsey Fails to Stop Doctor in 4-Rounder

Toronto, Ontario, March 21 (A.P.) Jack Dempsey failed to stop Joe Doctor, young Buffalo heavyweight, in their four-round no decision exhibition bout here tonight.

The former champion battered Doctor savagely in the first two rounds but the Buffalo boy hung on gamely and seemed almost as fresh as Dempsey when the final bell sounded.

Buster Brown Easy For Jack (Kid) Berg

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Jack Kid Berg, British lightweight contender, easily outpointed Buster Brown, of Baltimore, in a ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Berg weighed 140 pounds; Brown, 144½.

Berg, outboxing the Baltimore boy all the way, won every round. There were no knockdowns.

Phar Lap, Within $44,494 of Record, May Draw Sun Beau Out of Retirement

By THOMAS H. NOONE.

NEW YORK, March 21 (U.P.).—Phar Lap, greatest money-winning gelding of all time, has broken the jinx that marred the appearance of Epinard and Papyrus, the previous foreigners that were unsuccessful in their invasion of tracks on the North American continent. In winning the Agua Caliente Handicap, the mighty son of Night Raid and Entreaty advanced to the position of second largest money-winning thoroughbred of the world.

With earnings of $332,250, Phar Lap threatens to eclipse the record earnings of Sun Beau, the record-holder, which amassed $376,744 in five years of extensive campaigning. The Australian champion is now within $44,494 of equaling the mark of the retired son of Sun Briar—Beautiful Lady.

Phar Lap is named for the Stars and Stripes Handicap, Arlington Handicap and Arlington Gold Cup, three $20,000 added stakes to be run at the Chicago track this summer, and many other races are open to him. He will certainly not lack opportunities on the American turf.

Twenty Grand, Mate Eligible.

Twenty Grand, champion 3-year-old of last year, and his archrival, Mate, are also eligible for the Midwest stakes, which are all over trying distances. Like Phar Lap, they are powerful and long of stride, and a race between these three would provide a great contest.

Besides Twenty Grand and Mate there is Equipoise. The juvenile champion of 1930, whose feet went bad early last year, is ready for a comeback. He will be heard from this season.

Sun Beau has earned a life of leisure. He has been retired. So was Exterminator. But like Exterminator, Sun Beau likes to race. Should Phar Lap surpass him as champion money-winner the likelihood of his return to competition is far from remote. There are many who would relish an opportunity to see the Kilmer star pitted against the great one from "down under" before being put away for keeps.

Worthy Competition Assured.

With such great horses as these mentioned to oppose him, to say nothing of the present 3-year-old crop numbering such stars as Top Flight, Tick On and Burning Blaze. The Australian champion will not lack for worthy competition.

Phar Lap may follow up his Agua Caliente triumph with a race at Bowie, Md., early in April. Joseph McLennan, racing secretary of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, states that he has been in communication with D. J. Davis, part-owner of the star of the Antipodes, and is confident the gelding will be seen in action in the "Old Line" State.

One of Phar Lap's most remarkable traits is his ability to stand the rigors of long journeys. He made the 10,000-mile trip from Australia without mishap, and without even a serious training trial displayed an amazing turn of speed at the Mexican track. What he will do when fully acclimated to American racing promises to change turf history materially.

Papyrus, Epinard Failed.

Within the last decade Papyrus, Epinard and Phar Lap have come from foreign shores to challenge the supremacy of America's favorite thoroughbreds. Papyrus came over from England in 1923 for a match race against Zev, but failed to achieve his goal. The following year Epinard journeyed from France and competed several times in this country. The fruits of his invasion were meager.

But Phar Lap, in 1932, already has a different story to tell. His impressive introduction to turf followers on this continent gives him the right to challenge any and all horses in training, and if he lives up to the form shown in his debut, he will shake the hitherto unapproachable throne of Man o' War, who since 1920 has reigned as king of the thoroughbreds, a champion of champions.

Petrolle 8-5 Choice In Battalino Match

New York, March 21 (U.P.).—Broadway betters have established Billy Petrolle, of Fargo, N. Dak., as a 8-to-5 favorite over Bat Battalino, former featherweight champion, of Hartford, Conn., for their twelve-round bout at Madison Square Garden on Thursday night.

Fight fans regard the bout as a virtual final elimination leading to a chance against Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion. It is possible, however, that the winner will be pitted against the winner of the Jack Kid Berg-Sammy Fuller bout, with that victor gaining the lightweight title bout.

Cards Sign Gelbert, Star Short-Fielder

Bradenton, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—Charley Gelbert, shortstop, signed a 1932 contract with the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals today and went directly to the park to join the team in workouts.

He arrived in camp yesterday, had a short talk with President Breadon, and signed after a second conference today.

Chick Hafey, batting champion of the National League last year, is the only Cardinal player who has not signed.

No announcement was made as to Gelbert's salary. The club originally offered him $7,500 for the season, but at that time he held out for $12,500. His three-year contract for $7,000 each season expired last fall.

Foreign Athletes' Beer, Wine Barred

Los Angeles, Calif., March 21 (A.P.) Beer and wine in the diet of foreign athletes at the Olympic games here this summer, was placed under the ban of the Federal Prohibition Department today by Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition administrator.

The law is the law, Woodcock said, regardless of any claim that the athletes use light alcoholic beverages in their training.

"Possession and transportation of liquor is a violation of the law," he continued, "and there is nothing in the act that would enable the prohibition director to extend immunity to visiting athletes. Only Congress could extend immunity, and it would be interesting to determine whether Congress could do so legally."

Woodcock will leave tomorrow for Washington, stopping at Denver.

THIL OUTPOINTS HOOD.

Paris, March 21 (A.P.).—Marcel Thil, French middleweight, outpointed Jack Hood, of England, in their twelve-round match here tonight.

Ragland May Earn Relief Position

Friedrich and Griffith Disappointing in Spring Games.

Manager Had Hoped to Pick Up Effective Hurler at Camp.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post.)

BILOXI, Miss., March 21.—Manager Walter Perry Johnson has become quite apprehensive of the situation among the rookie pitchers in the camp of the Washington Ball Club and his hopes that the quintet of mound recruits would produce at least one acceptable performer, or mayhap two, have faded considerably at this stage of the proceedings.

The Nats have rounded out a full month in training camp and five exhibition games are under the bridge, but not a single rookie pitcher has impressed Johnson to the point where the Nats' manager is willing to admit that he has won himself a berth.

Johnson had selected Frank Ragland, Lynn Griffith and Bob Friedrich as the most promising young men of the five which included also Mike Delaney and Johnny Boyle, but, with the exception of Ragland, whose work has been passably fair, the Nats' manager sees little cause for glee.

Friedrich, Griffith Ineffective.

The steadiness required in the big leagues has not been displayed by either Friedrich or Griffith, who have shown unmistakable signs of wildness and ineffectiveness, which must be curbed in sensational manner in the next three weeks if they are to remain with the club. Both have been pounded by the Baltimore Orioles and the Louisville Colonels in the exhibition games.

Ragland appears to be proving his case, however, although his work has not been brilliant. He has displayed the best form of the trio this far, as was expected, since his career in baseball has been much longer—by several years—than Friedrich's or Griffith's.

His major league test has started for Ragland at the age of 26, but Ragland knows how to pitch, as Johnson phrases it, and he may do as a relief man.

Johnson's disappointment at the work of his rookie hurlers generally is expressed in the Nationals' manager's attitude.

Time for Rookies to Show Wares.

"This is the time of year when the rookies have got to make good for me," he says. "I can't afford to look them over when the season gets under way. They've got to show me what they have now. Ragland might do, but it's high time that Friedrich and Griffith are doing better than they have shown me.

"If they've got speed they ought to be showing it. This is the time of the year when they can bust 'em by the batters. They don't have to feel with curves now. Midseason will be time enough for that. I'm not through with them yet. They'll get plenty more work, but they've got to do better."

Three rookies are needed to round out the Nationals' hurling corps of nine, which is the plan of the team this season. Six have already been assigned regular posts—Crowder, Marberry, Brown, Burke, Fischer and Weaver. Three more will be retained. They may be drawn from Ragland, Griffith, Friedrich and Delaney, but they are likely to be acquired by way of the waiver route, unless these rookies present better arguments than have marked their efforts thus far.

Corbett Recovering From Attack of Flu

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—"I'm feeling fine," said Jim Corbett, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, today in answer to a telephone inquiry as to his health.

"Of course I'm not very spry and I have to watch about climbing stairs, but otherwise I'm o. k.," he said. "I'm going over to the garden Thursday night to see Billy Petrolle and Battalino fight. There are no stairs to climb over there, you know."

Corbett, who is 65, is recovering at his Long Island home from complications following upon an attack of influenza. His heart was weakened by the influenza and his thyroid gland affected.

Fields, McLarnin May Be Matched

Negotiations Under Way for Welter Title Bout in Chicago April 15.

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Negotiations were underway tonight for a welterweight championship battle between Jackie Fields, title holder, and Jimmy McLarnin, of Vancouver, British Columbia, at the Chicago Stadium, April 15.

Jack Kearns, manager of Fields, accepted the bout on condition that Fields would be guaranteed a return match if McLarnin won. "Pop" Foster, representing McLarnin, balked at this demand.

If McLarnin refuses, Lewis intends to match the winner of the Billy Petrolle-Battalino contest in New York Friday night with Fields. Lewis will leave for New York tomorrow to witness the Petrolle-Battalino fight.

Kearns, in behalf of Mickey Walker, also accepted a bout at the Stadium April 29 with George Nichols, of Buffalo, the National Boxing Association's newly light-heavyweight champion. Nichols may not be able to fight on this date, due to an injured hand, but he has signed contracts to box Walker at a later date, in the event a postponement is necessary.

Variety of Star Boxers On Nursery Card Tonight

Turner Meets Kirkwood in One of Eight-Rounders Featuring Program in Alexandria Ring.

By JACK ESPEY.

THIRTY-EIGHT rounds of punch-tossing, featuring a trio of eight-round bouts, is tonight's offering of the Day Nursery athletic committee in Portner Arena, Alexandria, the oasis for the Capital's thirsty fistic populace.

The action should be fast, as the card presents battlers of the lighter divisions who can step much more sprightly than the lumbering heavies, whose chief stock in trade is plain walloping. The latter attraction, however, will not be found missing, with such hard clouters as Bob Turner, of Newport News; Tootsie Bashara, of Norfolk, and Gabe Navos and K. O. Riley, both of Washington, listed to perform.

In the feature eights Turner engages Walter Kirkwood, clever local middleweight; Bashara duels Jimmy ("Sailor") McKenna, veteran hometown lightweight, and Nick Antonelli, ambitious Mohawk Club featherweight, tangles with the highly touted Al Martin, of Baltimore.

Because all of the talent have their eyes on bigger and better engagements in the future, which they may secure only by dint of sincere performance, it is difficult to single out any bouts as the night's probable feature. But the impressive earlier work of Turner and Kirkwood in the same ring may bring out a majority of the fans expecting their clash to prove most interesting.

Both boys have defeated Henry Irving, local knockout king, with Turner excelling in the role of knockerout. Irving kissed the resin in the first round as a victom of Turner's attack, but managed to last eight rounds against Kirkwood. The latter outpointed Turner and held him even in two contests last year in Newport News, Turner's home, but this has only served to whet Bob's appetite for a third clash.

Bashara, winner by kayo over Charlie Gomer, who outpointed McKenna last November, is expected to furnish the former Gob plenty of trouble. McKenna's experience may

District Commissioners Oppose Bill for Amateur Boxing Here

THE District Commissioners yesterday disapproved of a bill designed to permit amateur boxing in Washington in a report to the chairmen of the two District committees in Congress. The measure proposes to create a boxing commission with power to regulate and supervise amateur boxing in the city.

"In the judgment of the Commissioners there is no large public sentiment in favor of this bill," the report stated. "The Commissioners believe that the National Capital should be kept free from the possibility of disorder and criticism which might result from the holding of pugilistic encounters provided for in the bill."

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, in recommending unfavorable action on the bill to the Commissioners, pointed out that United States Attorney Leo A. Rover had likewise disapproved the measure.

Wood, Building Miss America X, Predicts 120-Mile Water Speed

NEW YORK, March 21 (A.P.).—A water speed of 120 miles an hour, perhaps more, was foreseen by Gar Wood, Detroit speed boat manufacturer and pilot, in announcing construction today of a new Miss America to defend the Harmsworth International Trophy this summer on the Detroit River.

The new craft, tenth in the line of Miss Americas, is to be the same general design as its predecessors, but several feet longer, Wood disclosed. It will be propelled by the same twin engines that recently drove the Miss America IX to a new world's record of 111.712 statute miles an hour on Indian Creek in Florida.

The engines are being rebuilt and equipped with new supercharges that are expected to produce about 700 additional horsepower.

JAZ AGE BREAKS ST. JOHNS RECORD IN OPENING FEATURE

Flag Bearer Is Second In Duel

Looked Like Winner Until the Stretch Was Reached.

Incorrect Placing by Judges Causes Excitement.

ST. JOHNS PARK, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—The last lap of the Florida racing season was inaugurated here this afternoon as the Florida Jockey Club's ten-day spring meeting got under way. A fair sized crowd, including Roddy Burdine, chairman of the State racing commission, viewed the sport. Intermittent showers drove spectators to cover during the afternoon.

The feature event, the St. Johns Handicap for 3-year-olds and upward at 6 furlongs, resulted in a head victory for the well-backed Jaz Age, which carried the silks of Johnny Parmelee. Flag Bearer took the place by a half length from Street Singer with Fortunate Youth a close fourth. Jaz Age hung up a new track mark of 1:13 2-5 and paid $8.60.

Horses Placed Wrongly On Board.

There was considerable excitement after the race. The judges, H. D. Monroe, George Read and T. O'Brien, placed Uluniu second and left Flag Bearer out of the first four. Uluniu appeared to finish sixth. After the official sign had been put up the officials realized their mistake and the correct placing was made, also an announcement to the crowd to call their attention to the error.

Flag Bearer stole a long lead and appeared a winner until approaching the home stretch where Jaz Age, a forward contender, came around the leader with a rush. Flag Bearer carried the ultimate winner very wide and by bearing out did himself no good. Jaz Age was game enough to gain and hold the lead in a great finish. Street Singer got out of tight quarters around the bend and closed a lot of ground to land in the picture.

Takoma-S. S. Five Bows in Cumberland

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 21.—Allegany High School captured the Western Shore P. A. L. basket ball championship here tonight when it defeated the Takoma Park-Silver Spring quintet, 35 to 16. The victory entitles the Cumberland lads to meet the champions of the Eastern Shore in the State-wide final. The play throughout the game was good. The Upstaters' defense was of the best, they holding the Springs team to a lone field goal and a pair of fouls in the first half, which ended with Allegany leading, 11 to 4.

Bozievick, for the losers, played an outstanding game, while Cessna played well for the winners.

GAR WOOD PREDICTS 120-MILE RECORD

"I think it safe to predict we will reach 120 miles an hour in the new boat," Wood said. "We might beat that. The added length will make it more seaworthy and we expect the new superchargers to add materially to the speed."

The Miss America X is being built primarily to defend the Harmsworth Cup, for which Lord Wakefield, British sportsman, again has challenged. Lord Wakefield is constructing a Miss England III to supplant Miss England II, which cracked up in the last races when its pilot, Kay Don, was caught in the backwash of Wood's boat. Don again will drive Lord Wakefield's challenger.

Wood said he might enter only one boat in the next Harmsworth races, instead of two, as in the past. His substitute craft, Miss America VIII, won the last one in a walk after Wood's boat was disqualified for beating the gun and Miss England II had crashed.

"It might be fairer," Wood commented, "if there is only one challenger. Maybe I'll enter only one boat."

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WAVE TOP, $9.90, $3.90, $3.30; CHATTAHOOCHEE, $2.70, $2.30; WEATHERPROOF $3.00.

WAVE TOP, away in the first flight and following the pacemaker closely, took command when approaching the stretch turn, was kept under stout pressure to withstand the closing effort of CHATTAHOOCHEE. Latter, outpaced in the first three furlongs, improved his position willingly on the outside when placed to punishment, was gaining steadily in final drive. WEATHERPROOF, slow to settle in his stride, moved up resolutely in the final three furlongs and closed with excellent courage on the inside. BOB BLACKBURN, unable to keep near the pacemakers in the early stages, continued gamely in final test. WILD CRESS, forced to race wide from the start, showed a good effort.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $600; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:13½. Off at 3:14. Winner, H. A. Coulson's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DONNY JOHNNY, $12.40, $3.80, $2.90; OUTBOUND, $5.20, $2.60; ELLICE, $3.60.

DONNY JOHNNY, rated within striking distance of the pacemakers, responded readily to punishment when straightened into the home stretch, slipped through between the leaders and, in a stiff drive, was up in the last sixteenth mile. OUTBOUND displayed high early speed, raced ELLICE into submission in the first half mile and was kept under severe urging after moving into a brief lead, but could not withstand the winner's effort. ELLICE began fast, saved ground while setting a fast early pace, but was done after five furlongs. JOHN MILL was unable to improve his position at any stage. MONTANARO lacked early speed.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:42. Off at 3:46. Winner, Mrs. H. S. Hart's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COOTS, $7.10, $3.50, $4.40; MARABOU, $9.30, $6.70; VALLEY, $5.90.

COOTS, going in good form and having good speed, disposed of NELSON without effort after the opening furlong, sprinted away into a commanding lead and held away throughout the last three furlongs. MARABOU improved his position while saving ground, responded to punishment, but was unable to menace the winner. VALLEY, a stout factor from the beginning, slipped through a narrow opening rounding the turn, but flattened out fast in the final drive. JOSEPHINE D. dropped out of it in the early stages, came to the outside when settled in her stride and closed full of run on ouside. SUN WORSHIP finished with good speed and in close quarters.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800. St. John's Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:14½. Off at 4:24. Winner, J. Parmalee's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JAZ AGE, $8.60, $4.80, $3.90; FLAG BEARER, $11.40, $13.80; STREET SINGER, $3.90.

JAZ AGE, in nearest pursuit of FLAG BEARER, moved up stoutly to join pacemaker when entering the home stretch. He was carried extremely wide into the home stretch, but continuing resolutely after taking a brief lead, just lasted under vigorous pressure. FLAG BEARER, sprinted into a long lead in the first three furlongs, bolted out badly at the stretch turn, carrying JAZ AGE wide and then held on with rare gameness until the finish. STREET SINGER, outrun early, worked his way into contention on the outside and finished with excellent speed. FORTUNATE YOUTH, slow to get going, finished with a belated rush on the outside.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $600; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:48. Off at 4:50. Winner, E. R. Bradley's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHICSU, $4.00, $2.60, $2.70; GARLIC, $4.70, $4.10; FAIR BILL, $2.60.

CHICSU outran her field to the first turn, was steadied under slight restraint until reaching the far turn, responded to a stiff drive and, holding on with excellent courage, outstayed GARLIC in the final drive. GARLIC, restrained off the pace for the first six furlongs, moved to the winner midway of the final turn and fought it out stubbornly all during the late stages. FAIR BILL, badly outrun for the first six furlongs, was shaken up during the final half mile and came with a rush nearing the finish. BAGIEL offered good contention for the first seven furlongs, then weakened during the closing drive. DEA had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $600; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 5:14½. Off at 5:19½. Winner, J. Edwards' ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RED FACE, $3.80, $3.70, $2.30; RAVE, $7.00, $3.80; PLAY BILL, $2.50.

RED FACE rushed into a forward position, followed close up until leaving the back stretch, wore CRYSTAL DOMINO down to take command inside the closing furlong, but had to be stoutly urged to withstand RAVE nearing the finish. Latter, slow to get going, improved his position on the outside until reaching the home stretch, swerved to the inside and was going resolutely at the end. PLAY BILL entered contention rounding the final turn and outstayed CRYSTAL DOMINO. Latter, rated in front and saving ground, weakened during the final drive. He pulled up very lame. ERA, slow to begin, made up a lot of ground in the final half mile.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $600; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:43½. Off at 5:44. Winner, H. Herron's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JUDGE CAVERLY, $10.10, $13.60, $7.00; PRINCE BULBO, $11.60, $4.50; CONFIDENTIAL, $15.70.

JUDGE CAVERLY, sent into a forward position, was taken to outside when moving to the leaders and, closing full of run, wore PRINCE BULBO down in the last few strides. PRINCE BULBO, racing close to MIKE CAREY, displaced the latter when entering the home stretch, was energetically handled, but faltered right at the end. CONFIDENTIAL, always close up, finished with good courage in the final drive. WEST VIRGINIA was never a factor and was placed fourth through error. He finished next to last. LAFTAR, well up all the way, held on with good courage. He finished fourth in the running, but was not given that position. MIKE CAREY was used up setting the pace and quit. WINNIE JO could not reach the leaders.

—St. John's Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

ST. JOHNS PARK, Jacksonville, Fla., March 21.—Large fields, but lacking in quality, are the order of the racing tomorrow at St. Johns Park, but too much should not be expected at this track, which is a stop-over en route to Bowie, where major racing will begin April 1. St. Johns will probably mark up a loss, but the Tropical Park management decided to shift the racing from Miami with increasing patronage because of the insistence of Jacksonville for a short meeting at Bayard.

PRINCETON, which won his last race at Miami, looks much the best in the fourth race, the feature. In his last race PRINCETON beat CHATTAHOOCHEE by a head and the two should finish in that order tomorrow, but the latter horse is in very light with 99 pounds. He ran second to Wave Top last out and will be favorite over PRINCETON. HARRY HIEOVER should get third.

FIRST RACE—TOY TOWN looks best in the opener. STRAIT JACKET should be a close contender on his third to Capsheaf in 48 seconds, track record for a half mile. NUNS WAY ran a good race some time ago, being second to Adorland, and should hold the balance of the field safe.

SECOND RACE—NONANA probably will repeat her easy victory of last week over Harum Scarum by taking the second. The G. Crawford filly led all the way in a much better field than this. GAN LEE has the call for place, and BLANKET BAY probably will finish third.

THIRD RACE—MARABOU is probably the class of the third race, but will have a dangerous rival in HARUM SCARUM, whose last race as recounted above against Nonana makes him a keen contender. MARABOU'S last race in which he was third to Brooksie and Coots, makes him appear the solid horse in this sprint. ROBERTA L., which has been running well in Havana, is best of the others.

FIFTH RACE—McTINKLE, a fast horse at times, is thrown in an inferior field and should win. He may have a brush with ESTIN, but this campaigner seems to have had too much racing and is falling back. It appears to be a two-horse race between these two. JIMMIE L. has a chance for third money. McTINKLE finished in front of ESTIN the last time they met, but neither was close to the winner.

SIXTH RACE—COMMON is in a winning streak and should make it three in a row in the sixth race at a mile. He beat Highest Point the other day. HOME WORK, winner over Spanfair last out, is rated the contender.

SEVENTH RACE—SILVERY should beat PLAY BILL in the seventh. SILVERY was beaten by Tack and Genial Host at a mile and a quarter in 2:03 3-5. PLAY BILL on the same day won his race at a mile and a sixteenth, but in slower time, relatively. COCKRILL, which has been racing at the Fair Grounds, may be the third horse.

ALEXANDRIA LEAD AT STAKE

Scholastic, Central to Meet in Series Wednesday.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 21.—The crucial game in the Alexandria senior basket ball loop will be played on Wednesday in the armory when the Scholastics and Centrals clash for undisputed possession of first place. The two clubs have gone through the series without a defeat, each side winning three games. Manager Theodore Beach, of the Scholastics, has closely watched the Centrals in battles and predicts the toughest game of the season for his team.

Other contests on the schedule find the Fraters meeting the Southern Methodist Boys Club and the Eagles and Boy Scouts crossing loops in a junior fray. The first game will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Nolan, Nugent Lead Juniors.

Point scoring standings find Nolan and Nugent, of the Eagles, in the junior division, tied for first place, with 21 points. Chilcotte, of the Temples, leads the senior loop with 41. Sublett, of the Centrals, is second, with 29, and Zimmerman, Scholastics, third, with 27. Stan Dreifus is fourth with 24.

Theodore Beach, manager of the Nation-Wide Baseball Team, announced today he had signed Bill Langford, of the Celtics, to coach his club this season. Gene Zimmerman, Vincent Curtis, and Finney Gardiner are new players on the roll. The Nation-Wide boys will enter the Capital City loop.

Director Charlie Corbett, of the Celtics nine, has scheduled two games for his club in Lynchburg for April 30 and May 1. The Celtics will play the Lynchburg A. C.

Swedish King Forced To Default Net Match

Cannes, France, March 21 (A.P.).—The King of Sweden, a tennis enthusiast despite his years, was forced to scratch from the semifinals of the Cannes tennis tournament today because his partner, A. Delbono, had to return to Italy to begin training for the Davis Cup play.

The king asked the Italian authorities to postpone the training date, but they replied it was inadvisable.

ALL-STAR MATCHES IN ALEXANDRIA RING

offset Tootsie's terrific punching, although the wise boys look for the Norfolk youngster to make good on his promise.

Antonelli is in a spot similar to McKenna's, for in Martin he faces a busy puncher who keeps wading in from bell to bell. Nick is a clever counter-puncher and has the stamina to absorb punishment, but Martin may prove too strong in the end.

Navos and Pete Powell, his opponent from Newport News, are real enemies, having fought three times before. Powell won the first two and lost the third, claiming that Gabe butted him in that brawl. Navos, with three knockouts at Portner's to his credit, has high hopes of making it four in a row and leveling his score with the doughty little Virginian. They will travel six rounds barring a sudden finish.

K. O. Riley, a welterweight who has been on the shelf with a broken rib for two months, gets back into action against Sam Finazzo, of Baltimore, for four rounds. Len King, Warrenton, Va., featherweight, and Kid Roanoke, of Fort Howard, will open the show.

Boxing Bits' selections: Kirkwood to defeat Turner; Bashara to shade McKenna; Martin to conquer Antonelli; Navos to beat Powell; Riley to decision Finazzo, and King to outpoint Roanoke.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

FOXLEY NAMED TECH COACH

Baseball Post To Ex-Utah Athlete

Succeeds Edwards on Staff; Lanahan Prepares Arm.

G. U. Prep Plans for Big Interscholastic Golf Tourney.

EDWARD G. FOXLEY, former athlete at the University of Utah, yesterday was named by the school board to fill the vacancy left Friday by Mal Edwards, baseball coach at Tech High School. Foxley presented credentials at Tech yesterday and will take over charge of the baseball nine.

Foxley's name appeared at the top of a competitive examination taken last December. Third on the list is Paul Doerr, former Eastern High and Maryland athlete, and fourth is Artie Wondrack, Tech and Maryland. Both move up a notch as a result of Foxley's appointment.

Foxley was an all-around athlete at Utah, is 27 years old and reputed to be a competent coach.

For the past year Foxley has been an instructor at Hines Junior High.

Dick Lanahan will be on hand again with Eastern High's nine this year and already is working out along with the Eastern battery candidates. Lanahan is beginning to be as much of an institution at Eastern as Bernie Phillips, but the truth of the matter is that this is only his fourth year. He is 19.

Chuck Guyon, veteran rotund coach at Eastern, has persuaded Lanahan to return to school next year to complete his school work and play for dear old Eastern. There were rumors that Lanahan would join a minor league team after the close of the impending season.

Georgetown Prep plans one of the biggest interscholastic golf tournaments ever attempted in this region, to be held May 20, 21, 22 over the school's Garrett Park course.

Invitations have been issued to all local high and prep schools and the teams of college freshmen and to such outside institutions as Woodberry Forest, Massanutten, Swavely, Staunton, Episcopal, Shenandoah, Navy Plebes, Mount St. Mary's, Bethesda-Chevy Chase, Takoma-Silver Spring, Rockville, Gaithersburg, Frederick, Hyattsville and all Baltimore schools.

A squad of more than twenty young golfers are seeking berths on the Georgetown Prep Team, which starts its season shortly after the Easter holidays.

Play Tonight in A. A. U. Tourney

CENTRAL AND GRIFFITHS BATTLE

"C" Club Aiming for Semifinals Tonight in A. A. U. Play.

EITHER Central High's crack "C" Club team or the Griffith-Consumers will move into the semifinal round of the District A. A. U. basket ball tournament tonight at Tech High, when the two sterling clubs clash in one of the choicest plums on the week's entire sports calendar.

The sterling game will go on at 10 o'clock, preceded by three important tilts, which will produce a finalist in the senior girls section and semifinalists in the 130 and 145 pound groups.

Central, with one of its greatest teams since the days of Forrest Burgess, Pete Nee, Mickey McDonald and Earl Moser, has been deemed the underdog tonight by the A. A. U. officials in charge of making the draw, for the Consumers were posted as the No. 1 seeded team three weeks ago at the start of the tournament, and Central seeded No. 8.

Scholastic Stars In Line-up.

But the "C" Club's outfit, manned by such scholastic stars as Billy Burke, Bits Keyser, Buddy Nau, Jack Moulton and Rex Smith, has gained many backers since the start of the race, and it would not surprise many followers of the tournament to see Central lug home the old bacon tonight.

The Griffs have more than the A. A. U. tournament, with its attendant title of District champion, to win in this joust. They boosted themselves to the top-seeded position by winning over the Saks Clothiers in the Community Center League and then fell before Delaware & Hudson in that league's play-off when the team used only four men for a greater part of the last half. They are out to redeem themselves, this aggregation of Peck, Wiler, Timmons, Lilly, Adair and Lyles, but eight foot barriers are in their path.

Griffiths Slightly Favored.

Central, the first of these barriers, has a slightly more brilliant attack than the Griffs, but the slightly favored Griffs pack more stretch finish. Central has a slight edge on passing, with Buddy Nau firing the horseside, but Central's best shot, Billy Burke, will find himself pitted against two outstanding marksmen in Tom Peck and Fats Wiler.

The Rockville Girls, winner of the junior girls championship last year, will make their initial appearance in the senior girls division tonight at 7 o'clock when they stack up against the strong Jewish Community Center sextet. The J. C. C. showed its mettle in the first round by beating the Satellites, 17-15, in the last twenty seconds of play. The winner will move into the final round.

The other games match seasoned foes in the Y. M. C. A. Flashes and Northern Preps, 130 pounders, and Oakton (Va.) High School and The Shade Shop, 145-pound teams.

The same nominal admission fee of 25 cents will prevail.

U. S. Title Duckpin Event Opens at Norfolk Today

DUCKPIN bowlers of the Nation await the zero hour which will send them into action today at Norfolk, Va., in quest of national championships. Approximately 165 teams, and a corresponding number of entries in the singles and doubles classes, will roll in the tournament, which will be conducted under the auspices of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress. The tournament will continue until April 9.

All of the champions of 1931 will defend their titles. In the male division, this includes the Rosebuds, of Bridgeport, Conn., winner in the team event; Eddie Espey and Paul Harrison, doubles winners; Jack Whalen, individual ace, all of this city, and Ray Barnes, of Baltimore, all-events king.

D. C. Women Hold Three Titles.

Three of the women's titles are possessed by Washington bowlers. The John Blicks hold the team honors, Margaret Miltner and Elsie Fischer are doubles champs, while Pauline Ford holds the all-events title. Lotta Janowitz, of Baltimore, holds the individual honors.

One of the features of the tournament this year promises to develop in the battle for the junior and boy titles. Only five contestants are entered in each of the classes, but all hail from widely scattered points on the map and are recognized as the leading pinspillers in their respective classes. Washington will be represented in the junior matches by Bobby Wray, and in the boys by Stewart Patti. There is also a strong local interest in Bob Temple, sensational Hyattsville youth, who will be one of Wray's opponents for the junior title. Eddie Espey captured the latter event last year.

April 2 has been designated Washington day at Norfolk. Those who will roll in the tournament will make the trip to the Virginia city by boat, leaving here Friday night and arriving Saturday morning.

Russell, Tech High Star, Ineligible for Baseball

Everett Russell, bulwark of Tech High School's baseball team, is ineligible and will not be with the nine for its first two series tussle. He may not play at all this year, in order to concentrate completely on his studies. He is scheduled to graduate in June, after a brilliant high school sports career.

Russell pitched and played first base for the last three Tech teams. He was an all-high first baseman.

Hitting The Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

APPROXIMATELY 3,000 mail carriers are reported to be carrying guns on their hips as they make their rounds today, with orders to shoot on sight one Bill Howder, all because he brought about the defeat of Postoffice in one of its three games with Veterans' Bureau in the Men's Federal League at Arcadia last night.

Today Postoffice is out of the top position for the first time this year. It had been tied on several occasions, but never did it relinquish its position at the head of the parade. It would not have done so last night had not Howder come through with a spare in his last box, and an 8-pin count to give the Veterans' Bureau a one-pin victory.

Commerce now leads the loop by virtue of its three-game victory over Shipping Board.

Girls' Title Golf Tourney Is Added to D. C. Calendar

A WELL-ATTENDED meeting of the Woman's District Golf Association, held yesterday at the clubhouse of the National Women's Country Club, was devoted mainly to revising the constitution of the association and in receiving a handsome gavel, with a suitably inscribed silver plate, presented by Mrs. Tom Moore.

The tournament committee subsequently met and decided to add a girls' championship tournament to the season's program. This event, thirty-six holes medal play, will be staged either on the course of the National Women's or Woodmont Clubs, and will be played on Thursday and Friday, June 30 and July 1. All girls who have not passed their twenty-first birthday and who are members of member clubs in the association will be eligible to compete. The entrance fee will be $1.00.

It was announced that the women's Maryland State championship will be played on the Elkridge Club course from Tuesday, May 31, to Friday, June 4, inclusive, and that on September 29 a women's tournament under the auspices of the Maryland States Golf Association would be played on the course of the Columbia Club.

Five clubs announced their intention to place Class B teams in the field for competition in the women's interclub matches, but these second teams will be assigned dates separately from first teams.

The miniature tournament scheduled for the National Women's Club on July 8 was changed to Monday, October 24.

Mass. Boxing Body Bans Gorilla Jones

Boston, March 21 (U.P.).—The license of Gorilla Jones, Akron, Ohio, middleweight, to fight in Massachusetts was suspended indefinitely today by the State boxing commission. The suspension resulted from Jones' stalling in his bout with Frankie O'Brien, of Hartford, Conn., at Holyoke, March 14. The bout, a scheduled 10-round affair, was stopped in the eighth.

O'Brien tried to fight, the commission ruled, and consequently the bout could not be called no contest. As a result, it was necessary to give Jones his share of the purse, which had been withheld pending the commission's ruling. Jones is the National Boxing Association's middleweight champion.

MARTINSBURG ROTARY WINS

Martinsburg, W. Va., March 21.—In a thrilling finale the Martinsburg Rotary Club Juniors defeated Hose Co. A foul shot by Lloyd, with one minute to play, provided the winning margin. The game was nip and tuck throughout, at no time more than three points separating the teams. Rhodes was high scorer for the winner.

marker of the fray, making the scoreboard read 23-18 in their favor.

With only a few minutes of playing time left, Chumbris dribbled the length of the floor and shoved a one-hand shot through, and Charley Nau netted one from a difficult side angle, and the subsequent shot which was awarded him when he was fouled, bringing the score to 23-21. One minute of time was left and though both teams peppered the baskets with numerous shots, neither was able to score.

Powhatans Extend Eastern Reserve Five

The cocky Eastern Reserves were hard put to suppress the determined Powhatans in the 130-pound class, but in the end team play, superior conditioning and numerical strength triumphed. The final score was 35-21. Eastern gaining the semifinal round by its victory.

The Powhatans forced the issue in the first period and were leading, 8-7, as the second quarter got under way. Eastern rallied in the second quarter and after a bitter fight managed to obtain a 16-15 lead just as the half ended. The fight waxed hot until midway in the third period when the grind began to tell on the Powhatans, and with no reserves to substitue for them the boys gradually fell behind. Bassin, Edelin and Hale led the Eastern attack. Dodge was best for the losers.

FOURTH IS ARRESTED AFTER ABDUCTION OF MARYLAND FARMER

Three Other Men Seized in 60-Mile-an-Hour Chase Through Anacostia.

3 SUSPECTS IN GROUP IDENTIFIED BY VICTIM

Warrants Charging Robbery and Assault Will Be Sworn Out Today.

A fourth man was arrested early today in connection with the robbery and abduction of a Maryland farmer. The man was picked up at Ninth street and New York avenue northwest by Private U. M. Gail, of the First Precinct, through a lookout broadcast by the Eleventh Precinct. The man gave his name as James Sheahin, 27 years old, of 4531 Illinois avenue northwest.

Three men had been arrested here previously yesterday after a 60-mile-an-hour chase through Anacostia, according to police. These three were identified by the farmer, according to Sheriff Robert V. Cooksey, of Charles County.

Will Be Taken to Maryland.

Sheriff Cooksey and the farmer, Thomas Gray, of Pomonkey, Md., came to the Eleventh Precinct station yesterday and Gray pointed them out as the men who came to his home Sunday night, Cooksey said. He added that warrants charging the three with robbery and assault would be sworn out today, and that he would take them back to Maryland as soon as District police turn them over.

The three men are Arundle Robinson, 21 years old, of 535 Seventh street southeast; Albert W. Bridges, 21, of 1014 South Carolina avenue southeast; and Stanley F. Petrone, 22, of 2824 Georgia avenue northwest. The other who Gray said was in the band which robbed him is still at large.

Jumped From Their Car.

According to the farmer, five men came to his door early in the morning. When he answered their knock he was seized and held while they ransacked the house. Finding about $300, they left, taking Gray with them. He jumped from their car when it stopped at another farmhouse, and the men fled toward Washington.

The license number of the car was telephoned ahead, and a broadcast was picked up by a radio patrol car occupied by Policemen George Greenip and L. M. Welch. They sighted a car containing five men and chased it for several blocks, arresting three of them when the machine crashed into a curb near the Bolling Field road.

Brackett's Death Called Accidental

Prominent Tree Surgeon, of Virginia, Will Be Buried Tomorrow.

A certificate of accidental death was issued yesterday in the death of W. W. Brackett, 32 years old, well known Vienna, Va., landscape architect and tree surgeon, who died at Emergency Hospital Sunday night from injuries caused by a tree falling on him while he was working at Chevy Chase, Md. The certificate was issued by Coroner Joseph D. Rogers.

Mr. Brackett was a native of Lexington, Ky. He enlisted in the Medical Corps at the age of 17 and was wounded in France while on duty with a hospital unit. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Aurelia Moore, of Bethesda, Md., to whom he was married 10 months ago; a 9-year-old daughter, Marie, by a previous marriage; his father, J. W. Brackett, of Indianapolis, Ind., and a sister, Mrs. J. R. Barker, of Lexington, Ky.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Tabler's Funeral Parlors, 928 M street northwest. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Quick Run Saves Man With Bone in Throat

Prompt action on the part of the Fire Department Rescue Squad and physicians at Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon probably saved the life of Joseph Estridge, 39 years old, of Mount Holly, N. C.

Estridge, who gave his local address as 3212 M street northwest, was eating lunch in a drug store at Wisconsin avenue and M street northwest. He was suddenly seized with a fit of coughing, and was rushed to the hospital, where doctors extracted a large fish bone.

Receivers Named For Branch Stores

Parker-Bridget and F. & W. Concerns Placed Under Court Action.

Justice Peyton Gordon, sitting as motions judge of the District Supreme Court yesterday, signed two ancillary receiverships for nationally known stores having a branch here. One was for the Parker-Bridget Co. in the Washington Building and the other was for the F. & W. 5-10-25 Cent Store at 400 Seventh street northwest.

Clifford E. McGlauflin, permanent receiver for the Parker-Bridget Corporation, of Portland, Me., petitioned the court for a receivership here to take over the assets of the local store, which were valued at $350,000. Frank M. Low was named by Justice Gordon as the ancillary receiver, who is to operate the store and continue it as a going concern. Receivership proceedings were granted in Maine on March 25.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, Harold L. Green and the Irving Trust Co. were named as ancillary receivers for the F. & W. Store. A petition for receivership was filed in New York City by the Max Hosiery Mills, Inc., and the action taken here was simply for the purpose of bringing all the assets under a combined action.

MORE PROOF ASKED IN CAPITAL AID PLEA

House Subcommittee Defers Vote on $600,000 Fund for District Needy.

Further proof of the need for Federal allotment of $600,000 for District unemployment relief was asked yesterday by the House District appropriations subcommittee, following hearings on emergency supplemental estimates recommended by the Budget Bureau.

The District Commissioners, Paul Benjamin, executive secretary of the District employment committee, and heads of various charitable organizations, told the subcommittee the additional funds are urgently necessary to carry local relief through another winter.

Committee members asked more specific data on the percentage of charity funds that go for salaries, and for actual relief. Testimony showed that 7 per cent of the Community Chest fund was spent in making collections—that from 25 to 50 per cent was used for expenses in some of the relief groups, it was stated.

This morning the committee will visit streets scheduled for repair and various building sites. Tomorrow they may resume hearings on the $600,000 relief fund, or may order instead the additional data printed in records of the hearings.

Representative William P. Holaday (Republican), Illinois, asked citation of precedent for contributions of public funds, and sought to show Washington less affected by the business recession than other cities of similar size, in its course of the hearings.

Sixty-five local relief organizations were represented. Witnesses included George S. Wilson, director of the Board of Public Welfare; Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor; Father Lawrence J. Sheehan, of Catholic Charities; Walter S. Ufford, of Associated Charities; Capt. James Asher, of the Salvation Army; Francis Miller, of the American Legion; Mrs. W. A. Roberts, of the Council of Social Agencies, and Mrs. T. Goldsmith, of the Hebrew Relief Society.

Couple Prominent Socially to Wed

Alfred P. Thom 3d and Pansy B. Bloomer Get License.

A license to marry was issued yesterday in Rockville, Md., to two socially prominent members of Washington's younger set. They are Alfred Pembroke Thom 3d, 20 years old, of Washington, and Miss Pansy Beale Bloomer, 19, of Chevy Chase, Md.

Mr. Thom was accompanied to the license office by his parents after the young woman's father had made arrangements. Because he is but 20 years old, a year below legal age, consent of his parents was necessary. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pembroke Thom, jr. His fiancee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Beale Bloomer, of Chevy Chase.

Miss Bloomer made her debut last fall at a tea given by her parents at their home in West Bradley lane. The engagement of the couple was announced in January, at which time it was said that the marriage would take place late in the summer. The marriage is to take place Saturday.

Newspaper Theft Nets 30 Days.

A 30-day sentence was given Clarence White, colored, yesterday in Police Court, when he was convicted of stealing a newspaper from a store at 1820 Fourteenth street northwest. Policeman R. C. Jackson said that he saw White take the paper.

Ducks' Death In River Laid To Grenades

Rifle grenade practice at Fort Humphreys, Va., has been very successful if the score can be counted in ducks.

That the engines of war can be deadly even in peace time was proved yesterday by the Biological Survey. And, incidentally, the duck death mystery of the Potomac has been solved.

Of course, the soldiers did not aim the grenades at the ducks, but the ducks suffered, hundreds dying.

Last week a fisherman noticed a great number of dead wild ducks floating in the river near the fort. The Biological Survey was notified and Louis A. Blanchard investigated.

He learned that the waters of Pohick Creek were polluted with phosphorus. Stomachs of the dead ducks showed traces of phosphorus poisoning.

Blanchard's investigation showed that the poison originated in grenades fired into the marshes during practice. Small crystals of phosphorus were formed which the ducks swallowed.

Officials at the fort said that no more grenades would be fired into the marsh and river. Hunters of the vicinity believe that it will be months before the poison will be washed from the marsh.

LINCOLN PARK GROUP FIGHTS HOSPITAL AID

Asserts Casualty Is Private Institution Not Entitled to Appropriation.

Opposition to any public appropriation for the benefit of Casualty Hospital was expressed last night by members of Lincoln Park Citizens Association. The group met at Bryan School.

The action was taken in reference to the bill now pending in Congress which would appropriate $50,000 to the medical institution.

A committee of five members was named to take the association's objections before the District committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Those named on the committee were Frank Blair, John N. Grubb, Dr. Grace B. Holmes, George B. Bares and C. D. Reckwey.

Objections to donating public money to the Massachusetts avenue hospital, as outlined by members of the association, were that it was a private institution and that persons who were unable to pay for medical care were transferred from it to Gallinger Municipal Hospital.

Several specific instances of the refusal of the hospital to admit cases for which there was no payment were cited at the meeting.

In a resolution the body asked that the renewal of the lease to property at 141-151 Twelfth street northeast to the City Cab Co. be refused.

This action named excessive noise as the reason for the stand. The property is used by the cab company as a garage.

Six new members were admitted. L. R. Tindal was elected vice president to succeed Harry G. Kimball. The association promised all possible aid to the District employment committee after hearing an address by Edward B. Merritt.

Police Clerk Bill Introduced.

A bill to extend the tenure of office of F. A. Sebring, clerk of Police Court, was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator James E. Watson (Republican), Indiana.

MAPES BILL HEARING SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Capper Announces Estate Tax Plan Will Be Studied Tuesday.

The proposed District estate tax, first of the four Mapes taxation measures to be revised and approved by the Bureau of Efficiency, will be the subject of an open hearing before the Senate District committee next Tuesday afternoon.

The District Commissioners and all interested local civic groups will be invited to testify at the hearings, Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the committee, announced last night.

Representative Carl F. Mapes (Republican), Michigan, chairman of the special fiscal relations committee that drafted the bills, indicated he would attend the Senate hearings only if invited to do so.

Estate and Auto Tax Bills.

Three of the four taxation measures by which the Mapes committee hopes to add $4,000,000 to District revenues, enabling the House to cut the Federal lump sum $3,000,000, have been passed on by the Bureau of Efficiency.

The estate and automobile weight tax bills were virtually rewritten by the bureau, while a 2-cent boost in the gasoline tax was approved. The bureau has not yet completed its analysis of the Mapes income-tax bill. Indications are it will be revised more closely to conform with the Federal income tax.

Prisoner Reform Plan.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the Senate District committee will hold hearings on Senator Capper's bill to establish a board of indeterminate sentence and parole for the District. Under its terms a board of three members would examine the physical, mental and moral records of prisoners and recommend treatment for their reformation. The Commissioners and District penal officials have been asked to be present.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock a Senate District subcommittee will take up a bill to prohibit attorneys not members of the District Supreme Court bar from practicing as lawyers in the District.

Hunt for Job Failing, Man Dies From Poison

Death ended an unsuccessful search for a job yesterday when Ray Fairman, 25 years old, of Pawtucket, R. I., died in Emergency Hospital from the results of a poison dose he is said to have taken in a restaurant Saturday night after an unsuccessful search for work.

According to police, Fairman entered the restaurant and after eating several sandwiches, is said to have swallowed a quantity of poison. He was taken to the hospital, where he died yesterday morning.

COVENANT BLAMED FOR LEAGUE FAILURE TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Felix Morley Says Council Is Not Cause of Peace Plan's Futility.

DECLARES U. S. STAND IS HIGHLY IMPORTANT

Hornbeck Says America Had Large Part in Bringing About Controversy.

Failure of the League of Nations to settle the Sino-Japanese dispute was attributed to legal restrictions in the League covenant rather than to weakness on the part of the council of the League, by Felix Morley, of the Brookings Institution, at the evening session yesterday of the Institute of Far Eastern Affairs of the American University Graduate School.

Mr. Morley, formerly correspondent in the Far East and at Geneva for the Baltimore Sun, attacked charges that the league has "failed" in its handling of the Far Eastern crisis, asserting that it would be just as logical to state that the United States Government has failed because prohibition is not adequately enforced.

Nonmembership of this country and Russia has greatly hampered the council's efforts, Mr. Morley told the institute. He termed the announced intention of the United States not to recognize any situation, treaty or agreement brought about by means contrary to the Kellogg pact as a most important move toward better international cooperation. Indorsement of this policy by the assembly has come close to making the United States "an associate member of the league," he said.

Dr. Moulton Is Speaker.

The evening session, held at the Brookings Institution, was also addressed by Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the institution.

Dr. Moulton emphasized the need for maintenance of satisfactory political and commercial relations between the United States and Japan because of the reciprocal character of the greater part of the trade between the countries.

For Japan maintenance of friendly relations is of vital importance, he avowed. The two commodities of most importance in the trade between the two countries are raw cotton to Japan and raw silk to the United States, he explained.

The principal American imports that may be regarded as competitive in character are iron and steel, machinery and parts, automobiles and accessories, copper ingots and slabs and dynamos and transformers, he pointed out.

Exports of Japanese.

The principal competitive products among Japanese exports to the United States are silk tissues, and handkerchiefs, potteries, dolls and toys, he added. Dr. Moulton is the author of "Japan, an Economic and Financial Appraisal."

Katsuji Debuchi, the Japanese Ambassador, extended a greeting to the institute at the opening of the evening session. "Through the institute," he said, "you are seeking that knowledge which is the keystone of the mighty bridge to cross the mighty ocean." He praised Chester D. Pugsley for his generosity and vision in founding the institute. Mr. Pugsley presided at last night's session.

At the opening session of the institute yesterday Dr. Frederic A. Ogg, professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin, and lecturer at the American University Graduate School, declared that there is every reason to believe that in time popular government will be a reality in Japan although, he added, it may not come as soon as "some superficial observers" have predicted.

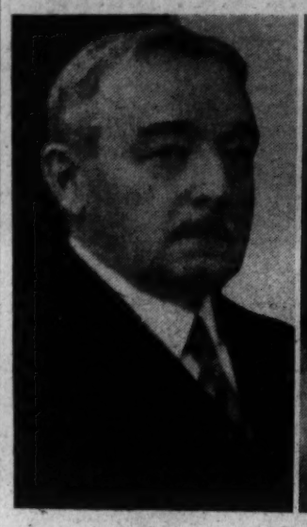
Forced to Open Doors.

Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs of the State Department, opened the institute with the assertion that the problems of the Far East are as much of our making as of Chinese and Japanese making. This country, he said, forced China and Japan to open their doors, and made them accept relations and drove them to adopt policies patterned on this Nation's.

Dr. Boyd Carpenter, of Georgetown University, another speaker at the morning session, discussed the Siamese general election, due next November.

A luncheon meeting at the Cosmos Club followed the morning session, at which Charles Stevenson Smith, chief of the foreign service of the Associated Press, and Harry W. Franz, of the United Press Foreign Department, spoke. Irvin Stewart presided.

Marriage License Obtained By Former District Head



BRIG. GEN. JOHN A. JOHNSTON and Mrs. Zella M. Barnes, director of the District Red Cross, who yesterday obtained a marriage license. The wedding has been set for April 6.

Gen. Johnston to Wed Red Cross Official April 6.

A marriage license was obtained yesterday by Brig. Gen. John A. Johnston, a former District Commissioner, and Mrs. Zella M. Barnes, director of the District Chapter of the Red Cross.

The place of the wedding, on April 6, will be announced later. Gen. Johnston gave his age as 74 and that of Mrs. Barnes as 54. The ceremony will be performed by Chaplain Edwin Burling, of the War Department.

The bridegroom-to-be was a District Commissioner from 1910 until 1914. He was graduated from West Point in 1879, and after several Indian campaigns he was transferred to Washington. During the Spanish-American War he was in charge of mustering of all volunteers.

In 1903 he retired from the Army, but returned to the service in the World War. He commanded the Thirty-fourth Division of the American Expeditionary Forces and was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal by the War Department. He was decorated by the government of France.

Gen. Johnston has organized several inaugural parades. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Army and Navy, and the Chevy Chase Clubs.

Mrs. Barnes, formerly the wife of Col. Henry C. Barnes, U. S. A., retired, has been in charge of many Red Cross roll calls in Washington.

DECISION REVERSED IN FAMILY CAR CASE

Virginia Law Is Different From That in District, Justice Holds.

Holding that the Virginia laws of liability in connection with accidents arising from the use of the "family car" were different from those obtaining in the District, Justice D. Lawrence Groner, in a decision in District Court of Appeals yesterday, reversed the District Supreme Court in cases in which Robert K. Williams, Florence E. Myers and John Myers had gained decisions over Samuel Rubenstein.

All three had been given damages because an automobile driven by Mrs. Pauline Rubenstein had figured in a collision in Virginia. The Court of Appeals said that the justice in the Supreme Court who heard the case should have given directed verdicts when they were moved for by the complainants, because, in Virginia, whose laws would govern a recovery, the relationship of husband and wife does not impose liability on the husband for the negligent operation of his automobile by his wife.

The testimony in the case was that Mrs. Rubenstein was driving the car for her own pleasure, with her husband's permission. The court did not express an opinion as to what liability would accrue to the husband in the District had the same set of facts been governed by the District's differing statutes.

Cline and Brother Are Held for Jury

Action Follows Charges of Assault Made by Taxi Driver.

Second Precinct Policeman Luther E. Cline, with his brother, Silas, were held for the grand jury on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon after a preliminary hearing in Police Court yesterday.

William T. Griffith, a taxicab driver, testified that early in the morning of March 16 he picked up the pair in his cab. When they reached their destination, he said Luther drew a gun and "said something about taking me for a ride." However, he said, the two paid the fare and left without touching him.

After the matter was reported at the Ninth Precinct station, police arrested both men in another taxi at Fifteenth and H streets northeast. Bond was set at $1,000 each.

Hunt Tells of Garner In Broadcast Tonight

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, John N. Garner, will be the subject of Frazier Hunt, news correspondent and author, at 9:30 o'clock tonight over Station WJZ on the "Great Personalities" program.

Mr. Hunt will tell the story of "a Texas boy who by sheer force of character and integrity rose from humble surroundings to the second highest political office in the land."

PEPCO'S RATE STAND ANSWERED BY KEECH

Contends Utilities Board Has Right to Set Up New Sliding Scale.

Contending that action of the Potomac Electric Power Co. in seeking to enjoin the Public Utilities Commission from altering the electric rate consent decree is premature and that the utilities body had authority to set up a new sliding scale for the determination of rates, Richmond B. Keech, the people's counsel, yesterday filed a brief as an intervener in the District Supreme Court.

The brief points out that though the sliding scale was adopted several months ago, no rates have been actually established with it as a standard. Rates for this year were established after a public hearing in January on the basis of an agreement between the commission and the power company regarding the amount of reductions. Both the consent decree and the sliding scale in question were not involved.

Until the commission actually fixes rates under this new sliding scale, Mr. Keech contends, the power company is in no position to contend that the action is unreasonable or would result in confiscation of property.

The people's counsel calls attention to the opinion of Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat in an early hearing on this issue in which he states that the commission is not bound by the consent decree nor was it without authority to alter the document entered into December 31, 1924.

Another brief, this to be filed in behalf of the commission, is being prepared by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel.

Woman Doctor Suffers Three Fractured Limbs

Dr. Grace G. Purse, 43 years old, of 2110 O street northwest, suffered fractures of three limbs when she fell from the rear porch of her home to an areaway yesterday. At George Washington University Hospital, where she was treated, physicians said her injuries were serious.

Woman Slightly Hurt In Collision of Autos

Mrs. Leilia Lincoln, of 3719 Morrison street northwest, was slightly injured last night when an automobile driven by her husband, Fred Lincoln, was in collision with another at Blair road and Georgia avenue northwest.

Police said the other car was operated by R. L. McCaney, 31 years old, of Silver Spring, Md. Both cars were badly damaged. Mrs. Lincoln was treated by a private physician for bruises to the body and a fractured rib.

Play Institute Entertained.

The Play Institute, composed of representatives from recreational centers throughout the city, met last night in the Park View School and was entertained by a group of students from the George Washington University School of Physical Education. A program of indoor stunts and games, under direction of Miss Elizabeth Griffith, was featured.

MINORS ON STAGES WOULD BE ALLOWED BY COMMISSIONERS

Favorable Report Is Sent to Congress on Bill Affecting District Theaters.

CITIZENS' ASSOCIATIONS OVERRIDDEN BY ACTION

Restrictive Amendments Are Included on Hours and Types of Plays.

Overriding the Federation of Citizens Associations, and, to a lesser degree, the Board of Education, the District Commissioners yesterday sent to Congress a report approving the bill to permit minors to appear on the professional stage in Washington under proper supervision. They suggested certain amendments to the measure, however.

While the Board of Education did not actually disapprove the bill, it declined to take a stand on the amendment on the ground that the bill was outside its province. The federation, after a lively debate Saturday night, voted to report unfavorably on the proposal.

Certain Amendments.

"The Commissioners have given consideration to the proposed measure as a matter of public policy," the report read, "and see no reason why the legislation should not be enacted with certain amendments as safeguards in the administration of the proposed law."

The major changes in the bill proposed by the Commissioners are that no child performer be permitted to act more than four hours in one day or 24 hours in one week.

Copy of Manuscript.

The Board of Education must be furnished with a copy of the manuscript of the play and be allowed ten days rather than 48 hours to rule on the application for a permit.

The bill would permit girls under 18 and boys under 16 to appear on the professional stage in the District until 11 p. m. on condition that a permit is granted by the Board of Education or an authorized agent.

Newlands Fountain Bill Passed Over in House

The Bloom bill for erection of a fountain at Chevy Chase Circle, in memory of the late Senator Newlands, was passed over without prejudice when the consent calendar came up in the House yesterday.

Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia (Republican), New York, said he wanted to inquire into what manner of fountain would be erected by the proposed donors of $10,000.

Shots Fired by Boys in Play Barely Miss Two Residents

All was peaceful in the vicinity of Tenth and B streets southeast yesterday afternoon. Residents went calmly about their work. Suddenly a shot rang out. Others quickly followed. The streets became deserted as passersby ran for cover.

Mrs. May Ring, 23 years old, was visiting at the home of Harry Beach, 1010 B street. As she stood near a rear window of the house, the pane suddenly shattered, a bullet whizzed past her head, clipped off a small lock of hair and imbedded itself in the wall.

James Osborne, of 121 Eleventh street, was standing near a fence in his back yard. A bullet splintered a board a few feet from his head. As he ran for the shelter of his home a second slug barely missed him.

A flurry of excitement swept the neighborhood. Passing motorists ducked flying missiles. A call was sent for police.

Uniformed men and detectives hurried to the scene. Two small boys were found gleefully at target practice with .22-caliber rifles. They said they were James Norfolk, 13, of 1009 North Carolina avenue, and William Coursey, 15, of 905 North Carolina avenue. They were charged with discharging firearms. Coursey was sent to the receiving home, while Norfolk was released to his father.

Second Crash Victim Found After First Is in Hospital

Thrown from their automobile when it careened from the road and crashed into a tree at the Park Road entrance to Rock Creek Park last night, one of the two occupants lay in a semiconscious condition in the rain for several minutes beside the demolished machine before rescuers found him.

Blinded by the headlights of an approaching car, Edward Killeen, 46 years old, of 2800 Chesapeake street northwest, lost control of his machine, which skidded on the wet pavement, ran from the road and struck a tree. The impact threw him and his companion, William H. Loper, 48 years old, of the same address, several feet from the wrecked car.

A passing motorist found Killeen lying near the end of the roadway, and failing to see Loper, placed him in his car and rushed to Emergency Hospital. Some time later a person in the crowd which gathered at the scene came across Loper. The Fire Rescue Squad was summoned and he was taken to Emergency Hospital.

Killeen, it was found, suffered severe lacerations to his head and body, while Loper received a fractured left leg. After treatment they were both removed to Georgetown Hospital.
